DEAD NEGRESS HAD 2 NAMES

WOMAN SHAW KILLED MAY NOT HAVE BEEN HIS WIFE.

Endeavor to Find Truth in the Matter
Has Not Availed Yet.

Late developments at Walla Walla regarding the killing of Mrs. W. J. Shaw by her supposed husband who until last week was a porter in a local barber shop, indicate there is some grounds for the charge and a theory that Shaw was not really the husband of the girl. The supposition developed at Walla Walla, according to newspapers from the Garden City, that Shaw and the woman he killed were not married, as the girl lived under two names at Walla Walla. To clear the mystery, the coroner several days ago telegraphed to the girl's mother to learn the facts in the case, but no answer had been received when the following was published in the Walla Walla Union:

"Coroner E. S. Hennessey has received no word from the mother of Alice Shaw, the colored girl who was shot and killed by W. J. Shaw shortly after noon Tuesday, and he is at a loss to account for the silence of the mother. He stated she must have received the telegram, or it would have been returned to the office and notification sent to this city. The mother, Mrs. Lillie Chapman of Franklin, Wn., is shown to have advised the girl to stay out of the embroilment which caused her death.

"The body of the murdered woman lies at Hennessey's undertaking parlors and no funeral arrangements will be made until Mrs. Chapman is heard from."

Both High School People.

Mrs. Shaw, if that was her name, was educated in the Seattle high school and Shaw, too, was well educated. He has written letters in his cell at Walla Walla, one to his mother and one to his former employer Norman Desilet, in this city. In the letter to his mother he advises her "not to worry" and asserts that he "is sorry." To Mr. Desilet he advises the return of personal property in the barber shop to an eastern town where relatives live. It is apparent that he realizes his probable fate and is arranging his affairs to be ready to go to the gallows when the formalities that will put him there have been carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, and Hudson, the man in the case, were all witnesses at the recent wedding in this city when a brother of Hudson was married here by a local pastor.

A TREACHEROUS TROUBLE.

La Grande People Are Show the Way Out.

Kidney diseases are very dangerous. They come on silently, gain ground rapidly and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by proper treatment in the beginning. Nature gives early warnings of kidney disease—backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches and urinary disorders. If these symptoms are unheeded, there is grave danger of dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned a reputation for their effectiveness in kidney trouble, and are known and recommended all over the world.

La Grande readers should find convincing proof in the following statement. John Torongo, Cracker St., Sumpter, Ore., says: "Last spring my kidneys were disordered and I began to suffer from backache. I noticed that the kidney secretions were highly colored and painful in passage and I thus knew that my kidneys were at fault. The use of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills toned up my kidneys and caused the backache to cease. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

There Has Not Been An Improvement in Kerosene Lamps in the Past TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The limit of their usefulness was reached years ago. Your present kerosene lamps are no better, nor worse, than those your parents used. They are still dim, smoky and dirty; they still have to be cleaned and filled at regular periods.

Contrast this with progress made in electric lighting

The first light globes were very crude compared with those of the present day. You can have a better light now, for very little money, than you could have had a few years ago at any price. You can have a better light now than you had five years ago, at about half the price you would have paid then. The old argument about the high cost of electricity is obsolete. Modern science and invention have overcome the last and only objection to electric lights.

Let us advise you about your light; we can save you money. Call or phone Main 34.
