smacked of veteran calcium celebrities. As the evening before, there were too many "best" numbers to classify any one as the real best. The swing song, Miss Ruth Davis' number, the W. K. Davis solo, Sandberg's "San Francisco in 1915" sung by C. P. Ferlin, Mr. Sandberg and Miss Davis duet, and Mr. Darland's pantomime song were exceptionally good. Little Miss Hazel Stageberg, Little Miss Davis and the two Sandberg boys came in for much applause again last evening by their clever acting and singing.

The chorus, principals and all, from highest to lowest, carried out parts with precision that was surprising, and it is freely said that this is the biggest undertaking and the best handled—its scope considered—of any home talent attraction yet put on.

Sandberg & Battle, the directors, have been showered with compliments on the business-like manner of handling the piece, and Mr. Sandberg's playwright and song-writing propensities have likewise been complimented. The directors in turn are deeply gratified at the high class of the talent carrying the parts. To recapitulate; the Moose show was a stupendous success in every way and the Moose lodge has reason to be proud of its showing.

circulation department under the general direction of Business Manager Lee Reynolds. The annual will contain in the neighborhood of 70 or 80 pages, well gotten up, profusely illustrated with cuts, and neatly bound to become a permanent proposition. Because it will be the maiden annual, a great deal of interest will be attached to the publication in every way, and because it will be expensively prepared in a mechanical way, the initial annual will no doubt grace many a home for years to come.

It is anticipated that the total cost of the publication will run close to $400, a figure which foretells the elaborateness and completeness of it. The price for each book will be 50 cents. Merlin Batley is editor and has under him a corps of assistant editors as follows: Ruth Ghormley, Willard Carpy, Harley Richardson, Anita Worth, Hal Bohnenkamp, Avery Roberts, and Sarah Smith.

The publication will be ready for distribution early in May, it is planned.
