EDDYSTONE LIGHTHOUSE.

Its Massive Vertical Base Checks the Wildest Seas.

The Eddystone rocks form a very dangerous reef, lying in the English channel about fourteen miles from Plymouth, and here, in 1605, Henry Winstanley built the first lighthouse, which lasted but eight years.

Winstanley's tower was swept away by a tremendous storm, and every one in it at the time, including the builder, was drowned. Three years later Rudyard's tower was built, only to be destroyed by fire in 1755, and then came John Smeaton's.

Modern lighthouses really date from 1759, when this third one was completed. Smeaton's design was faulty, but it served as a model for lighthouse construction in masonry, which has been followed in its general features ever since. This lighthouse stood for over a century, but it was not high enough to keep the waves from dashing the lantern and so was removed and the present one built in 1882 by James Douglass.

At the time of the completion of the new lighthouse two bells weighing two tons each and struck by mechanical power were installed for fog signaling purposes. Since that date an explosive gun cotton fog signal has been erected, the bells being removed. Probably the most interesting thing about the lighthouse now on the Eddystone is its solid vertical base. Heavy seas striking the massive cylindrical structure are immediately broken up and rush around to the opposite side, spray alone ascending to the height of the lantern gallery. On the other hand, waves striking the old tower at its foundation ran up the surface, which presented a curved face to the waves, and, unimpeded by any projection until arriving at the lantern gallery, were partially broken up by the cornice and then spent themselves in heavy spray over the lantern. The shock to which the cornice of the gallery was exposed was so great that stones were sometimes lifted from their beds.—Lookout.

BABE LAID TO REST.
Sympathizing Friends Attend Funeral of Collison Child.
Cove, April 11.—(Special)—The remains of little Ruth, the seven months' baby of Mr. and Mrs. R. Collison, La Grande who passed away at La Grande, on Sunday, April 7th, at 10 a. m. was brought to Cove on the train today for interment.
A brief funeral service was held at the grave by Rev. A. Coslet, assisted by singers from the Methodist and Episcopal churches, after which the body was tenderly laid to rest by sympathizing friends of the family.

Father of Field Hospital Retires.
Washington, D. C., April 11.—Col. John Van Rensselaer Hoff, of the United States Army Medical Corps, closed an active career of forty years in the army today, having been transferred to the retired list by operation of law on account of age. Col. Hoff is known as the creator of the United States Field Hospital as it exists in the army today. He is responsible also for much of the development in sanitation as a branch of medical science. Col. Hoff is a native of New York state and entered the army soon after the close of the civil war. He was conspicuous for his services in the great army camps established during the war with Spain. Later he did duty as chief surgeon on Gen. Chaffee's staff, when the allied armies entered Peking during the Boxer troubles. In 1905 he represented the United States as military observer during the Russo-Japanese war.

More Episcopal Bishops.
New York, April 11.—In response to the call of the presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle of Missouri, the Episcopal House of Bishops assembled in this city today for a special meeting. The object of the meeting is understood to be to fill vacancies now existing in the House of Bishops. Several sees are now vacant, among them South Dakota. The see contains many Indians and there has been talk of creating a separate diocese for the Indians and electing an Indian clergyman to be bishop of it.

FRUIT CROPS PROMISING.
Growers Predict a Wonderful Year with Apple Orchards.
Imbler, April 11.—(Special)—The apple orchards are all sprayed with sulphur and the prospect for a year was never so good in the Imbler district.

L. Parsons, secretary and treasurer of the C. H. Ward Drug Co., Pasadena, Calif., writes: "We have sold recommended Foley's Honey and Compound for years. We believe it to be one of the most efficient expectorants on the market. Containing opiates or narcotics it can be given safely to children. Enough of this remedy can be taken to relieve a cold has no nauseating results and does not interfere with digestion." A. T. Hill.
