

I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I have moved my optical office to the Haworth building three doors east of the Golden Rule store on Adams avenue where I have fitted up optical rooms, more modern, also more conveniently arranged for the scientific practice of optometry. You are cordially invited to inspect my office and equipment and let me explain my methods of sight testing.

My large growing practice proves that MY METHOD of sight testing GETS RESULTS where others fail.

I DO NOT USE DRUGS.
I GRIND ALL MY GLASSES.

Honor Women of Confederacy

Columbia, S. C., April 11.—South Carolina's everlasting memorial to the Women of the Confederacy, said to be the first monument to women ever erected independently by a state, was unveiled here today with splendid ceremonies. The Governor and United Confederate Veterans and delegations of college students and other visitors from all parts of the state participated in the ceremonies.

The monument was designed by F. Wellington Ruckstuhl of New York. The central figure depicts a Southern woman, dignified and beautiful, waiting to be crowned with laurel by the figure in the rear. On either side are other figures representing the South, bearing laurel to lay at the heroine's feet. The most important inscription on the monument says: "In this monument generations unborn shall hear the voice of a great people testifying to the sublime devotion of the women of South Carolina in their country's need."

College Balloonists to Meet

Going Some.

Guess it's going some to have the reputation of making the best flour in Oregon. That's what they all say, and we're glad. We can prove it, and one more thing to consider: Our Graham flour and German meal are made each week. It's right from the roller to your feeder. All you have to do is to tell your grocer you wish the kind of a sack that reads La Grande Milling company on it. Step in any store. It's there.

A HARD WINTER.

When the Mercury Fell to Six Feet Nine Inches Below Zero.

They were talking about hard winters. The man on the cracker barrel said he remembered a winter when the mercury fell to six feet nine inches below zero, and consequently he had never seen any weather since then that he could call real cold.

"Oh, you pshaw!" said the man with the ginger whiskers. "Six feet nine inches! Oh, you pshaw!"

"Meaning that I put you in mind of Annulus?" said the man on the cracker barrel.

The man with the ginger whiskers simply said: "Six feet nine inches! Oh, you pshaw!"

"Then listen," said the man on the cracker barrel. "It was the winter when no snow fell. Nothing fell but the thermometer that winter. We kept our thermometer hanging on a cherry tree in the yard to give it a chance. One morning the weather had been so cold the mercury went down below zero as far as it could and let the thermometer have the credit of showing it, but it couldn't do its duty by the weather by pausing there, so it busted the bulb at the bottom and kept on falling. The thermometer was six feet above the ground. We dug the mercury out in the spring, nine inches below the surface. So until you can trot out some weather that is six feet and nine inches below, don't talk to me about cold!"

The man on the cracker barrel lit his pipe and went out, and the man with the ginger whiskers just said, "Oh, he pshaw!"—New York Press.

Back in the Good Old Bowl Days. A man of apparent means brought two boys into a barber shop for a haircut. While waiting for the completion of the job, he said:

"I never sat in a barber's chair when I was a kid. My brother used to go over to the engine house and borrow the horse clippers. Then my mother would put a bowl on my head and cut around it. Until I was twelve years old, I always looked like a window washer's brush."—Chicago Post.

The Dead Revived.

In a scientific weekly we read the headline, "Can the Dead Be Revived?" They are revived every performance at the Metropolitan Opera House. It is a most encouraging symptom to see corpses arise from the stage after the curtain falls and bow their appreciation of the applause.—Musical Courier.

Sarcasm.

Hawshaw Holmes—I wish to be vaccinated. Doctor—What's your business? Hawshaw Holmes—I'm a detective. Doctor—Stand out of line, please, and give somebody else a chance. There is no danger of your ever catching anything.—Boston Globe.
