COUNTRY WORK FOR Y. M. C. A.

ASSOCIATION WORKER ANALYZES CONDITIONS.

County Leads in All Things Save Y. M. C. A. Department.

(By J. H. Rudd.)
Early last fall the idea came to me of organized county Y. M. C. A. work for this county, with La Grande as the center. I believed it possible then, and now, with La Grande preparing to erect an Association building, I believe it will surely come. What I have to say is gathered neither from newspaper reports nor a birdseye view of the county but from a more or less close inspection of nearly every town in Union county. Without any possible fear of successful contradiction I would place this county over all others in Eastern Oregon in regard to almost everything. Just now I can think of nothing that we do not have the best of. But for fear some other county might raise more elks I so qualify my statement.

Again, I believe that no county in Eastern Oregon lends itself so well to the work of a county association. Train service brings us close together. Only one town of any very great importance, Summerville, is off the railway. When La Grande builds their association every town in the county will wish they could do the same. But La Grande is the only city in the valley that could just now well support such an undertaking. That La Grande growing as it is, needs a Y. M. C. A., there is no doubt. That these other towns need a Y. M. C. A. there is very little doubt. But conditions prohibit that such should be the course of events. Now that statement in one sense is correct but in another it is far from correct—we shall discover a little later.

When La Grande erects a Y. M. C. A. many men throughout the county will respond liberally toward the building fund. Why? Because there are men in this county outside of La Grande who are interested in, character building. If they can be convinced that an association in La Grande is going to benefit their own community they will be doubly liberal. This brings us back to our first suggestion, a Union County Y. M. C. A. with the La Grande association building as headquarters and a secretary whose duties it would be to look after by personal supervision and by correspondence the work of the towns and communities outside of the direct influence of that association. Such a task would be by no means an easy one but the results I firmly believe would be exceedingly gratifying in strengthening all phases of Christian work among the boys and men of this county. In this way and no other will the smaller towns of the valley have the work of the Y. M. C. A.
