ATTACKED BY A LION.

A Feature Film to Be Shown at Sherry's on Sunday Only.

In the lone, vast deserts of Morocco, with his nearest neighbor more than thirty miles away, a contented hermit is passing his life. His house is fairly well concealed from the bands of marauding Arabs who traverse this desolate waste, so that he does not deem it necessary to have any connection with his neighbor, so distant, except by telephone. One night, however, a group of Arabs discovered his hut, and by means of stealth tried to gain admission for the purpose of pilfering his house and killing him. Their plan, however, is frustrated when the hermit sees them on their approach and opens fire With rifle in one hand, he resorts to his telephone and attempts to notify his neighbors of his peril. The Arabs discover this means of communication with outside assistance and, one of the best shots of their number directs his aim at the telephone wire, with the result that he cuts it in two. Part of the message, however, has already been received by the friends over 30 miles away, and the hermit hopes, almost against reason, that his situation has been made clear. The friend realizes how dangerous and short-lived an enemy at bay. Without delay he mounts his swiftest and surest steed and heads for the scene of action.

On the way a terrible sand storm blows up and the journey is of course impeded. While asleep, with his horse cautiously picketed near him, he is suddenly disturbed by the roar of the savage lion. He jumps up in dismay only to recognize one of these monstrous beasts about to spring at his horse. He grabs his rifle, and, without having time to aim a sure shot, kills the lion in the very act of pouncing upon his faithful beast. After encountering several similar desert terrors, the horseman finally succeeds in reaching the vicinity of his friend besieged by the Arabs. He makes his appearance in the very nick of time as the bold marauders had, by their craftiness and endurance, completely worn out the lonely hermit.

Society..Clubs

With the chautauqua in full swing and those who make society largely camped where society is necessarily "in bad" and a great many ladies going to Portland next week, there has been little chance for society to come into its own this week. The mid-summer lull is really acute and there isn't enough society afloat this month to make a decent flutter. Even weddings are scarce and rare.

✣ ✣ ✣

Mr. and Mrs. N. Nelson, 501 Washington, entertained early in the week for their daughter Genevieve. The event was elaborately planned and enjoyed immensely by the guests who were not only young folks of the age of the honor guest, but friends and acquaintances of the mother and father as well. The guests who were so delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. N. Nelson are:

Genevieve Nelsen, Wayland Scott, Jack Densler, Jack Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Knutson, Gillman Hunter, Mrs. Densler, Mr and Mrs. Cates, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton, Miss Narum, Miss Nelson and Carl Knutson.

✣ ✣ ✣

Unless it rains the Milemm club and guests will scale Mt. Emily tomorrow going by the Indian trail from Summerville. The Mazamas will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bay who have been over the steep incline before and can guide the society belles up the rocky cliffs to the peak. It will be an all-day venture yet the trip to the point repays all who make the long journey for the view of Oregon is greatly enlarged from that point of view over the scope covered by the eye from the valley.

✣ ✣ ✣

Mrs. F. Newlin and her granddaughter Dorothy Meyers leave tonight for Spokane to visit Mrs. Lewis Reith, Mrs. Newlin's daughter.

Well and Truly Laid.

The laying of the British royal table is attended with considerable ceremony. First come the "upholsterers," whose duty it is to see that the table is in its proper place and in good condition to bear its precious burden of gold and silver plate. The weight of the famous Finxman service designed for George IV. is so tremendous as to justify fully this precaution. The upholsterers give place to the "table deckers," who arrange the snowy napery worked with the royal arms and the plainly folded serviettes. Fanciful shapes are inadmissible on the royal table. This accomplished, there enter the "yeomen of the silver pantry," whose task it is to place the silver in position. The "deckers" then arrange the flowers, after which the royal table is considered "well and truly laid."

The Deep Sea Lead.

In order to find a ship's position when approaching the land in a fog soundings are taken with the "deep sea lead." This lead weighs twenty-eight pounds and is attached to a line which is marked off in fathoms by bunting of various colors, pieces of leather and knots. Bored in the base of the lead is a hole about two inches deep, and this is filled with tallow, so that the gravel or shells at the bottom will adhere to it, and the nature of the bed may be thus ascertained. When the lead is thrown overboard the water's depth is noted on the line, and this and the adherence to the tallow when compared with the description given on the chart will give the ship's position with tolerable accuracy.

Sibilant Praise.

One of the ushers approached a man who appeared to be annoying those about him.

"Don't you like the show?"

"Yes, indeed."

"Then why do you persist in hissing the performers?"

"Why, m-man alive, I w-wasn't h-hissing. I w-was s-ssimply s-s-s-saying to S-s-s-sammie that the s-s-s-singing is s-s-s-superb."—Judge.

Hadn't Seen Him.

The Vicar—Did you see a pedestrian pass this way a few minutes ago? Farm Hand—No, sir. I've been workin' on this tater patch more'n a nower, an' nother thing has passed cept a solitary man an he was trampin' on foot.—London Telegraph.

Cold Storage Law Working.

About 50,000 provision stores, a little more than half of them in New York, have posted notices in compliance with the law to warn consumers of the presence of storage stock. All storage butter, fish, poultry, and eggs are labeled, so the public may know what they are purchasing.

It should be borne in mind that foods, especialy fish and poultry while perfectly good when released from cold storage, deteriorate rapidly when exposed to the air, and, to be eaten without danger, should be cooked as soon as possible.—New York Telegram.
