

REMINGTON IS WILD, LOSES

FOURTEEN TO SIX IS SCORE AT WALLA WALLA

La Granders Bat Out Twelve Hits—Smith Deal Settled.

Walla Walla, July 24.—By batting Remington all over the lot yesterday, the Bears took the opener from La Grande here 14 to 6. The wildness of the Pippin twirler also figured in the locals' run-getting, the visiting twirler issuing a total of seven passes.

Leonard who pitched for Brown's tribe, allowed but one man to get to third in the seven innings he pitched. He then gave way to Martini, who was yanked after he had allowed two runs. Pitman finishing the game. Before three men could be retired in the eighth six of Barry's men had crossed the platter.

Umpire Starkell refused to let the game start until the balance of $5.00 due in fines assessed against Hap Smith last week was paid. Manager Barry refused to pay the assessment and for several minutes it looked as if there would be no game. Manager Bude, however, settled matters satisfactorily by standing good for the assessment and the contest proceeded.

C. Harmon and Thompson of the local club poled the ball over the fence for home runs, while Leonard besides twirling a strong game, did some heavy sticking, getting a double and a triple.

SUMMARY.

Stolen bases, Esola, Fitchner, Childers; two base hits, Esola, Remington, Naughton, Childers, Thompson, Johnson; three base hit, Leonard; sacrifice hits, Barry; sacrifice fly, Davis; home runs, Harmon, Thompson; double plays, Martini to Brown and Thompson unassisted; left on bases, Walla Walla, 4; La Grande 5; passed balls, Brown; Innings pitched, Remington 5, Leonard 7, Martini 1-3; Pitman 1-2; struck out, Remington 5, Leonard 2, Pitman four; bases on balls, Remington 7, Martini 1, Umpire Starkell.

Fans returning from La Grande declare the rumor that the Pippin team is about to blow up is without foundation. They state the people of the Union county city are pleased with the way Barry's bunch is going now and will back it to the hilt. Barry is certainly getting a bunch of hot hitters together and it won't be surprising if some of the Walla Walla star twirlers get their bumps next week—Pendleton East Oregonian.

No player in the league has made such an improvement in his batting as has Robinson during the past few weeks. He is now hitting the sphere consistently over .300 where before he was far down in the 200 column.

It is reported that Pitman, one of the Walla Walla twirlers who has been getting his bumps lately, will ask for his release and it is said by a Walla Walla paper that Manager Bude has already wired to Joe Berger, the proctor Pendleton clubster last year to report for duty.

La Grande played errorless ball yesterday and got nearly as many hits as Walla Walla but couldn't get any. Hits were not recorded early enough in the game to do the business. Early reports yesterday evening told of a 14 to 6 score, but the details show differently. There was nothing the matter yesterday with La Grande but pitching.

The Proposed Debate

A Story For College Commencement

By LUCIA D. W. REDFIELD

In New England there are two colleges within a few miles of each other, the one founded by Ebenezer Black for young men, the other by Arietta White for women, the former being known as Black and the latter as White college. At the approach of the June graduation exercises, in view of the interest taken in Europe and America in the votes for women question, some one proposed that a debate upon the topic, "Resolved, that the vote be given to women," take place as one of the features of commencement, the Black students to defend the negative and the Whites the affirmative. A challenge was forwarded by the students of White to the students of Black. It was accepted, and committees were appointed in each college to select its representative disputants and to arrange the terms.

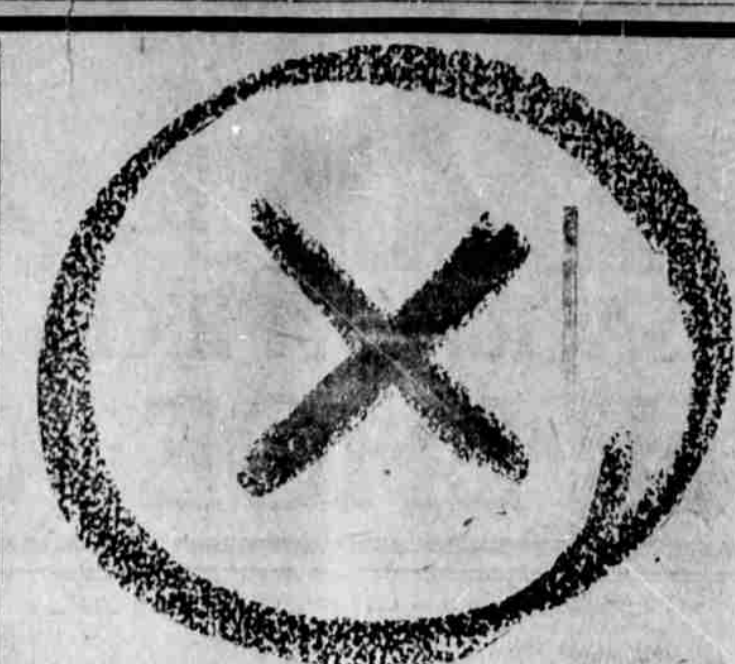

It was feared that men judges would award the victory to men and women to women. Therefore a compromise was effected by leaving the decision to the audience, no student being allowed to vote. This was a point gained by the women, for the majority of those attending such exhibitions are usually of that sex. Recognizing this advantage of their opponents, the men students selected their handsomest and most winning speakers instead of those capable of bringing forward the best arguments. The committee of White students, hearing of this, relegated to the background any candidate who was not attractive. The consequence was that the most engaging men and women in either college were appointed disputants, while those whose recommendations were intellect alone were passed over as unavailable.

In this wicked world when a question of importance comes up for settlement, instead of each side making an honest endeavor to decide aright, chicanery is resorted to in order to secure an advantage. John Markley, a senior, was made manager of the Black debating team and Drucilla Spanker manager of the White team. Markley had a sister in White, and Miss Spanker had a brother in Black. Markley laid out the campaign in this wise: He would instruct his debaters to contrive to exhibit the unfitness of women to vote by bringing into the debate political questions upon which they must necessarily show their ignorance. The tariff, the initiative, the referendum, the recall, were to be fired at the girls with confusing rapidity. If this did not produce a panic the "reasonableness" of a recent decision of the United States supreme court was to be sent in as a charge of cavilary to turn the enemy's right.

Possibly a victory might have been gained in this way had not the manager of the women's team induced Miss Emma Markley to make a foray into her brother's room when the two were out alone for the spring recess in order to get information of the enemy's plans. She discovered a list of those who were to bring forward questions in his pocket. The result was that a copy was given to the debaters for the purpose of planning up on the problems.

Meanwhile Ned Spanker was springing his sister with a view to securing points in the program of the women's team. Unfortunately for him, he went to the wrong room, and instead of information of the enemy's plans, he received a list of those who were to bring forward questions in his pocket. The result was that a copy was given to the debaters for the purpose of planning up on the problems.

The two teams met on the campus at White college in the first Saturday afternoon in May. The spring had come on, the day was delightful, and both men and women, especially the latter, were dressed becomingly. From their immediate appearance and the deferential bearing of the men, they would never have been taken for those about to engage in hostilities of any kind. Rules were proposed and discussed, the men gallantly giving way to the women on all points. Unfortunately a bit of an affair had been going on between one of the

THE Red Mark Sale IS The Money Saving Event of the Season

Many of our store friends haven't missed a day's attendance at this most wonderful of all sale events. Each day they come—and stroll down our aisles—eyes open and alert for the many new bargains which are added daily to our counters. We advise you to come while lines remain intact—while you have every advantage to profit by.

We Never Dissappoint

We are ever endeavoring to strengthen this event—we are ever cutting prices deeper on lines that lack the selling force of their companions—and we are continually adding new bargains.

Greater Than Ever

The Red Mark Sale

The sale rolls enthusiastically on—each day seeming more important than its predecessor. Our stocks will soon be reduced to the point we set out to accomplish by this rapid fire selling. We advise you to come while lines are unbroken, and you can supply all your needs.

TOMORROW

Won't be too late. The day after may be. Don't wait for the day after but come tomorrow.

debaters, Miss Maud Jennings, and Mr. Dick Turner. Miss Jennings said that she had a proposition to make which she preferred to sound one of the men upon and invited Mr. Turner to stroll off toward the chapel for the purpose. Mr. Fred Howard declared that he wished to consult Miss Belle Linton upon an important matter concerning the coming debate, and they took the path toward the astronomical observatory. Mr. Edward Brown and Miss Helen Adams deserted in the afternoon. The following day the students of the two colleges met in the auditorium of the White college for the commencement exercises. The students of Black and Gray Smith were members of the committee, and they did not consult on any subject they pleased without being overheard. But the position was exposed and they disappeared with the rest. This effected a sine die adjournment of the conference since none of the strollers returned until that hour when the young ladies were expected to seek the seclusion of their rooms for study.

No business having been transacted it was thought best to call another meeting on the following Saturday. The occasion was marked by the attendance of Professor Virginia Overt, aged fifty-five and with little or no sympathy with the follies of youth. All the necessary business was transacted, but one of the men proposed that they meet the next Saturday afternoon for further conference. Professor Overt declared that further meetings were not necessary, and the faculty would not permit any more of them.

Professor Overt made a mistake in not attending the first meeting, for had that conference, which had resolved itself into two separate consultations, one engagement had taken place, two actual love affairs had been started and one wild flirtation indulged in. The only couple between whom burning passion took possession were Mr. Turner and Miss Smith, who had been engaged before the commencement exercises. There were no more meetings between the students but a party given on the evening of which neither Professor Overt nor any other member of the faculty was aware. A week before the proposed debate

Mr. John Markley called on Miss Emma Spanker and announced that he feared the feature which had been relied upon to give such zest to the commencement exercises would run through. He had received a note from one of his team announcing his engagement to one of the White team and his conversion to the votes for women cause. Another member had told him that he didn't give a rubber's fuss if every woman in Europe, Asia, Africa and America had a vote. This debater confidentially announced that he had met the loveliest girl in Christendom on the opposing team, and he would not only give her his vote, but his head, too, if she wanted it. Thus far he had bestowed upon her ten pounds of candy.

Miss Spanker was surprised at this information because she had met with the same experience in her own team. One of her debaters, who had been detected smuggling flowers to her room, had resigned from the team, stating that she hadn't the slightest use for a vote. If she had only she wouldn't know what to do with it unless she gave it to an awfully nice fellow, who would do her voting for her soon after she had been graduated. Another girl admitted that she had lost interest in the subject, while a third renegaded to her sex declared that no woman could be driven to the polls past a department store in which a bargain sale was in progress.

A mutual disappointment brought about a natural sympathy. Mr. Markley was one of Black's most prominent undergraduates, and Miss Spanker was a young lady of great refinement. To say nothing of her comeliness, they held several protracted meetings, the end of every meeting was a never being in love with each other than with the subject that brought them together.

The arrangements for the debate were now in such an unsatisfactory state that the committee came to the ears of Professor of Education at Walla Walla college, to whose department it belonged. He sought the assistance of the president of the college, who was of the opinion that the two parties should meet together with a view to settling up and coming to some agreement before the commencement exercises.

But bad luck seemed to attend the movement from the first. Everybody knows that spring is the season for love, and this spring seemed to be especially adapted for the purpose in that vicinity. Professor Atwood was a bachelor and Professor Cummings a maid. The result of their putting their heads together was not conducive to a solution of the problem.

Several students of White college the day before the one appointed for the debate got together to insure its coming off as announced. These young ladies were of a very different type from those who had thus far had the matter in charge, taking a real interest in the subject to be debated. They solved the problem at once, so far as White college was concerned, by appointing a non capable substitute for each and every woman debater. These substitutes were not endowed with beauty of face or figure; they were intellectuals standing high in their classes and in every way fitted to represent it in any capacity.

When the day came for the debate, the hall in which it was to take place was crowded with the platform sat the substitutes, but not an original appointee appeared. The manager of the men's team walked forward and announced that there was no necessity for a debate in the question so far as his college was concerned, since every man appointed in support of women's suffrage had been the first shown a marked indifference in the matter and finally backed out from serving as a debater. He had called for substitutes, but none had volunteered. One thing had been demonstrated that the students of White college were not so ignorant as to argue on the negative side of the question "Shall women be given the vote?" He regretted that the audience should be disappointed, but that could not be helped.

The audience then strolled out on to the campus. There was much to see and do, and the day was indeed a most successful one. The debate had been a success, and the students of White college were not so ignorant as to argue on the negative side of the question "Shall women be given the vote?" He regretted that the audience should be disappointed, but that could not be helped.

AUTO MEET ON LABOR DAY SET

VALUABLE CASH PRIZES TO BE HUNG UP.

All Sorts of Machines and Motor Cycles to Be Given Races.

An automobile meet on Labor day under the management of the Union County Fair association and the Union County Motor club, was arranged for last night by the directors of the Fair association. Five hundred dollars in cash prizes, with added cups will be hung up for the winners. The races will be scattered for the benefit of all kinds of automobiles, motor cycles, and bicycles. Further details have yet to be worked out but that the meet will draw from all Eastern Oregon is deemed a certainty. The new race track is built off the construction of auto races, provided with all the banked turns that preclude accidents.
