SALT LAKER WEDDED HERE

LAURA GREEN WILLS MARRIED SATURDAY EVENING.

Life-Long Friend of Groom's Family Ties Wedding Knot.

Laura Green Wills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Green, was very quietly married Saturday evening at 6 o'clock to Helge A. Hansen, a Salt Lake railway employe. The parents of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends witnessed the informal ceremony as said by Rev. J. D. Gillilan, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which organization the bride has long been an active worker. Following a short reception Mr. and Mrs. Hansen departed for their future home in Salt Lake.

Mrs. Hansen has lived in La Grande almost continually since her arrival here from Red Wing, Minn., some five years ago and leaves a large circle of the warmest friends. In musical circles she was prominent, being both a vocalist and pianist of no mean calibre.

Mr. Hansen was until recently a train auditor on the O. S. L. but when that department was cancelled he was put into the union ticket office of the big Utah hotel at Salt Lake for the Harriman system and is now employed in that responsible position. Mr. Hansen is well known to local railroaders who meet Short Line train crews at Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hansen, daughter Miss Ethel and son Merrill, came here from their Salt Lake home to be present at the wedding and while here were guests with Mr. and Mrs. Green and Dr. and Mrs. Gillilan with whom the Hansen family has been intimately acquainted for the past 25 years. Their friendship dates back to the circuit riding days of the "sky pilot" and the frontier days of the west when Mr. Hansen was an editor and a translator of several Norwegian works into the American.

"Well, the umbrella I've been carrying for the last week or so."—Catholic Standard and Times.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Attachment For Brooms That Catches the Dust.

As any housewife knows a broom in the hands of an inexperienced sweeper is more of a hindrance than a help because of the clouds of dust raised. Even the expert makes some dust that settles on the furniture, and it is to catch most of this dust and imprison it that an Illinois man patented the attachment shown here. This is a metal shield with a sort of tray along the bottom. From the curve at the top two arms extend and are fastened around the upper portion of the broom body. Thus the dust that is raised by the broom flies against the shield, and most of it falls into the tray, where it settles into the little balls that you see come from a carpet sweeper. As may be imagined, this makes much cleaner sweeping.

Successful Jelly Making.

Use good fruit which is a little under ripe.

Use the best granulated sugar.

Do not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking.

Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juice.

If the juice must be boiled down always do so before the sugar is added.

The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking.

Do not allow the sirup to boil rapidly or crystals may appear in jelly.

Always make jelly on a bright, clear day.

Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth wrung out of hot water.

Set the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.

Roast Smoked Shoulder of Pork.

Soak six hours or more in warm water. Drain, cover with cold water, bring to the boiling point and boil ten minutes; then simmer two hours or cook in the fireless cooker six hours. Take from the fire, remove the skin and spread over it the following mixture. Four tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of made mustard, one tablespoonful of flour and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Blend together. Bake one hour.

Swiss Potato Soup.

Pare and slice six large potatoes and three small turnips. Put them in five pints of water and boil five or six hours until perfectly dissolved and of the consistency of pea soup. If it boils away too fast add a little boiling water. When thick enough add butter, pepper and salt. A small piece of salt pork or lamb or veal and a small onion may be added to vary the soup if desired.

Swinburne Used Profanity Often.

Swinburne would have suffered badly if the thirty shilling swearing tax had been enforced against him. He lived at the British hotel in Cockspur street and never went anywhere except in hansoms, which, whatever the distance, he invariably remunerated with a shilling. When he drove two miles beyond the radius there was the devil's own row. But in the matter of imprecation the poet was more than a match for a cabby, who after five minutes of argument would drive off as though he had been rated by Beelzebub himself. —London Chronicle.

Does Indeed.

Little Willie was puzzled over the name of a famous arctic explorer. He asked his father, "How do you pronounce the first name of K-n-u-d Rasmussen—with a short u or a long one?"

"Oh, it doesn't make any difference," replied the father. [illegible]

"Well, I don't know," said mother; "I think it makes a good deal of difference whether a man is nud or nude in the arctic regions!"

AS THE TWIG IS BENT

"As the twig is bent the tree is inclined" is an old adage and a true one. It applies not only to trees and children, but to cities as well. La Grande as a community is just emerging fromthe condition of a village and assuming the aspect of a city. It is growing toward the south and the Connordale Addition. Anyone doubting this statement who will take the trouble to walk down Washington avenue and take note of the activity in paving, grading, opening up of streets and building operations will be convinced of that fact. As the city increases in size, its growth will continue along these same lines. That is a matter of past experience and common sense.

In fact, the direction in which the city of La Grande must grow has already been determined by natural conditions and surroundings. It is hemmed in one one side by steep foot-hills; on another side by the Grande Ronde river and hundreds of acres of natural manufacturing sites that will soon be in demand; on the third side by the railroad tracks, shops and yards. Therefore it can only grow to any great extent in ONE direction—SOUTH TOWARD CONNORDALE. The best residence and business section will grow AWAY from the smoke, dirt and noise of switching engines, mills and shops—not TOWARD them.

Connordale is the only large tract in the city available for a restricted, improved and uniformly developed residence section. The city improvements are already in. Property is still cheap. Within a short time it will double in value. Think this over, then go down and see for yourself or let us take you over this property. Your own judgment will confirm the truth of these statements.
