neys to the bat was his record. He was the premier swatter for the company, but he had men running him close races for the hitting honors on the other side; for instance, Francis with two out of two, ditto Reynolds. Pidcock was pitching some excellent ball until the early part of the fourth when a terrific line drive caught him on the back and hurt him quite severely. He was never up to his earlier standard after that, while Bohnenkamp continued to grow better as the game progressed and permitted but four scattering hits. The score:

Boise, Aug. 1.—(Special) — Ever hear the slide trombone strike a flat note and blow it all over the landscape with a harsh blare that came as near harmonizing with the other instruments as lager beer does with chocolate eclairs? Some rasping, isn't it? But also ball games like that of yesterday—if you call them games—sort of rub your nerves the wrong way and walk up and down your back with cold feet. It was a prolonged agony, too. That harsh, banal note was drawn out for 11 innings, and as the game went on

For three innings the score was tied, but the last cano found the Clerks in a merry-go-round and the score ran tinkling regularly. PAVING AREA IS GROWING

PENNSYLVANIA ASKS TO BE GIVEN PAVING.

Council Lets Oak Street Contract and Hears Other Requests.

Construction of sidewalks, cement and board, petitions for more hard surface paving, allowing paving contracts on Oak St for $1.47 1/2 made up a bulk of the business transacted by the city council at its meeting last night.

Residents on Pennsylvania avenue presented a petition asking for paving hard surface, on that street from Fourth to its junction with Washington. It was referred to proper committees and if consummated will add a connecting link between pieces of street paving in different sections of the city that will meet with general favor from the public.

The engineer's estimate for work already done by the Warren Construction company was read and referred.

The Warren Construction company was given the contract for paving Oak street, guaranteeing to complete all contracts now in hand before fall. Mayor Church cautioned the council not to overload the paving company with contracts.

The O-W. is not going to object to paving Jefferson avenue, and intimated that it is now ready to proceed with its half of the street where it owns abutting property if the city is Residents on Third between Washington and Main want their street paved and steps to create a paving district will be taken.

The matter of installing drinking fountains at three or four different parts of the city came up for discussion. The water committee has the proposition in hand.

Mayor Church made a verbal report of his investigation of greater water sources for municipal purposes. He found that one or two feasible plans are available and he is urging that this council commence the preliminary steps to obtain rights, deeming it necessary for the city to be casting about for great water sources when the present population has been doubled, and to avoid hurry and congesttion it is very likely these steps will be taken by the present council.
