HOME APPLES BRING 75 PER

QUALITY ESTABLISHES PRICES AS YET.

Supply Will Pick up and Probably Crowd Down Prices Soon.

Early Harvest and Astrakan apples grown in May Park, Fruitdale, and other local districts are now on the market with varying grades of quality and prices. Seventy-five cents can be quoted as a fair price, though the quality of the offerings determines the price. While the supply has been uncertain the last days of this week will find the home-grown product crowding in rapidly and it is doubtful if the best grades will bring more than 75 cents before the week is out.

NEBRASKANS LIKE VALLEY.

Expect to Bring Friends and Make This Their Future Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Nebraska who have been touring the valley this week return home this evening thoroughly imbued with the idea that the Grande Ronde valley is the beauty spot of the northwest. They have spent several weeks on the coast and Mr. Miller stated that his vocabulary was simply inefficient to attempt to describe his admiration for this valley. To a reporter he remarked: "You may rest assured that there will be several families who will make their home here this fall as a result of what I have seen the past two days." Mrs. Miller was equally as well pleased.

Iceberg Journeys.

Icebergs from Greenland are carried down toward the middle of the Atlantic by the Labrador current. They travel right down the coast of Labrador, passing Newfoundland, until they reach the warm waters of the gulf stream, when they disappear, melting completely away. It is only the largest bergs that reach the middle of the Atlantic before they disappear. On one occasion a berg, 100 feet in height and nearly 200 feet in breadth, was found in latitude 38 degrees 40 minutes, or nearly in a line with southern Spain. Generally speaking, icebergs travel at the rate of three to five miles an hour. They are carried forward entirely by the strength of the current. The distance they cover is enormous. Thousands do not get further than the coast of Labrador, where they become stranded. As they have come from the Greenland glaciers they have then covered at least 1,800 miles, while those that reach the warmer waters of the Atlantic make journeys of from 2,500 to 3,000 miles.—New York Sun.

Seashells.

A seashell, whether in one piece (univalve), as in periwinkles, or in two pieces (bivalve), as in mussels and cockles, is formed in much the same way. It consists of a colored outer horny layer, a middle layer of prismatic structure and an inner pearly coating of innumerable very thin plates, the edges of which break up white light into its constituents, so as to give rise to a beautiful play of iridescence. The body of a shellfish is invested in a soft bag of skin known as the "mantle." By the activity of this the shell is secreted, and a sticky fluid exudes from its surface and quickly hardens to form horny or calcareous matter. The suits of lime are chiefly in the form of carbonate, but there is also a percentage of phosphate. Only the edge of the mantle is able to manufacture the two outer layers of the shell, and repair of injuries is entirely carried out in nature, or mother-of-pearl.

'Simplest Way of All.

The following story is told of Colonel George W. Goethals, who at the time it took place was an instructor in engineering at West Point. One day, in a recitation, he gave out this question to a class of cadets: "The post flagpole, sixty feet high, has fallen down. You are ordered by your commanding officer to put it up again. You have under your command a sergeant and ten privates of the engineer corps. How would you get the pole back into place?" Each cadet, after long consideration and much figuring over derricks, blocks, tackle and so on, evolved a different method.

"No," said Goethals; "you are all wrong. You would simply say, 'Sergeant, put up that flagpole!'"—Saturday Evening Post.

The Sea of Space.

The mind cannot comprehend what is meant by the four little words in the expression "the sea of space." If the volume of "space" included within our solar system—which is perhaps but a single train of planets among hundreds of millions of a similar kind—were occupied by one single globe 5,000,000,000 miles in diameter it would be but as a feather in the marvelous spread of "vacancy" surrounding it. In fact, it has been calculated that in the space occupied by our solar system 2,700,000,000,000,000 globes of the size of our earth could revolve, each at a distance of 500,000 miles from the other and the whole business would be nothing, for there is no wall to the treasure vault of heaven—Exchange.

Want a Long Way Back.

What is a forefencer? It depends on the country. In the United States it is a newcomer who has not yet had time to catch his breath, unpack his kit and find a job. In India the case is different. An official at Malabar, south India, recently received a letter from a man whose status he was investigating and who said: "I am a native of India by birth, but I have claim to foreign origin and foreign blood. A colony of Syrians from Edessa settled in Malabar in A. D. 345. I belong to that set, and as such I have reason to claim foreign origin and foreign blood."

The Helvetian Ladies.

The most celebrated warlike women among the ancients, apart from the fabled amazons, were the Helvetian ladies. Caesar praises highly their military achievements. In more than one instance the legions of Rome turned their backs on the fair ones of Switzerland. During the crusades women often performed the most romantic and chivalrous deeds, dying cheerfully by the sides of their lovers and husbands.

Provocation.

Talkative and Abusive Old Lady (complaining of a recently bought parrot)—And when I talk to that parrot he says some dreadful swear words Dealer—I don't blame 'im, ma'am. The poor bird is only 'uman.—Everybody's Weekly.

Her Preference.

"The bridegroom is a pleasant man he has that certain something"— "I'd rather have a man with something certain."—Satire.

The Safest place for your harvest money is in this bank

Look at these two men. They have been to market their cotton. One put his money in the bank and the other didn't. They were held up on the way home. The silly fellow who wanted to take his money home had to "deliver" to the robbers. The other was able to "give them the laugh"—his money was in this bank.

Take a lesson from this—put your harvest money in this bank like all other successful farmers. It is the safest place—withdraw it whenever you please.
