NORTH POWDER ROAD BLOCKED

REPAIR AND BUILDING OF NEW BRIDGES.

Five Bridges to Be Built Between Baker and North Powder.

(Baker Herald.)

Work was begun this morning on the new steel bridge across the Powder river near the McCarty ranch. A full crew of men and teams are working and it is expected that the work will take about three weeks during which time traffic on the east side road to North Powder will be suspended owing to the fact that four bridges now being used are to be torn up and used in the construction of the new bridge.

The new bridge is to be 90 feet long. It will do away with four smaller bridges used on the road formerly. Being built on the McCarty ranch it will cross the river but once and throw the road on the other side of the river. The change has been petitioned for some time and will doubtless be welcomed by the autoists of this section.

Scared and Knew It.

A soldier under his first fire was charging with the rest of his regiment up the heights of Vicksburg, but so scared he looked like a ghost. A comrade next to him was unafraid and even smiled at the torrents of grape shot that swept the ranks. The comrade, noticing his friend's plight, turned to him and said with a sneer:

"Coward!"

"Coward yourself," retorted the frightened soldier. "Old man, if you were one-tenth as scared as I am you'd have broken ranks and run long ago."—Kansas City Journal.

The One He Caught.

One day many years ago the telephone in the office of the chief of police rang. Chief Speers answered. The call was from a new policeman on the Union avenue beat. He said: "A man has been robbed down here and I've got one of them."

"Which one have you?" asked the chief.

The reply came back: "The one that was robbed."—Argonaut.

Every Child Should Be Given This Tonic

When children have no appetite; when they are continually peevish and irritable; when they are restless in their sleep, it is almost a certain indication that their digestive organs are troubled with worms or other parasites. This is a very common ailment and easily remedied. Physicians will tell you that nearly every child is so troubled at some time and, in fact, many adults suffer in the same way. Among adults this trouble is invariably referred to as indigestion, when in reality it is due to a small parasite which infests the intestinal tract.

For children, Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge is unsurpassed, as it is not only destructive to these parasites, but completely removes the nests in which their young are deposited. Seldom does it purge, and the improvement in the health of the child will be the first and best indication of the beneficial results of the medicine. Not only will the Vermifuge destroy all the parasites, but its wonderful tonic effects will restore the digestion which has been impaired.

For children, the addition of a little sugar will make it so palatable that they will take it readily. Millions of parents have praised it for more than eighty years. Insist on Jayne's; accept no other. Sold by druggists everywhere. Dr. D. Jayne & Son, Philadelphia, Pa.

POWELL BABES NOT LOCATED

UNREWARDED SEARCH GOES ON AT HUNTINGTON.

Missing Babes Still in River in Which They Drowned.

Huntington, Ore., Aug. 9.—Search for the bodies of the two daughters of John Powell who were drowned in the flood that swept away their home last Friday is still unrewarded. Some now express the fear that the bodies were carried to the Snake river and beyond where the searching parties could go.

Steam shovels and a party of men have been working on the reservoir formed on the Seaburg place, since Sunday, but have not cleared away the wreckage. It is hoped that the bodies will be found there though it will be several days before they can be reached.

A FORTRESS OF THORNS.

Curious Nest of the Little Brown Wren of Central America.

The little brown wren of Central America builds a nest that should belong to a bird five or six times as large as it is, and, to prevent other birds from disturbing its home while it is away it builds as a protection a fence of thorns leading to it.

When Madam Wren looks for a home site, says a writer in the Ave Maria, she selects a tree where two branches lie parallel about two feet apart. Across these two branches she and her mate lay a little platform about five feet in length. Near the trunk of the tree is built a dome shaped nest about a foot in height. The sides of this nest are all interwoven with thorns.

Next a covered passageway is built from the nest to the end of the platform in as crooked a manner as possible. Thorns stick out in all directions just as in the nest itself, and every few inches on the inside of the tunnel little fences of thorns are placed in such a way that any creature not familiar with the passageway will get badly pricked. Finally across the outer end of the tunnel is a movable gateway of thorns.

Bothered by Plurals.

The Norwegian waitress who was learning English had more trouble with her plurals than with any other one thing. It seemed impossible for her to acquire the trick of putting on the letter "s" at the right time and leaving it off at others. She would invariably inquire on seeing a first helping disposed of, "Will you have more lambs?" or "Will you eat more chickens?" When corrected for this she would take pains to ask, "Will you have one bean?" and "Will you eat one huckleberry?" Finally the constant explanations of an overzealous mistress confused her past straightening out. There were guests staying over the week end, and Inga took the lady's order for a soft boiled egg, then the husband's for another. The girl, after a moment's hesitation, walked to the dumb waiter and said to the kitchen below, "One soft boiled egg for two!"—New York Press.

An Emperor's Strange Fancy.

Strange fancies have taken hold of some men regarding the manner in which their bodies were to be disposed of after death and the ceremonies to be observed at their funerals. The great Emperor Charles V. had the curious idea of celebrating his own funeral. Shortly before his death he caused a tomb to be made in the chapel of the monastery of Estremadura, to which he had retired after his abdication, and on its completion he was carried to it as though dead. Placed in a coffin and accompanied by a procession, he was borne along, while chants were sung, prayers said and tears shed. After the solemn farce was over he was left alone in the chapel, where he remained a short time before rising out of the coffin.

Why Bother About the Rest?

"Does you husband carry any life insurance?"

"I don't know."

"I should think you would want to be informed about a matter that would be so serious to you."

"How could it be serious to me?"

"Why, if he died you would wish to know whether he had left you anything or not, wouldn't you?"

"Oh, if he died he would leave me a widow, and I should know that right away."—Chicago Record-Herald.

What Interested Him.

"What interested me most in my travels," said Henpeck, "was the mummy of a queen I saw in Egypt."

"Wonderful, eh?" asked his friend.

"Yes, it's wonderful how they could make a woman dry up and stay that way."—Philadelphia Press.

The Safest place for your harvest money is in this bank

Look at these two men. They have been to market their cotton. One put his money in the bank and the other didn't. They were held up on the way home. The silly fellow who wanted to take his money home had to "deliver" to the robbers. The other was able to "give them the laugh"—his money was in this bank.

Take a lesson from this—put your harvest money in this bank like all other successful farmers. It is the safest place—withdraw it whenever you please.
