FINDING A PAWN TICKET. Sometimes It May Be Just Walking into a Trap.

"While walking through one of the prominent streets the other day," said an innocent looking individual, "I espied an important looking piece of paper on the sidewalk and, picking it up, found it to be a pawn ticket for a diamond scarfpin which some careless person had apparently dropped."

"According to the ticket, the pin had been pledged several weeks before for $15. 'How am I to find the owner?' thought I. 'Shall I take it to the pawnbroker? Perhaps if I do the owner will never see it anyway. The pin must surely be a good one and doubtless worth three times the amount for which it was pledged. Why not appropriate it to my own use?'"

"The name on the ticket was Brown, and my conscience was relieved when I found several hundred of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind and started for the broker's office. I asked to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the ticket, and upon the payment of 25 cents was allowed to examine it."

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I paid the principal of $15 and the interest of $1.80 and the pin became mine."

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who declared it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it. 'It is a trick of some people,' he said, 'to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of issuing tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of town where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators.'"—Philadelphia Record.

AN HOUR'S WALK. You Would Hardly Think It Meant Traveling 85,252 Miles.

Have you ever thought of the distance you travel when you are out on an hour's stroll? Possibly you walk three miles within the hour, but that does not by any means represent the distance you travel. The earth turns on its axis every twenty-four hours. For the sake of round figures, we will call the earth's circumference 24,000 miles, and so you must have traveled during the hour's stroll 1,000 miles in the axial turn of the earth.

But this is not all. The earth makes a journey around the sun every year, and a long but rapid trip it is. The distance of our planet from the sun we will put at 92,000,000 miles. This is the radius of the earth's orbit—half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore 184,000,000 miles, and the circumference, being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,586,000. Then we get the distance you rode around the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by twenty-four, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end-of-your-hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of 160,000 miles in a year. That is at the rate of a little more than 438,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey and that again to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled in the hour 85,252 miles.

Eccentric Tides. Owing to the effects of shore line and other influences which are more or less obscure it is very difficult to account for the peculiarities exhibited by tidal waves in various parts of the world.

Interfering waves cause once a day tides at Tahiti and in some other places, while on the other hand in the harbors back of the Isle of Wight and in the Tay in Scotland there are three tides in a day. The latter have been ascribed to overflows, produced by the modification of tidal waves running ashore and resembling the overtones of musical sounds.—New York Sun.

Made the Sea Run. "Ah, yes," murmured Miss Screecher after the first selection at the musicale, "I have had some exciting experiences. Coming over here from London, a terrible storm arose, and I had to sing to quiet the immigrants. You should have seen the heavy sea running!"

And the big, rude man in the pink necktie gazed out of the window. "I don't blame the sea," he muttered

SOCIETY

Within a fortnight, La Grande society will be re-keyed to its customary tension—card clubs, the nucleus of social venture in the Eastern Oregon metropolis—are dusting off the mantle of inaction and even before three weeks roll by many of the standby clubs will be organized for the year. Certainly before September is on history will the mid-summer lull have become a matter of record and the usual weekly routine of social functions re-instituted. Several elaborate functions are rumored in the formation, the date and character to be announced early next month.

Although it is true in the city that but few are planning any social events still it is equally true that everyone enjoys such treats as was given last Tuesday by Mrs. Kate Hanley at her beautiful country home just across the river from La Grande. The party was given in honor of Mrs. Carrie Wellman, now of Palo Alto, but for many years a resident of La Grande, and Miss De Witt of Portland. The guests of honor were warmly greeted by many old friends with whom they exchanged many pleasant tales of 'Auld Lang Syne.' Delicious refreshments were served on the cool lawn under the many shady walnut trees.

Those invited included: Mesdames Carrie McWhirter, J. L. Curtin, J. C. Henry, Ben Grandy, Newlin, Mason, Ledia Jones, Mox Block, Emma Harding, J. T. Williamson, A. Wilkinson, Sister, Stevens, Hattie McDonald, J. D. Slater, Nell, George H. Currey, E. L. Eckley, Ella Rynerson, Hayes, Heary Young, J. M. McCall, Sullivan, S. Zuber, W. E. Oesterling, Childs, L. H. Russell, A. B. Cherry, Frank Clevenger, Misses Young, Slater, Nellie Stevens of Portland and Mary Warnick.

Among the many parties of campers that have enjoyed the freedom of the hills during the past week was a crowd of ten known as the "Overall Girls." They camped at the Blumenstein ranch on Fox hill and greatly enjoyed the advantages of that camping ground. Twice the party climbed to the top of Mt. Emily, and during the week they saw two huge black bears. The party was composed of Misses Minna Ash, Carol Currey, Gertrude Moore, Margaret Moore, Helen McDonald, Amelia Collier, Violet Rush, Helen Britts, Mildred Oliver, and Fern Geddes. Mrs. Bullard chaperoned the party and Mrs. West was the chef for the occasion.

Last Sunday a party of eight climbed to the summit of Mt. Emily by way of the Fox hill road. They spent a delightful day, exulted by the pure atmosphere of that lofty altitude, and impressed by the majestic mountain scenery, and inspired by the magnificent view of the beautiful Grande Ronde valley. The members of the party were Misses Lena Jones, Irene Murphy, May White, Mrs. Julia Barbrau; Messrs. Charles Ramsey, William Desilet, Norman Desilet and Elmer Thomas, the official guide.

Last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Lloyd Scriber entertained in honor of Mrs. Roscoe Neill, wife of the new city engineer. The Neills came to La Grande from Salem. A pleasant afternoon was passed and delicious refreshments were served. Those present were: Mesdames Roscoe Neill, S. B. Sargent.

Oscar Jackson, Mand Dittschel, Mrs. Landrum, A. W. Nelson, Deas Lamb, H. M. Bay, Guy Buffington and Gita Wall.

MRS. ANDREWS IS GREATLY IMPROVED.

Imbler Lady Returns Home After Several Weeks Treatment.

Mrs. J. L. Andrews, a resident of Imbler, who had been here for several weeks taking treatment for chronic rheumatism, returned to her home this morning greatly improved. She expressed the strongest kind of praise for Dr. Darland, chiropractor, who has been treating her.

"No one can realize what I have suffered," said Mrs. Andrews, "I had become discouraged and thought the remainder of my life must be spent in pain. Like everyone who is afflicted I was anxious to try for better health. Several weeks ago I came to La Grande and began taking treatment of Dr. Darland and the result has been remarkable. Just to think that I can now rest with comfort is worth so much, and I am thoroughly convinced that it will be but a reasonable time until I free myself from this chronic ailment which has been so dreadful. There is no question as to the merit of the chiropractic treatment as given by Dr. Darland. The relaxation, the electric heat and the general adjustment all combine to bring new life and energy for those afflicted and force the belief that the new idea of treatment has merit and is entitled to the consideration of every thoughtful person." 8-17-2t

AT SHERRY'S.

In spite of the great number of amusements in town last night, Sherry's theatre was packed and many people stood up to witness one of the very best picture programs ever shown in La Grande. Any one of the four reels presented could easily be handled as a feature. As an added attraction Carroll E. Johnson is presenting his melo-dramatic sensation, "Behind the Bars in Sing Sing," and this proved to be just as represented, a complete exposition of prison life. This really meritorious program is on sale today and will be enjoyed by all who see it. For Sunday Sherry's has secured another splendid program, notwithstanding the fact that every program since returning to license service has been of the best, and Sunday's program is even better than the preceding ones. The Burglar of Suttery B is a Kalem story and concerns the commander of a battery and the bugler who are in love with two sisters. A story well told and well acted. The Sheriff's Daughter is a clever drama, the characters are lifelike, natural and interesting, the picture is produced by the Lubin company. Many Days, an Edison melo-drama, with an unusual dramatic climax, Auntie's Romance, a Vitagraph, featuring Miss Florence Turner and Maurice Costello. These ever-popular favorites are at their best in this picture. It is indeed a "rare film."
