

BLANCHE WALSH AT ARCADE

IN TOLSTOY'S IMMORTAL DRAMA,
"RESURRECTION."

At the Arcade Theatre Tonight and Saturday.

"Resurrection" is the realistic portrayal of the life of a Russian peasant girl who, more sinned against than sinning, has been forced to lead a life of shame but later experiencing a spiritual resurrection becomes the magic touchstone whereby her betrayer, a sensual pleasure-seeking profligate, undergoes a moral regeneration.

No description, no matter how complete, can do justice to this wonderful story of Leo Tolstoy which forms the basis of the film; only a mere outline is here attempted. The story bristles with action, with scenes that transport the reader from the aristocratic mansions of Moscow to the humblest of hovels among the peasants; from sumptuously furnished cafe chantant where all is gaiety, to the interior of a Russian prison where all is suffering; from a trial of court involving judges, jurors, witnesses and clerks to an enforced march across Siberian plains participated in by convicts and political prisoners with clanking chains.

Blanche Walsh plays the part of Katusha Wasova and is supported by an all star cast. At the Arcade two days, tonight and Saturday. Prices as usual.

Many Driven From Home.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there, with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles and quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

A BEAR STORY.

(Contributed)

Two of our city ninnyrods whom we shall call Bill and Jim took it into their heads to go bear hunting. Hearing that bear were plentiful on the lower Grande Ronde they concluded to try their luck in that vicinity. Getting grub, rifles, knives and snake medicine together for the trip the next morning found them on the train enroute to the hunting ground. Now, Bill professed to be an old hunter, while Jim was a novice in the art of bear hunting. Wishing to post himself, Jim enquired of William, "say, where is the best place to aim at when you shoot at a bear?" Bill leaned back in his seat with an air of importance and remarked, "I generally give it to them just back of the ears, but as you ain't had much experience, you had better aim just back of the foreleg. The main thing, however is to keep cool and don't get rattled." Arriving at their destination they found an old trapper who directed them to a spot several miles down the river where he had a boat. He told them to cross the river at that point and then take up the mountain side where it was densely wooded until they came to a big spring where they would be almost sure to jump a bear. Early next morning they crossed over in the boat and took up the mountain side which was steep and covered with thick brush and fallen timber. Bill was the best walker and got about a hundred yards ahead of Jim when he came to a big log about five feet in diameter which was lying directly across his path. Now it happened that on the other side of this log was a big black bear busily engaged in eating huckleberries. Hearing Bill's racket on the lower side of the log he rose suddenly upon his hind legs about seven foot high with mouth wide open and facing Bill who was about five feet away. Now Bill had never calculated on killing bear at such close quarters and this sudden apparition was just a little too much for his nerves, so giving a wild yell he dropped his gun and made a break down the hill at headlong speed.

Now Jim, who was coming up the hill pretty well out of breath, heard the sticks and brush cracking and he directly saw Bill coming on the run ten feet at a jump. When Bill caught sight of Jim he hollered: "Run, Run! Run! for God's sake, run." What's the matter, what's the matter," shouted Jim, but all the answer he got was "Run, run, run. As his form was rapidly vanishing down the hillside, Jim stood for a moment bewildered and hearing a noise above him concluded that maybe the devil had broken loose or some other calamity had happened. Anyhow, a panic seized him also and not wishing to stay there and face the unknown, he took after Bill as fast as his legs could carry him, hollering: "Hold on, Bill; hold on, Bill." But there was no stop to Bill and down the hill both went at breakneck speed until they reached the water's edge, then with a wild jump into the boat they grabbed the paddles and in a few moments were safe on the other side of the river.

"What's the matter!, what's the matter!, what was you running for", says Jim.

"Oh! Jim, there's the B-I-G-G-E-S-T bear up there you ever saw in all your life."

"Well, by Jiminy," says Jim as he sat wearily down on a rock mopping the sweat from his brow with one hand and rubbing his bruised shins with the other, "You just catch me coming here again to run you a foot race down that infernal mountain."

Despondency

What We Never Forget

according to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivalled for piles, corns or cold-sores. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

The Men Who Succeed

as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, today, demands health. To all is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak run-down half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

rapidly, and cause thousands of deaths that could have been prevented by proper treatment in the beginning. Nature gives early warnings of kidney disease—backache, twinges of pain when stooping or lifting, headaches and urinary disorders. If these symptoms are unheeded, there is grave danger of dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills have earned a reputation for their effectiveness in kidney troubles, and are known and recommended the world over. La Grande readers should find convincing proof in the following statement. It's from a citizen of this locality.

ter, Ore., says: "Last spring my kidneys were disordered and I began to suffer from backache. I noticed that the kidney secretions were highly colored and painful in passage and I thus knew that my kidneys were at fault. The use of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills toned up my kidneys and caused the backache to cease. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

Selder's - La Grande

La Grande must grow--it's location and resources give assurance that within a short time it will be the Spokane of Oregon. At its present rate of increase and growth it will soon double its population and its payroll. When it reaches that stage in its career Connordale will be practically the center of town for this city must grow down Washington Avenue and cut into the valley. Values will then be out of sight. They are low now. Go down and see for yourself.
