The Gossard Corsets
They Live In Them

Doctors and Fashion Agree as to Gossard Corsets

The front-lace Gossard Corset, besides winning the praise of skilled tailors and dressmakers for the stylish and correct figure it gives, has earned the approval of leading physicians throughout the country for its value in promoting womanly health. Medical journals, also, frequently publish articles commending those features of the Gossard corsets, that maintain and promote health, while giving the wearer a stylish, attractive figure.

A complete line always on hand.
Prices $2.50, $5.00, $6.50 and $8.50.

PERSONALS.

Dr. F. W. Whiting was over from Elgin last evening, a guest at the Sommer.

Mrs. J. L. Carter was here from Hood River last night, a guest at the Sommer.

B. B. Nutter is transacting business in Pendleton today and incidentally visiting the Roundup.

H. H. Weatherspoon passed through the city last night on his way home from a visit to Idaho points.

Mrs. H. A. Hanson of Salt Lake, Miss Lucile Allen and Mrs. A. W. Nelson are spending the day at Hot Lake.

George H. Flagg returned to Elgin this morning after spending the night here on his return from the Pendleton Roundup. He was a guest at the Sommer.

A. W. Cooper, secretary of the Western Pine Manufacturers' association and a group of mill men from Pacific Northwest states, are registered at the Foley today.

Attorney C. H. Finn and a party of local people are attending the program at Sammamish today where single tax is being discussed by Walter M. Pierce and Mr. U'Ren of Oregon City.

George L. Cleaver was at the Sommer last night. Mr. Cleaver is to take an exhibit of Dubler apples to Elgin today and announced the Inland Fruit Growers' association is to exhibit a carload of fruit at the Portland land show.

Eye Photographs.
An image impressed upon the retina of the eye remains there an appreciable time. This is the reason why a torch swung rapidly seems to be a circular flame. The sensibility of the retina is different at different times of the day. Every one has noticed how on waking in the morning and looking at the bright window, then closing the eyes, he will observe an impression or phantom of the window for an appreciable time after his eyes are closed.

Vegetable Gluttons.
Sundews, common in English marshes, are sufficiently knowing to distinguish between various substances presented to them. Offer them a nice scrap of tender beef, and in a couple of hours they will have concealed it from sight. Try them with a piece of chalk or a tiny pebble, and they remain stolidly immovable. Wet the chalk and offer it again, and the plant apparently mistakes it for meat, the bristles gradually closing round it; then, discovering the deception, they gradually relax and return the chalk without thanks. These vegetable gluttons will absorb morsels of poached eggs and mutton chops, but cheese turns the leaves quite black and finally kills them.

His Prescription.
Roemer, the greatest doctor of his time, was anxious that it should be forth that even the most eminent doctor is somewhat of a "quackling." He carefully handed the key of a small diary to his executor, bade him open it immediately after his decease and let the contents go forth to the world at large. When the diary was opened all its pages left the last were blank, and on that that one there was written in large letters "Directions to Patients: Keep your feet warm and your head cool and trust for the rest to Providence."

Did She?
"Do you know anything about hypnotism?" asked the fairly haired girl of her friend in the pink gown.

"Well," replied the fairly haired one as she held up her left hand to display a sparkling solitaire to better advantage, "you can judge for yourself." Judge.

Wanted a Lower Key.
Spotts—My love, I wish you would alter the key of your voice. Mrs. Spotts—What's the matter with it? Spotts—Oh, nothing; only from the expression of Eliza Jane's face after our recent argument I'm certain it fits every keyhole in the house.

An Apt Illustration.
"Pa, what's an inscrutable smile?" "It's the kind, my son, your mother had on her face this morning when I told her business might keep me out late tonight."—Baltimore American.

Making the Laws.
"Don't you think we have laws enough already, senator?" "Oh, yes, but if I don't let 'em know what I'm here for I'll never get here again."—Atlanta Constitution.

A resolution calling on English workmen to imitate the Continental European custom of observing May 1 as Labor day, was adopted by the Trades Union Congress at Newport, Wales, the other day.

A Date Arranged.

Manager Stewart says he has at last received a contract for "The Lion and the Mouse." The date will be announced a little later; it will be a month or so at least before the company's appearance. This is one of Chas. Klein's best plays and doubtless will attract a record-breaking house.

Tom Lewis, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, is the Republican candidate for Secretary of State of Ohio.

The San Francisco labor council, through its organizing committee, will endeavor to re-organize the Leather Novelty Workers' Union.

The American Federation of Labor is conducting an active campaign of organization among the workers in the iron and steel industry.
