TOURIST HOME AGAIN.

Though Near Olympic Games, Could Not Get Seats During Contests

First hand information about the recent Olympic games at Stockholm, is brought to La Grande by N. J. Mansager, former principal of the high school here, who is home from an extended tour of Europe and the Scandinavian countries, and who will accept a position as temporary city recorder when the resignation of C. M. Humphreys becomes effective. Mr. Humphreys takes up his duties as Commercial club secretary November 1st.

While Mr. Mansager was in Stockholm and near that city much of the time the Olympiad was in progress, he did not obtain seats and consequently did not see the contests. He voices an expression seldom heard through the press to the effect that those who did not obtain seats early in the year failed to get good views or failed to get in at all.

The seat sale went on early and unless one obtained reservations, the view was poor. This criticism was frequently heard by those who obtained general admission tickets.

Mr. Mansager spent several months in his old home and was much pleased to see the scenes of his native country but also equally delighted to get back to the land of Uncle Sam again.

DOOMED HIMSELF.

Chief Shavehead Boasted Once Too Often of His Deeds of Blood.

J. Seymour Currey in "The Story of Old Fort Dearborn" describes the massacre of the garrison of the old fort and tells of one instance of poetic justice for the Indians' butchery. "Bloody retribution," says Mr. Currey, "overtook one of the savages, who on the day of the massacre showed no mercy to his victims. This was a chief known as a deadly enemy of the whites and who bore the expressive name of Shavehead because of his peculiar manner of tying up his scanty hair.

"Years afterward Chief Shavehead was in company with a band of hunters in the Michigan woods. In the party was a white man who had formerly been a soldier at Fort Dearborn and was one of the survivors of the battle on the lake shore. At one of the campfires the chief, being of a boastful disposition, related while under the influence of liquor to those sitting about the campfire the frightful tale concerning the events of that day, dwelling upon its horrors and boasting of his own deeds.

"He was not aware that one of the whites whom he had so fiercely assailed was at that moment listening to his braggart utterances. The old soldier as he heard the tale was saddened by the recall of the well remembered scene.

"Toward midnight the old savage departed alone in the direction of the forest. Silently the soldier with loaded rifle followed upon his steps. Others observed them as they passed out of sight into the shades of the forest. The soldier returned after a time to his companions, but Shavehead was never seen again."

Reasons why you should vote for

B. Lee Paget

Of Portland, for U. S. Senator

In the first place, he represents the cleanest political organization in the United States, and is one of the foremost citizens of the State of Oregon.

The nomination for this high office came to him without his seeking it and he has made a campaign such as has never been carried on before by a Prohibition candidate for such an office.

He is a business man and not a politician, but he is a clean, capable, honest citizen and is worthy the votes of all good men.

He has been an officer of the people's power league of Oregon, for eight years and has never repudiated his connection therewith.

He is the most logical candidate for the senate now in the field in Oregon and a vote for him is the best and happiest solution of the problem now before the voters of the State. How would it do to forget your party this once and vote your sentiments?

This advertisement compiled and paid for by the Prohibition central committee of Union county.
