LIVESTOCK FLOODS MARTS

PORTLAND YARD CROWDED WITH OVERFLOW.

Unbought Cattle and Sheep Fill Markets—Prices Affected.

Portland, Oct. 24. — (Special) — Touching upon the stock market here, a local expert says:

North Portland is full of livestock. It has more than its needs and at the present time is not able to take care of its arrivals. Too much stuff has been coming forward for the needs of the trade.

There are sheep of quality in the yards that have been there since Sunday and have not yet found abuser. There was a cry for more and better stuff a short time ago but the local interests have been bringing in a lot of mutton direct and therefore the offerings on the open market are given second consideration. However, this is the natural result when shippers are unwilling to furnish killers with their needs and force the latter to purchase themselves at country points. When this stock arrives it is but natural that killers should go rather slow about their open market purchases, self help being the first consideration.
