EDUCATOR IS 90 YEARS OLD

Andrew D. White Was First President of Cornell University.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Andrew D. White, first president of Cornell university and former ambassador to Germany, attained his 90th year today and was the recipient of a flood of congratulations from the trustees, faculty and students of Cornell and other friends throughout the country. Dr. White was born in Cortland county, this state, in 1822. He graduated from Yale in 1853 and spent the next three years in European travel. In 1857 he became professor of history and English literature at the University of Michigan. This position he resigned in 1862 on account of ill health, and a year later became a member of the New York senate.

At the expiration of his term in the senate Dr. White was elected the first president of Cornell university, a position which he held until 1885. During his presidency at Cornell his work was by no means confined to the university. In 1871 he was a member of the United States commission on San Domingo, and from 1879 to 1881 he was minister to Germany.

After his resignation as head of Cornell, he served successively as minister to Russia, member of the Venezuelan commission, ambassador to Germany and head of the American delegation to the peace conference at The Hague. With his educational and diplomatic service Dr. White has combined much diplomatic labor and is the author of many valuable scientific works.

Rumors are afloat about in Texas League circles that the Austin franchise is to be transferred to Oklahoma City.

Olaf Henriksen, of the Boston Red Sox, who played such a prominent part in winning the deciding game, is home talent. His home is in Canton, a suburb of Boston.

When Ray Collins and Larry Gardner, of the champion Red Sox, returned to their native state of Vermont, the University of Vermont and the city of Burlington tendered the two boys a great reception.

The Philadelphia Athletics, the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates have stood pat in their managers for years, while most of the other major league clubs try a new pilot every season or two.

"Big Ed" Walsh, of the White Sox, was the pitcher oftentimes called upon to go to the front, in the big leagues, during the past season. The records show that Ed took part in no less than 61 games.

FIGHTING A BISON

Exciting Battle With a Savage Bull In India.

A WILD SCRAMBLE FOR LIFE.

There Were Several Narrow Escapes For the Hunter That Was Hunted Before an Unexpected Climax Ended the Rather One Sided Engagement.

In her book, "Roughing It In South-west India," Mrs. M. A. Handley presents a graphic description of a thrilling adventure in which a member of her party played one of the star parts. It was a brilliant but unwilling engagement, and it was too serious while it lasted either for comfort or for the enjoyment of the grimly humorous phases of his enforced battle and wild scramble for his life. Mrs. Handley says:

"Although as a forest officer F. had frequently looked death in the face, he never felt so utterly helpless at the critical moment as he did in a certain adventure that he had with a bull bison. The animal took the aggressive as soon as he was discovered. F. had time only to jump behind a buttress tree.

"The bison began by chasing him round the tree till his head swam. The animal gave him not a moment's leisure in which to take aim. The buttress tree is not easy to climb, for the trunk throws out walls or buttresses all round, between which are deep recesses. To be caught in one of them would certainly mean being pinned to the tree and gored to death.

"Half an hour of this exercise did not tire the bison in the least, whereas from moment to moment F. grew dizzy. Knowing that he could not keep it up much longer and that a fall would be fatal, he started to run in another direction. Quick as he was, the bull was quicker. Suddenly F. felt a touch on his back. Then he felt himself caught up by the belt and tossed high into the air.

"Luckily the belt gave way, for otherwise he would have been brought down again, to be either tossed once more or gored. As it was, he was thrown to a distance, while his rifle, flying out of his hand, struck with a metallic ring on a rock. From where he lay, jarred almost into a stupor, F. saw the angry bull go up to the rifle and trample it into a ruin of splintered wood and twisted iron.

"The bison then turned his angry eyes about and advanced toward F., who thought himself powerless to stir. At the last moment, however, he managed to scramble up from under the creature's very nose.

"Near at hand were his men, one of whom carried his spare rifle. This man watched his opportunity, darted sideways, dropped the gun into the grass and placed a stick upright beside it to mark the spot where it lay. Meanwhile all the others danced and shouted in order to distract the bull's attention.

"Running his best, F. must now needs stumble, but he picked himself up and turned round to see what was in store for him. Before he could slip to one side the bull plunged at him, knocking him down, and stood over him, with the foam from his mouth dropping into his face.

"The huge brown head bent lower and lower till the bloodshot eyes were turned downward.

"F. had no time to think. He had to do whatever the moment suggested. He grasped the horns, was raised up by them and balanced for an age long second in the air; then, partly thrown, partly springing to earth, he tore ahead without stopping to look behind him.

"As he ran toward the rifle placed ready for him the pounding of hoofs behind suddenly ceased, although the bellowing and snorting were redoubled. He turned to look, and at the same instant the men's cries turned from despair to joy. The bull had trapped himself.

"In his blind fury, heedless of his own steps, he had fallen nearly chest deep into a wedge shaped crevice in the rock, with all his feet in a bunch, and the more he struggled the tighter he stuck. It was the work of a moment for F. to seize the rifle and fire the shot that put the bison out of his misery."

Chinese Similes.

Some of the ordinary expressions of the Chinese are pointedly sarcastic enough. A blustering, harmless fellow they call "a paper tiger." When a man values himself overmuch they compare him to "a rat falling into a scale and weighing itself." Overdoing a thing they call "a hunchback making a bow." A spendthrift they compare to "a rocket" which goes off at once. Those who expend their charity on remote objects, but neglect their families, are said to "hang a lantern on a pole, which is seen afar, but gives no light below."

LA GRANDE Y. M. C. A. DEPARTMENT.

Y. M. C. A. News of Current Interest Noted Hereunder, Direction of J. H. Radd, General Secretary.

What do you think of the possibilities of a Y. M. C. A. in La Grande? Write it out and send it to your secretary. We desire to get articles on this subject from every viewpoint, in order that we may publish them in this column each week. Would such an institution be of any benefit to our city and our county? for boys, laboring men, railway men, young men in the city without homes? Take it from the standpoint of its commercial value, its value as an attraction to prospective newcomers to the city. Or tell what you think would be its value in any of the great main branches, physical, educational, spiritual or social.

Possibilities.

On October 1st we moved from our little office on Elm street to larger quarters at 8 Depot street. During the month changes have been taking place slowly. The new quarters are gradually assuming a homelike appearance. In spite of the tornup and unfinished condition of the room it has been the center of several important conferences. In view of the fact that with no special attractions yet installed the monthly list of visitors to the office shows a total of over 500. It seems a certainty that with the improvements, which are now in charge of the Triangle club, completed, the monthly attendance at the Y. M. C. A. should increase very materially.

Woodmen Fight Rate Increase.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—The Nebraska "insurgents" of the fraternity of the Modern Woodmen of America assembled in mass convention here today to decide upon a plan of action in opposition to the rate increase which the supreme council of the order proposes to put into effect on January 1. The Nebraska members who are fighting the raise will endeavor to have a special session of the legislature called before January 1 to pass a law prohibiting an increase in the rates of a fraternal order without a referendum vote of the members.

Concert.

Again in this column we wish to call to your attention the big Y. M. C. A. concert to be given at the tabernacle Monday evening, Nov. 11th. The auditorium should be filled with enthusiastic Y. M. C. A. boosters and lovers of music. Watch this paper for detailed program.

Y. M. C. A.

The Wright Sign Service has very kindly donated a beautiful hanger for the window of the office. When you read it:

"Y. M. C. A.—WELCOME" just remember that it means you, your friends, or any stranger who may happen to be in our city.

Gymnasium.

The boys are taking advantage of the gymnasium classes in the two classes 21 are already enrolled. Ask any of these boys what they think about it. Many more boys should take part. The fee of $2.00 should not hold many back.

Friday night will be the organization night for the men's class. If you are a member, or want to be, come to the "Gym," (the skating rink) at 7:45. The baskets are in position for basketball.

Following is the schedule for classes:

Friday. 5:00—Young Ladies' club. 7:45—Seniors.

Wolverton on Walvers' List.

New York, Nov. 7.—President Farrell of the New York American leaguers plans to ask walvers on Manager Harry Wolverton.

Celebrate Priest's Silver Jubilee.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7.—Rev. James T. Coffey, the successor of Archbishop Harry of Manila in the pastorate of St. Lee's church in this city, celebrated the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood today. The program opened at 10 o'clock—this morning with solemn high mass at the church in the presence of a large audience. The jubilarian was the celebrant and was assisted by personal friends. Archbishop Glennon presided and Rev. Edward J. Shea preached the jubilee sermon.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Vanderbilt which beat Mississippi 24 to 0 this year, defeated the same team by 21 to 0 in 1911.

The Yale coaches think that Bomelizer will be able to play against Harvard, if not against Princeton.

The Carlisle Indians are winning everything in sight this season, even going over the border and scalping the Canadians.

Charley Brickley, the Harvard star, is a natural drop-kicker and by constant practice has developed a wonderful accuracy.

York, the Yale guard, probably will not play any more football this season. Harbinson, however is believed to be a good man for the position.

Dan McGuffin, the Vanderbilt coach, believes that his football warriors have a splendid chance to defeat Harvard when the two teams meet in Cambridge November 9.

There will be 30,630 tickets printed for this year's Army-Navy game, and of this number 10,000 will be sold through the University of Pennsylvania committee for three dollars apiece.

Coach "Hurry Up" Yost, of the Michigan squad, has been working his men to the limit since their defeat at the hands of Syracuse. The coming game with Pennsylvania is causing Yost to put the old "hurry up" method into practice.
