Apple Show Pies Many.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 20.—Twenty-five thousand apple pies, rivaling those like "mother used to make", were baked in an endless chain oven 75 feet long and served steaming hot to 25,000 hungry persons at the Fifth National Apple show and Emakope jubilee, which closed Sunday evening.

The apples were first made into sauce in the largest boiling pot ever constructed, its dimensions being 18 feet high, 10 feet in diameter and its weight 3,500 pounds. From the kettle the apples went between crusts as filling for pies. Then they began their journey by endless chain through the oven, which literally threw out pies to the hungry crowds waiting at the exit.

Figuring one apple to each pie, each pie being four inches in diameter, 25,000 apples, or nearly forty carloads were baked and distributed free of charge. It proved to be the most spectacular feature ever given by the apple show.

In its serious phase, the National Apple show launched a movement designed to unite the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana in to one big unit for the co-operative distribution of Pacific Northwest Apples and other fruit.

Robert E. Strahorn, president of the show, has decided, on request of 115 leading growers, railway officials and bankers of the four states, to call a meeting in Spokane, December 16 for the purpose of working out a co-operative marketing plan. Delegates will represent every fruit-growing district in the Pacific Northwest.

Apple growers have no fear of over-production, but they are agreed that an effective marketing system that will eliminate some of the intermediate hands through which their product now passes and that will reduce the price to the consumer, is essential to the prosperity of thousands of orchards.

Fruit Buyers Strike.

New York, Nov. 19.—Fruit buyers are striking because of unsatisfactory methods of the receivers, tying up $300,000 worth of California fruit. The retailers state that unless their terms are agreed to, they will not sell the fruit on piers and wharves of the Erie railroad. The cartage charge of four cents is responsible, one cent reduction being demanded.

Salt Lake, Nov. 20.—Henry Davis of Los Angeles, the supposed maniac, is known here. He was arrested for petty larceny here in 1905 and escaped when a chain gang pounded the shackles from their feet with a stone and eluded their pursuers. Davis used the alias Warr.
