BOHNENKAMP ON STAR CAST

W. H. LYTLE SELECTS E. O. STAR PLAYERS

La Grande Tackle Switched to Guard by Star Picked.

(By Dr. W. H. Lytle, coach of Pendleton High School Team.)

- Herbert, left end, Baker, captain.
- McColloch, left tackle, Baker.
- Bohnenkamp, left guard, La Grande.
- Wolf, center, The Dalles.
- Rondeau, right guard, The Dalles.
- Finch, right tackle, Baker.
- Johnson, right end, Wallowa.
- Finnell, left half, Pendleton.
- Hinderman, full back, Pendleton.
- Huntington, right half, The Dalles.
- Jordan, quarter, Pendleton.

The above theoretical eleven represents, in my opinion, the very best team that could be chosen to represent eastern Oregon on the gridiron. In making my selection, I have shifted several of the players from their regular positions because such shifts would be necessary to secure the eleven best men and maintain an evenly balanced team.

Halfback Herbert of Baker is moved to end because he plays that position equally as well as half. He is shifty a good tackler and gets down the field fast and has weight to withstand abuse. McColloch of Baker is the best high school tackle in eastern Oregon. He has weight, experience and intensity. Bohnenkamp of La Grande is moved from his position of tackle to that of guard. He is shifty, follows the play well and breaks through the line often. Wolf of The Dalles for center had the easiest competition of all for his position as most of the centers were light and inexperienced. Rondeau, right guard of The Dalles was together with Wolff the offensive strength of their team. They opened practically all the holes through which Huntington made his yardage.

Finch, right tackle of Baker, was the heaviest man in the eastern Oregon interscholastic league. Though suffering from a broken bone in his wrist, he played throughout the season, using his 215 pounds of avoirdupois to stop all plays directed at his side of the line. He was at all times a power on defense. Johnson, right end and captain of the Wallowa team is given the opposite end of the line from Herbert. He is a good tackler, a fast man going down under punts and receives forward passes well, and has both weight and experience.

Finnell, left half of Pendleton, is the best all around back that has been seen in eastern Oregon for several years. He runs low, knees high and hits the line hard, stands abuse well and is strong on defense and fast at getting down the field. Hinderman, fullback on Pendleton, is the heaviest back in eastern Oregon. He punts well, getting them off without being blocked, is the best forward passer in the state and hits the line like a pile driver, and is a tower of strength on defense. Huntington, full of The Dalles, is moved to right half as he can play that position equally well and because of his lesser weight is better adapted to hold that position than Hinderman. He punts equally as well as Hinderman and is a good forward passer and a fine open field runner and a "moose" at going through the line. Jordan of Pendleton, is given the position of quarterback because he has weight and runs the best interference of any eastern Oregon quarter. He carries the ball well from his position and is accurate in his passing. He in addition is the best receiver of forward passes in the league and is strong on defense and adept at blocking punts.

Herbert of Baker, is given the captaincy of the team because his school is winner of the eastern Oregon championship and because he is well able to captain such an aggregation.

The team as selected has both weight and experience, a heavy active line, a fast, hard-hitting back field, two good punters and forward passers, strong, active ends and all starling defense men. I have given three players each to Baker. The Dalles and Pendleton, as all three teams were of almost equal merit. I could name many players who might properly be given a position on this team and doubtless different selections would be made by other judges, but I have attempted to impartially pick of eastern Oregon that would fit to the best eleven men from the schools gathered best to make a strong, well-balanced team. I am free to say that if this team could be assembled and trained together, that there are many northwest colleges that would fall before it.

Unfortunately, the state championship cannot be determined this year. There are in fact three claimants: Baker of eastern Oregon, Eugene of the Willamette valley, and Washington High of Portland. On their own grounds any one of these teams should win over the other two as there is admitted to be at least a one touch down handicap when playing on the opponent's field. On neutral grounds, Washington High looks the strongest.
