I do my own cutting and save $40 a week--a cutter's salary. I handle no shelf clothes, collar buttons or neckties, but devote entire time to high class tailoring. No other business causes a drain on our tailoring. I have the best of workmen, who turn out garments in proper shape.

The dull season is near, and I intend keeping my men busy by giving substantial reduction to each customer. Our desire is to get acquainted with every person in this territory. Our business has been good—I want to make it larger. Every order you place with us is made right here in La Grande. No send-aways, or sweat-shop garments handled by us.

A Choice Ranch For Sale

An ideal all purpose ranch, especially adapted for dairying, poultry raising and hog farm. Also admirably suited for berries and truck gardening, and contains a choice orchard of all kinds of fruit, as apples, pears, plums, peaches, apricots, cherries (one acre of cherries) and berries.

The above ranch consists of eighty-nine acres, of which about five acres is in orchard, about twenty acres in alfalfa and plow land and the balance in good pasture, with some timber, plenty of running water for irrigation purposes, and also a power plant, a pure cold spring piped into the house, a house of seven rooms, good cellar, good washroom, wood house, work shop, buggy shed, poultry house, hog pens and a barn that will hold 75 tons of hay and house 18 head of stock. Said ranch is situated on the south border of La Grande, Oregon, the second largest city in the state, with a first class market for all ranch products. Location perfect, being free from wind, and overlooking the city and the entire valley. The above ranch, together with a good spray pump, a wagon, and a number of other articles, all go for the sum of $7,000.

I also have for sale or trade, a Percheron stallion, four years old, weight over 1800 pounds, perfect in build, action and color, sired by the world's champion, "Universe." Will take $1200 or its equivalent in horses. Address

DECLINE IN FOODS SEEN

AFTER HOLIDAY PRICES FALLING OFF SLIGHTLY.

Eggs, Light Hogs and Other Commodities Decline.

A decided decline in some of the most necessary articles of food is the report given out by the local merchants. Owing to the decline in eggs in the Pacific coast cities, a slump of five cents is the quotation for today with a lower price in sight. Fresh eggs are five cents lower in some of the stores and storage eggs have gone down the same number of notches. Butter remains at the same holiday figures with no change to look for. Merchants are paying 17 cents for turkeys and dressed geese and ducks retail at 18c. Light and medium light hogs have gone down a few cents more, but beef is pretty sure to hold its own on account of the shortage.

Vegetables remain the same with good supplies in all the stores. Grape fruit is slightly lower.
