EAST AND WEST MEET

Walter McCormack, Famous Grand Opera Tenor, makes Friends with the Blackfeet Indians from Glacier National Park

The East and the West came together in a rather striking and unusual fashion at the recent concert given by the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra in the Auditorium at St. Paul. The Indians attended the concert as guests of L. W. Hill and were very appreciative not only of the splendid solos sung by Mr. McCormack, but of the rather intricate and high-brow type of orchestration rendered by Prof. Rothwell and his well-known orchestra. Chief Fred Big Top, in referring to the concert, said he enjoyed it very much—"some of it was just like Indian music."

The Indians applauded long and loud at times and attracted considerable attention themselves. While the elite of St. Paul were present in evening dress they had nothing on the Indians, who were very elaborately attired and carried themselves with dignity and ease.

After the concert, the Indians were introduced to and photographed with Mr. McCormack as shown in the picture above. They extended him a cordial invitation to visit their native home, Glacier National Park, Montana, next summer.

PANAMA CANAL WILL START FOREIGNERS TO PACIFIC COAST

Washington, Jan. 7.—Will the great army of underpaid, under educated and largely underfed immigrants from the south of Europe land on the Pacific coast of the United States immediately following the opening of the Panama canal?

The federal bureau of immigration has not made any special investigation of the question, although the officials of the bureau admit that the standard of living of the workers in California, Oregon and Washington is threatened by the arrival of these people in any great numbers.

Analysis of figures from the current report of the bureau, however, shows that for the year ending June 30, 1912 the immigration to this country from Austria was 85,854, from Hungary 93,028, from Italy including Sicily and Sardinia 157,134, from the Russian empire and Finland 162,395, from Greece 2,449, from Bulgaria, Serbia, and Montenegro 4,447, from Roumania 1,997, from Turkey in Europe 14,481, Turkey in Asia 12,798, from Spain 6,327 and from Portugal 10,230. In contrast to this total of 572,130 coming from the countries where wages and standards of living are low, is the report of only 27,788 from the entire German empire, 8,628 from France, 8,675 from Norway and 83,027 from the United Kingdom. The total of European immigration for the year was 718,857, and the total from all continents 838,172.

Skilled laborers admitted to the United States during the year numbered 127,016, while there were also landed 184,154 farm laborers, 135,726 common laborers, 116,529 servants and 231,070, including women and children who had no special occupation.

New York state was the destination of 239,275 of these people, while Pennsylvania received 169,625 and Massachusetts 70,171. California got 28,405, Oregon 4,138 and Washington 11,382. Many of these coming to the Pacific coast were Asiatics.

When steerage tickets to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle can be sold in the Mediterranean and Balkan countries for $6 more than the present rate to New York, the immigration officials here believe that the Pacific coast will draw much of the immigrant tide now flowing to New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Tickets for use on steamers to be run through the canal are said to be now on sale on the installment plan in Greece, Italy and Austria.

Solon Votes Democratic.
Washington, Jan. 7.—"The state of Washington is progressive, and the members of the Washington delegation in congress who support progressive legislation will have the support of the electorate in that course", says Rep. William LaFollette, who was re-elected last November as a Republican, but who will vote for most of the Woodrow policies in the next House.

"Any representative from our section of the country who may attempt to protect the special interests as against the legislative needs of the masses of the people is going to face defeat when he comes up again. Our state is not devoted to high tariff. We are going to remain in the vanguard of the progressive movement."

Rep. LaFollette says that while Wilson may lose some congressional districts two years hence, due to the usual reaction after a landslide, the real test of the success or failure of his work will not come until four years have passed.

Plant Quarantine Enforced.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Department of Agriculture has declined to assist the exhibitors at the Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in passing through federal and state quarantine any plants imported from abroad which may be found diseased, but which might be so treated as to deprive them of the power of spreading disease among California plants. Inquiry by Rep. Kahn of the exposition city, has revealed the fact that the new federal law makes no provision for fumigation or other disinfection. Hence the California state horticulturist is the only authority who can stand between foreign exhibitors and the loss of plants, trees, etc., which may be found affected by insect or fungus pests.

Want Napa Survey.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A bill providing for a federal survey of the Napa river in California, with a view to making cut-offs in the channel at Jack's point and Carr Bend, has been introduced by Rep. Kent. River improvement bills have now been brought in by a majority of the California delegation.

Hetch Hetchy Report Delayed.

Washington, Jan. 7.—"Any report that the army engineering board favors the McCloud or any other proposed source of water supply for San Francisco is purely imaginative", declared Col. John Biddle, chairman of the army board today, in commenting on recent rumors from San Francisco on the Hetch Hetchy dispute.

"Our report will be ready about January 8. We are awaiting some further data to be furnished by the city's engineers, and we have to make our conclusion."

"The question as to what we will recommend has not yet been decided."

Secretary of the Interior Fisher will act on the permit after the army board has reported to him, will have less than two months in office from the time of his granting or refusing the use of the Hetch Hetchy valley to the city until his successor is installed with power to reverse his decision. Present indications are that the new secretary will be Will R. King, former supreme court justice of Oregon, an authority on water power law and a Cost Kelp Valuable.

Washington, Jan. 7.—After having mapped the great kelp groves in the Pacific ocean, along the coast from the Mexican line to Cape Flattery, Professor Milton Whitney, chief of the federal bureau of soils, announces that this resource can supply several times the entire demand for potash salts as fertilizer on farms in the United States. Work is now in progress which will determine very closely how many millions this kelp is worth.

Prof. Whitney issues a warning that the ground felspar, ground lava and ground phonolite recently introduced in the American market are not so serviceable in the average case as the standard mixtures. Fertilizer enough to supply three times the present needs of the country for a thousand years is estimated to be available from the fields of phosphate and other high grade material already known.

New Geological Books.

Washington, January 7.—The Geological Survey is publishing in six volumes designated as Water Supply Papers 95 to 300 inclusive, the results of the survey and digest of all available data on the flow of streams within the state of California. This work was undertaken in co-operation with the California Board of Water Control, and with the California Conservation Commission, both of which were given appropriations by the state to secure this information. The state gives $15,000 annually for topographical mapping and $9000 for investigation of stream flow, besides special sums for the determination of its water power resources.

An official statement by the Geological Survey is that California is shown in these reports to have water resources worth many millions.
