Always interesting

AURORA FLOYD

One of the best known of the English book plays, as gripping and famous as "East Lynne." The court room scenes just teem with excitement and the "big scene" is a scene of big suspense.

In anticipation of severe floods if warm weather continues, Street Superintendent McMurray is keeping all the storm sewers in the business district clean and free from snow to give flow to the water. This policy has already proven itself relief for the forerunner of high water occasioned by the light rains yesterday.

Dr. Charlton has been named as county stock inspector for the ensuing year. This is the third consecutive term the veteran veterinary has held. Close inspection of in and outgoing shipments of stock and numeration of sheep that graze in this county are a few of the duties falling to the stock inspector.

Sherry's Shows Feature.

"The Great Steeplechase," a two reel drama at Sherry's for this change is a splendid offering showing some exciting scenes. There are spills, three of them, and how the riders escape with their lives will puzzle any audience. This program also contains two fine comedies and the popular Pathe Weekly. On account of the appreciation shown the Empire Harp orchestra for their splendid program last night they will give another tomorrow night, offering a complete change.

WORSE THAN FAILURE.

We do not admire the man of timid peace. We admire the man who embodies victorious efforts, the man who never wrongs his neighbor, who is prompt to help a friend, but who has those virile qualities necessary to win in the stern strife of actual life. It is hard to fail, but it is worse never to have tried to succeed. In this life we get nothing save by effort. Freedom from effort in the present merely means that there has been stored up effort in the past. A man can be freed from the necessity of work only by the fact that he or his fathers before him have worked to good purpose. If the freedom thus purchased is used aright and the man still does actual work, though of a different kind, whether as a writer or a general, whether in the field of politics or in the field of exploration and adventure, he shows he deserves his good fortune. — Theodore Roosevelt.

cents. The wool growers congress recommended the raising of sheep because the demand is increasing while at the same time pasturage is becoming more limited.

Headquarters of the wool growers will be at Salt Lake City and the next convention is to be held there.

SINCERITY.

Never be ashamed to say "I do not know." Men will then believe you when you say "I do know."

Never be ashamed to say "I can't afford it." "I can't afford to waste time in the idleness to which you invite me" or "I can't afford the money you ask me to spend." Never affect to be other than you are—either wiser or richer.

Learn to say "No" with decision; "Yes" with caution; "No" with decision when it resists temptation; "Yes" with caution whenever it implies a promise, for a promise once given is a bond inviolable.

A man is already of consequence in the world when it is known that we can implicitly rely upon him. Often have I known a man to be preferred in stations of honor and profit because he had this reputation. When he said he knew a thing he knew it, and when he said he would do a thing he did it.—Bulwer Lytton.

TIME.

Time is the cradle of hope, but the grave of ambition—the salutary counselor of the wise, but the stern corrector of fools. Wisdom walks before it, opportunity with it and repentance behind it. He that has made it his friend will have little fear from his enemies, but he that has made it his enemy will have little hope from his friends.—Bacon.

Gravity.

Gravity is only the bark of wisdom, but it preserves it.—Confucius.

Anger.

There are few things that are worthy of anger and still fewer that can justify malignity.—Johnson.

Laughter.

Laughter is a healthy, joyous, natural impulse—the true mark of superiority between man and beast.—J. H. Friswell.

Philosophy.

Small drafts of philosophy lead to atheism, but larger ones lead back to God.—Francis Bacon.

Happiness.

Happiness is neither with us nor without us. It is the union of ourselves with God.—Blaise Pascal.

Cheerfulness.

Cheerfulness keeps up a kind of sunshine in the soul and fills it with a steady and perpetual serenity.—Addison.

Labor.

Love labor, for if thou dost not want it for food thou mayst for physic. It is wholesome for thy body and good for thy mind.—William Penn.

THE ILLUSIONS OF HOPE.

It is natural to man to indulge in the illusions of hope. We are apt to shut our eyes against a painful truth and listen to the song of that siren till she transforms us into beasts. Is this the part of wise men engaged in a great and arduous struggle for liberty? Are we disposed to be of the number of those who having eyes see not and having ears hear not the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth, to know the worst and to provide for it.—Patrick Henry.

CHERRY'S NEW LAUNDRY

GEO. GILBERT, Manager

Grover Ferris was taken off the streets of La Grande in a demented condition yesterday and lodged in the city jail. He was then removed to the county jail where the case is being watched. Last night his mind was clearer and the authorities thought that it was but a temporary aberration, but this morning he is more violent than ever. If the condition is permanent he will be examined by the county court and sent to the hospital for the insane at Salem in the near future.
