Where Quality Is Paramount

There is a reason for everything and the reason our business has increased so fast is because our prices are the same and in many cases less. At the same time we are paying dividends to the good patrons on their purchases.

Each day we are adding new names to our list who wish to share in the benefits that are to be derived.

Yours to Please,

The Union County Co-Operative Assn.

HEACOCK'S GLASSES FIT.
Because of the frequent questions asked in regard to the subject, the librarian of the public library would like to state that a list of the houses under quarantine is kept at the library and in case any books have been taken into those homes, they are destroyed to avoid all danger of contagion. The library is frequently fumigated, and there is no reason why anyone should feel apprehensive in regard to contagious diseases from frequenting the library room and taking home the books.

Egyptian Justice.
In ancient Egypt all court business was carried on in writing in order that the decision might not be influenced by oratory or personal appeal. The laws lay before the judges upon a table, and the accused declared in writing how he had been injured, whereupon the defendant stated in writing what he had to say. Then came a rejoinder from each party to the case, after which the judges deliberated among themselves until they had hit upon the proper legal penalty for the party who had in the meantime been adjudged guilty. This point being reached, the president of the judges touched with an image of Thamel the "Godness of Truth," the manuscript of the guilty pleader, and the case was over.—New York American.

What a Mango Tastes Like.
The first thing to do when you reach Ceylon is to eat a mango. Will it be as good as you are told it is? Yes, it is—better. First you think it's an apricot, and then you think it's a banana; no, fresher—a peach, a strawberry—and then comes a delicious sharp, fresh, aromatic after taste slightly tinged with turpentine, but not bitter. Then you get all the taste at once, and you know that the mango is like nothing else but its own incomparable self. It has all these different tastes at once, simultaneously.—Metropolitan.

Warmth in Snow.
Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it.

A Watch Under a Tumbler.
Placing a watch under a tumbler near the bed of a sick person will give him relief from the ticking which is frequently very trying to highly sensitive nerves.—Woman's Home Companion.

A Miserable Grafter.
"That looks like some crib to crack," said the first burglar to his pal as they passed a suburban mansion.
"None o' that for me," said the pal.
"One of the biggest grafters in the United States lives there."
"How do you know that?" asked the first burglar.
"I broke in there once and he caught me wit' the goods on," said the pal.
"I had to pay him $15 to let me go."—Harper's Weekly.

Misinterpreted.
"Beg pardon, sir," said the doorman at the Staghorn club. "Haven't you made a mistake?"
"I reckon not," replied Si Cortassal.
"The sign on the door says 'No Admission,' and if they's no admission it's free, ain't it?"—Judge.

Didn't Find It So.
"Willie—All the world loves a lover. Wallie—Bully lie, you know. Nellie de Wink's pet terrier has bitten me four times, bah Jove!—Exchange.

One's own thistle field is dearer to him than his neighbor's garden of roses.—German Proverb.

Cattish.
"Do you think Oscar proposed to me merely on account of my money?"
"Well, my dear, you know he must have had some reason."—Filegende Blatter.

There is nothing so powerful as truth and often nothing so strange.—Webster.
