WELLS COMES FRIDAY NIGHT

LAST LECTURE ON ISLAND CITY COURSE.

"New Views of Rural Life" Theme of Pendleton Educator.

Island, Feb. 25.—(Special)—The last lecture on the course arranged by the Island high school, will be given next Friday evening by Superintendent Frank K. Wells of Pendleton. Mr. Wells will take as his subject, "New Views of Rural Life." This is expected to be a rare treat to people of Island City interested in that subject. There will also be music and readings on the program. Patrons of the school and people in general are invited to be present.

Ross—A thief now in a cell has invented a burglar alarm.
Hicks—He should have invented something that would have alarmed him before he became a thief.—New York Tribune.

It's easy enough to be pleasant. When fate never makes us say, "Ouch!" Put the man worth while Is the man who can smile As he keeps the lid on his grouch.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Bacon—And he is contented with his lot!
Egbert—No; there's a mortgage on it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Then to a garret's retreat He quickly went with eager feet, And, seeking in a corner there, He lifted forth with tender care An object too good to be true. Ah, how the thanks poured from his throat. For there, almost as good as new, He found his last year's overcoat!—Judge.

Began With Love Letters.

Samuel Richardson, the first English novelist, began his literary career by acting as scribe for a number of young women, for whose correspondence with their sweethearts he frequently supplied not only the words, but the sentiments. His reputation for this kind of composition led a firm of printers to propose that he should prepare a "complete letter writer" for the use of "those country readers who cannot indite for themselves." Two or three of the epistles written for this purpose suggested a separate story, "and thence," in Richardson's own phrase, "sprang 'Pamela.'"

Whistler's Drawings of Himself.

In "Memories of James MacNeill Whistler," by Thomas R. Way, the author says: "Once I questioned Whistler as to the authenticity of a black and white portrait of himself, on brown paper, which my father had bought from him and afterward fancied was by some other artist. The reply was amusing; it was to the effect that he was not in the habit of collecting the works of his contemporaries, but that at one period of his life he had made a practice of drawing his own portrait each night before going to bed and that doubtless this was one such."

To Remove a Broken Screw.

One often requires to remove a screw with one side of the head broken off. The following is a method of drawing out the broken screw with ease and without disfiguring the work: Place the screwdriver against one side of the head, and with a small block press firmly against the screwdriver, at the same time turning the screwdriver and the block. The screw will come out almost as easily as if the head were intact.

Benefactor.

"Do you know old man, that young fellow saved me from absolute bankruptcy last year?"
"How was that?"
"He married the girl I had been engaged to for months."—London Telegraph.

Cautious.

"Is Mrs. Prettyface in mourning for her husband?"
"Can't say. Only now she's in black for him."—Baltimore American.

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEANS HEARS ENDS COLDS OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; fullness and headache disappear. By morning! The catarrh, cold in head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.
