FOR THE CHILDREN

Washington's Wedding.
It was a crystalline day, the 6th of January--old style--1756, writes the author of the "First Americans." Up to a colonial mansion, the "white house," in New Kent county, Va., a spanking team of horses clattered and stopped, puffing clouds of breath on the frosty air. From the great coach a brisk faced, slow, important gentleman in scarlet dress stepped out, British from forehead to foot--his excellency Lieutenant Governor Fauquier, come with his wife to grace the wedding party of young Colonel George Washington, a new burgess in the Virginia assembly.

The lieutenant governor assisted the lady to alight. His sword clanking as he followed her, removing his belaced cocked hat, he entered to add to festive brilliancy within. The dark eyes of the comely little bride, the "widow Custis that was," were bright. She greeted them with dignity, softened by a desire to please into the graciousness that is southern. In white satin threaded with silver she wore pearls entwined in her soft brown hair. Her little feet in high heeled slippers, "the smallest fives" (shoes are numbered differently now), twinkled with buckles of brilliants. Point lace ruffles fell about plump, tapering arms and bosom, and, adorned with bracelets and necklace of pearls; she looked tiny beside the tall bridegroom in his costume of blue lined with red silk, embroidered white satin waistcoat, gold knee and shoe buckles and sword.

A Month of Birthdays.
February ought to be proud of the fact that so many great men were born during the month, the shortest in the year. Here are five:
There was Charles Dickens, who wrote so many beautiful books. He was born on Feb. 7
You all know whose birthday we celebrate on the 12th--the birthday of the great and good Abraham Lincoln. It is a fine thing to be a great man, and it is a fine thing to be a good man, but it is a wonderful thing to be a great man and a good man too.
Then, of course, the 22d is the birthday of George Washington.
James Russell Lowell, a famous poet was also born on Feb. 22.
Last, but by no means least, is Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, whose birthday comes on the 27th.

Game of Garibaldi.
In playing this game it must be remembered that Garibaldi does not care for "e's"; therefore no word containing the letter "e" must be used in answering the questions asked.
All the players sit in a circle, and the game begins by one asking his left hand neighbor, "What will you give to Garibaldi?" and the answer must be given before the leader finishes waving his hand slowly three times or a forfeit must be paid. Then the one questioned turns to the one next to him on the left and asks him the same question, and so on around the circle. For instance, one would give a gun, one a book, one a sword and belt. This last having an "e" in it, a forfeit must be given.

Here---everywhere---in the frozen north---in the fever ridden swamps of the tropics they look to me for aid. To the invalid, the convalescent, the old, the infirm, I give real helpful service. A little of me goes a long way.

TO ORDER YOUR SUIT FROM A TAILOR - TO - THE - TRADE CONCERN, EXPECTING TO GET JUST AS GOOD as the local tailor could make and find that it does not suit you as well as a Hand-Me-Down?

If the man who took your measurements and descriptions for the "send-away" was to give the same measurements to a local tailor what do you suppose the results would be?

I buy the goods from the woolen mills, have them made by custom tailors in Chicago. If I understand my business of measurements and descriptions you will get a good fitting suit of clothes. The fact that it is made in the basement, on the roof across the street or in Chicago makes no difference to you so long as you get a suit that looks good and feels good to "muh."

I guarantee to deliver the goods and
