Baskets of Dainties. Save the grape baskets to fill with dainties and see what charming Christmas gifts can be made. Line the baskets with dark green tissue paper and fill them with oranges, red apples, nuts, clusters of raisins, figs, dates, grapes and candy. Small glasses of jelly, homemade cookies, individual mince pies or plum puddings add to the value.

To the Cynics. Christmas comes but once a year. Do not make a jest of it. 'Tis a season of good cheer. Cynics spoil the zest of it. Now a respite, brief repose. Let us make the best of it. Drawn our many weary woes. Christmas, we are blest of it.

Christmas comes but once a year. Children love the zest of it. Now a message glad we hear. Harkon to the best of it. Just good will and wishes kind. And your love, the best of it. If we're poor—well, never mind. Laugh we will and jest of it.

Christmas comes but once a year. Money's not the best of it. Hearts alone can help and cheer. Christ has made the best of it. Whatever may befall. Sorrows or the rest of it. Merry Christmas comes to all. Even those who jest of it. —New York Times

Ruskin on Doctors' Fees. The problem of the doctor and his fee was admirably stated by Ruskin in his "Crown of Wild Olive." Writing of doctors, he said: "They like fees, no doubt—ought to like them—yet if they are brave and well educated the entire object of their lives is not fees. They, on the whole, desire to cure the sick and—if they are good doctors and the choice were fairly put to them—would rather cure their patient and lose their fee than kill him and get it. And so with all other brave and rightly trained men their work is first, their fee second—very important always, but still second."—London Standard.

Getting It Right. It was on a street car in the city of Washington. Two colored women in cheaply gorgeous splendor were talking and one chanced to mention a Mr. Jinks in her conversation. "Excuse me," said the other woman, "but his name is not Jinks. It is Mr. Jenks."

"Oh, I see," said the other woman complacently. "I see that you puts de access on de pronoun."

Literally Speaking. Little Elsie was reproved by her mother for saying "What?" She was told that she must never use that expression, but say, "I beg your pardon." The lesson evidently went home, for a little later she turned to her mother and inquired, "Mamma, I beg your pardon time is it?"—Boston Transcript.

Two Rings. Heck—They say a ring around the moon is a sign of rain. Peck—So is a ring around a woman's finger a sign of reign.—Boston Transcript.
