Eastern Oregon News

A Progressive District. (Pendleton Live Wire.)

One of the most progressive school districts in the county is Tumalum district No. 4, three miles north of Freewater, according to Superintendent I. E. Young. Principal W. W. Green has taken the matter of industrial work up with them and the patrons have gone in for it in the poultry line strong. A meeting of the patrons of the school was held week before last, and each family pledged themselves to furnish a setting of eggs to one pupil, if they have children attending school, but if they have none then to some other child attending school. They are making their principal efforts along three lines of thoroughbreds, namely the White Orpington, White Wyandotte and White Leghorn. A poultry show will be given some time this fall, presumably in November or December when the birds will be given to a competent judge and the winners will be sent to the Pendleton poultry show for competition here.

This district is also going in strong on the home credit system, which is so strongly recommended by State Superintendent Alderman. They have their card out and the parents are looking after giving every pupil the credits for work at home.

Lots of Fun, No Damage. (Pendleton Live Wire.)

A fire alarm was turned in about 2:15 this afternoon from the west end of town which was followed immediately with an alarm from the central station and another from the south side of the track. Everything seemed to be so confused that no one knew which way nor where to go. The hook and ladder truck was hauled from Cottonwood up to Vincent street then south to Bluff thence down Bluff to Aura, then across the town north again to Court street and the place of alarm finally located in the kitchen of John Estes, where a fire had burned out which made the stove burn much better. The only damage recorded to date is that the wind of some of the fire ladders was somewhat the worse for wear.

Such things as this only emphasize the fact that some system of fire alarms is needed that will tell the people where to go when a fire occurs. After such a run as the hook and ladder boys made, had it been an ordinary frame house on fire, they would have arrived almost too late to have been of much benefit, yet it was not their fault for they were working hard all the while to do their duty.

Re-Hearing in Log Rate Case. (Baker Democrat.)

Robert Service, intervenor in the case of the Baker Commercial club vs. the Sumpter Valley Railroad company, known as the Baker Log Rate case has received information from Chairman Clyde B. Aitchison of the state railroad commission that the commission has ordered a rehearing in the case, which will be held in this city on April 7, beginning at 10 a. m.

The commission recently ruled in the case, the details being well known, and the little difference has reverted to Baker log shippers in view of the fact that the company does not feel bound to handle other than its own logs or to switch its own cars on private sidings.

Mr. Service is at a loss to understand the order for the rehearing at this time, but he and the other parties are hopeful that the commission will uncover something new to the advantage of the shippers and belief is expressed that such may be the case. The Sumpter Valley officials are also in receipt of notification from the commission that the case will be reheard on the above date.

Vanderbilt Has Fifty-five Racers.

Though W. K. Vanderbilt's horses won only $85,000 on the French turf in 1912, whereas he had for the four preceding seasons led the list of winning owners, his stable this year will be as large and powerful as usual, there being fifty-five horses in the care of William Duke at St. Louis de Poissy.

In addition to his horses in training Mr. Vanderbilt owns fifty-six brood mares, including seven recently purchased from the late Mr. Keene, which arrived safely in their new owner's farm, the Harau de Quenay, in Normandy, and five stallions. One of these, the first class racer Northeast, has been leased to Mme. Lemaire de Villiers, who bred the fast colt Montrose II. The others are Maintenon, Prestige, Seasick and Oversight, the latter a son of the American horse Halma, by Hanover.

BAKER, CAPTAIN OF PRINCETON'S TEAM. winter the athletic reports all showed encouraging balances derived from the game. The only places where it doesn't pay is in the colleges where it is impossible to accommodate big indoor arena crowds. Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Harvard and Columbia are very fortunate indeed in this respect, for they have the rinks in New York, Boston and Syracuse available.

The winter will see some fast hockey this season, for, according to the reports which come from the different college camps, the sevens will be stronger than last year, and the fight for the college title will be hard fought. Harvard, which college claimed a tie with Princeton for the title, will have one of the strongest teams in the history of the sport at the Cambridge institution. Princeton, with three of last year's veterans, including the star, Hobe Baker, has a good start to lay the foundation for the varsity. At Yale four members of the 1912 team are eligible. Yale will not play outside of New Haven this year. Columbia also reports favorable prospects.

Interest in Princeton's team centers in that great player, Hobe Baker, who is considered to be the best college stick wader in this country. Baker is a great deal faster on the ice than he is on the gridiron. He was the man around whom Princeton's attack last year was developed. Baker is a spectacular player, and it was no unusual feat for him last year to carry the puck the distance of the ice and shoot goals. He will be a dangerous man again this year, for he has his teammate, W. Kuhn, back to work with him. These two form an excellent pair of forwards. In fact they are hard to beat. The only other player from last year's team will be T. Simmons at cover point. Peacock, a rattling good player, is not eligible. Princeton will have a very fast line, but unless a backfield is developed the seven may be top heavy. A good goal tender, a big essential in hockey, must be developed.
