JUNKET TO BAKER NEAR

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN TO ATTEND

Y. M. C. A. FESTIVAL

Opening of the Big "Y" at Baker to Be Witnessed by Local People

YMCA

Baker is planning for a big three-day opening of their splendid new Y. M. C. A. building. The program begins on Friday, the 28th, and lasts over Sunday. Several La Grande business men are going in a body on the Friday afternoon pony to attend the first evening's program and to inspect the building.

Baker and La Grande have often exchanged visits on public work and it is most encouraging to both cities to see their business men show such interest in the work of the Y. M. C. A. La Grande men have steadily grown to realize two facts, first that La Grande needs a good Y. M. C. A. building and second that La Grande is as able as Baker to build a home adequate to the needs.

The program at the Baker meeting is as follows:

Friday, March 28th.

Public reception from two to five, 8 P. M.

Overture—Haines orchestra.
Prayer—Rev. W. W. MacHenry.
Remarks—C. H. Breck, Chairman committee.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. Percy Breck.

Remarks—J. B. Rhodes, State secretary.
Piano Solo—Mrs. Judge Burke.

Report of Building Committee—Dr. F. T. Notz, chairman.
Orchestra Selection—Haines orchestra.

Remarks—J. A. Churchill.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Helena Bonnet Powell.

Address—Bishop R. L. Paddock.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Bernice Stuller.

Remarks—E. M. Brown, General Secretary.
Benediction—Rev. Edwards.

Saturday, March 29th.

Free use of the gymnasium and plunge to boys from the age of twelve to fifteen, from 9:30 a. m. to 12 m.

8:00 p. m.—Gymnasium carnival under the auspices of the gymnasium committee.

A small admission of twenty-five cents will be charged for the carnival, to apply to gymnasium equipment.

Sunday, March 30th.

Men's Mass Meeting, 2:30 p. m.
Address—R. R. Perkins, of Portland

Musical—Haines orchestra.
Cantata given by 25 voices under the direction of L. J. Hinkle.

ROSSMORE'S BANSHEE.

Its Terrifying Wail Heralded the Death of His Father.

In "Things I Can Tell" Lord Rossmore relates that he himself was born in Dublin in 1853. His father was the third Baron Rossmore, who married Miss Josephine Lloyd of Farrinry, County Tipperary, and whose death was duly heralded by the banshee.

"Robert Rossmore was on terms of great friendship with Sir Jonah and Lady Barrington, and once when they met at a Dublin drawing room Rossmore persuaded the Barringtons to come over the next day to Mount Kennedy, where he was then living. As they retired to bed in good time and slept soundly until 2 o'clock in the morning, when Sir Jonah was awakened by a wild and plaintive cry. He lost no time in rousing his wife, and the scared couple got up and opened the window, which looked over the grass plot beneath.

"It was a moonlight night, and the objects around the house were easily discernible, but there was nothing to be seen in the direction whence the eerie sound proceeded. Now thoroughly frightened, Lady Barrington called her maid, who straightway would not listen or look and fled in terror to the servants' quarters. The uncanny noise continued for about half an hour, when it suddenly ceased. All at once a weird cry of 'Rossmore, Rossmore, Rossmore' was heard, and then all was still.

"The Barringtons looked at each other in dismay and were utterly bewildered as to what the cry could mean. They decided, however, not to mention the incident at Mount Kennedy.

NEATNESS IN ATTIRE.

It Not Only Impresses Others, but is a Factor in Self Respect.

The fixed habit of presenting always a neat and cleanly appearance to the world is sure of a double reward. It not only creates a favorable impression, but begets a sustaining self respect. It is scarcely reasonable of a man who does not respect himself to look for much consideration from others. It is not the cost of clothing, but the scrupulous care of it that counts. The man of slender means should be neither "tippy" nor "sloppy," but always tidy and neat in his attire, seeing himself with the coldly critical eye of a possible employer to whom an applicant's dress may mean much more than his address or political department.

Style in writing, as defined by the fastidious Chesterfield, is the dress of thoughts, so the true style of the average man may be correctly surmised from the care he takes of his personal appearance. He needs not be finicky, but should always be free of grease spots and dust. He should like his bath even if it has to be taken by means of a bucket. He should never neglect to brush his hair, his shoes, his teeth, his coat, trousers and hat. If he can't afford a pressing iron he should put coat and trousers under the mattress and sleep upon them. If laundry is a serious item, he should wash his own handkerchiefs, dry them on the window panes and never by any chance be seen with a soiled one. Philadelphia Press.

Which?
"If you feel chilly, said he as they strolled, 'remember I have your shawl here on my arm.' 'You might put it around me,' she said demurely. 'I'll' Philadelphia Press
