Reception to Pastor and Family.
Zion's Evangelical Lutheran Congregation will hold a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton 2106 Second street to Rev. and Mrs. Drahn who have just arrived in the city to take charge of the congregation. The ladies of the congregation are making the necessary arrangements and will provide refreshments for a large attendance. It is hoped all the members and friends of the congregation will be present to meet the newly elected pastor and his wife and to enjoy what will be a most pleasant social event.

Zion's church has made a splendid showing since it was organized as an English Lutheran congregation about a year ago, but owing to the many other duties of missionary Schoenberg which necessitated his absence a good part of the time, has been in need of a permanent pastor. Rev. Drahn has now been called to give all his time and energy to the local congregation and as there are many hundred Lutherans in and around La Grande, rapid development of the field is anticipated. Already new interest has been evidenced in every department of the work and it is expected that a large attendance will be out at the reception Friday evening.

TROOPS FIRED UPON

Street Car Strikers Fire at Detachment of Regulars Seen on Street.

Buffalo, April 9—Sergeant Wardup, Seventh regiment, United States army, while commanding a dozen scouts on special mounts, was fired upon by a gang of street car strike sympathizers early today. No one was hurt and the assailants escaped. General Welchoch has ordered the militia to fire on any man seen picking up a rock.

Representatives of the strikers have telegraphed to Governor Sulzer protesting against calling out the militia. They insist the men are willing to submit their grievances to arbitration. Three regiments of militia were ordered out today in response to an order from the uprene justice court. The company refuses to arbitrate. At noon no cars were operating on any line except one car on Main street.

OUR STOCK EXCHANGES.

Small in Some Ways Compared With Those of London and Paris.

So much is said about the bigness of things in this country and especially in regard to money matters that we not infrequently get a wrong impression of our relative size.

Take the stock exchanges as an example. In many respects our American exchanges are small affairs compared with those in Paris and London. On the average daily speculation in London far exceeds that in New York and Philadelphia combined. There are more than 5,000 members of the London exchange, 1,100 in New York, fewer than 250 in Philadelphia and only 70 in Paris. London has nearly 10,000 listed securities, while Wall street has under 1,000, of which almost exactly two thirds are bonds. The par value of London's list is nearly double that of New York and Philadelphia together. The London exchange pays a dividend to members of 100 per cent. To be a member one must own at least three of the 20,000 shares of the exchange. These shares are $65 paid in, but sell for about $950. No one broker may own more than 200 shares.

Membership in the Paris bourse is now worth upward of $400,000. There a broker must put up a guarantee fund of $50,000 against failure. In London the commission charged by brokers to buy or sell a stock the price of which is between $50 and $100 a share is 25 cents, and over $200 it is 50 cents. Payments for stocks bought in London are made only once every two weeks on a given settlement day, whereas in this country all settlements must occur within a working day.—Philadelphia Ledger.

OMAHA KNOWN AS THE GATE CITY OF THE WEST.

Metropolis Struck by Cyclone Has Many Fine Industries.

Omaha has claimed the sobriquet of Gate City ever since before 1894, when the Union Pacific was begun and when it was the most northerly outfitting point for overland wagon trains to the "far west."

It stands on the west bank of the Missouri, opposite Council Bluffs, Ia., 492 miles southwest of Chicago on the Union Pacific and the Missouri Pacific, and occupies a site of over twenty-four square miles on an elevation 1,030 feet above sea level and eighty feet above the river, crossed at this point by several bridges.

The superior location of the Gate City has caused it to become the home of many prosperous industries, and prosperity has resulted in the establishment of many educational institutions, buildings attractive for their architecture. Omaha is a city of churches. Among its industries are those of packing cattle, hogs and sheep. Omaha ranks third among cities of the United States in packing. There is a good deal of silver smelting, as well as distilling, brewing and manufacture of steam engines.

Important among the buildings are the courthouse, city hall, public library, containing 70,000 volumes; the federal building, Coliseum hall, seating 12,000; Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal cathedrals, hospitals, state institution for the deaf and dumb, the New York Life building and the office of the Omaha Bee.

Omaha has a city university and is the seat of Creighton university, the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Brownell hall, St. Catherine's academy, the Presbyterian theological seminary, the Omaha Medical college and the Creighton Medical college. It has a magnificent high school building.

In maintenance and operation the city has been spending annually nearly $1,500,000, the principal items of the budget being about $375,000 for schools, $295,000 for debt interests, $120,000 for the fire department, $80,000 for the police department and $80,000 for municipal lighting.

Historically the site of Omaha figures as the place where Lewis and Clark in 1804 held a council with the Indians. J. B. Royce in 1825 built a stockade and trading station there. The first permanent settlement was made in 1854. The growth of the city has greatly increased since the Pacific railroad was completed. The population is 130,000, making it Nebraska's metropolis. The name Omaha was taken from a tribe of the Dakotas that inhabited the region.

CO-EDS IN "DON'T WED" CLUB.

Students of Wellesley Form Odd Organization.

Students of Wellesley college have started a club the object of which will be to prevent a member from marrying until at least three years after her graduation and then only to a man with an income of $5,000 or more.

The club is to be known as the Wellesley Marriage club. It has been organized by the daughter of a Chicago business man, who says that it is the beginning of a chain of similar clubs to be started shortly in all of the large women's colleges. Many of the smaller schools, she said, were planning such clubs.

The election of officers for the Wellesley club is to be held as soon as the membership reaches 100.

HORSE BOOSTERS ORGANIZED.

Wealthy Men Form Body to Advance Interests of Equines.

The horse is to have a boosters' association. August Belmont, Harry Payne Whitney and a number of the wealthiest and most prominent horse lovers in the country have entered an organization to promote everything "horsey."

Headquarters of the association will be maintained in New York and Providence, R. I. A campaign of horse promotion has been mapped out that would appear beautiful if it were not for the bigness of the names that are behind the project.

The name of the association will be the National Association of Allied Interests Pertaining to the Horse.

"Yes," answered Subjabs; "new buildings are the only kind we put up."—Boston Transcript.

The Test of Time

Time determines whether the policies under which a bank is operated are safe.

This bank has been in business twenty-six years.

It has grown steadily until it has become one of the strongest and most prosperous financial institutions in the West.

The soundness of its policies is attested by the long list of conservative business men who transact their business here; also by an earned surplus of $130,000.00, the work of time and the result of conservative management.

This bank has facilities for taking care of more high grade business and offers its services to those who appreciate the best in banking.
