

ANNETTE PIERCE MEETS SAD FATE

HAINES GIRL HAS TROUBLE
HERE RECENTLY.

Jumped Into Prominence as Horsewoman in This City.

Annette Pierce, the victim of a jealous Japanese musician at Oakland Wednesday night, when she was shot and killed after a desperate duel in which she fought for her life unsuccessfully, has a large acquaintance in Union county. The girl first jumped into prominence some five years ago when she came down from her home in Haines and won a cow girls' relay race at the local fair grounds. She hails from a horseman family, her father owning several fast animals, some of which performed in the race meet here last fall. After that memorial ride she was little heard of locally until last summer when she became involved with the law in this city and was ordered out of the city by Chief of Police McLachlin. She went to Oakland from here and, it appears, was there married to Frank Orsatti, the 22-year-old son of Morris Orsatti, vice president of the International Savings & Exchange bank of Los Angeles.

RIVIERA IS SCHOOL'S NAME

FINAL PLANS FOR NEW BUILDING
SELECTED.

Four Rooms on Each Floor and Full Equipment Throughout.

Final plans according to which the new north side school building is to be erected, show that spacious rooms and comfort is to be the lot of teachers and pupils in the new North Second school house. The Riviera school is the name the institution is to be designated by according to present plans, and complete specifications for the building are now in the hands of the architect, John Slater, with the sanction of the school board affixed.

On the ground floor, reached from the North Second street entrance, will be four class rooms, each 23-10x 31-8. The central corridor leads to each room, to the office, the cloak room and toilet. The second floor rooms are 24-4x32, four rooms, with cloak and toilet rooms and no emergency room. Electric fans, steam heating plant, and all the fixtures and appointments that go with a modern building are provided. It is to be built of selected red brick, reinforced concrete steps and approaches. The time for letting bids is near at hand and the actual construction is but a matter of a few days in the future.

Notice to the Public.

All closets in the sewer districts must be filled in. This becomes imperative at this season of the year as flies will soon be with us and water closets are a source of breeding and should be taken care of immediately. Otherwise official notice will be served by the health department of the city and the proper owners compelled to comply to this request or the city will fill these cess pools and closet holes and charge to the property owners. O hope that this notice will be sufficient.

Boys Ride Too Fast.

Harley Richardson, E. Vehrs, Harold Goddes, motorcyclists, Jerome Foley and Neil Suydam, autolists, form a brace of local recreation lovers who are held as the awful example of speeding. Chief of Police McLachlin has opened the summer automobile and motorcycle crusade against speeding and rounded the named for fast driving yesterday. Others are said to be slated for the example route.

CURIOUS MANX LAWS.

Food and Drink Alone Are Taxed and Debtors Are Imprisoned.

In some respects the Isle of Man is one of the most backward portions of the British empire. All the revenue is raised by taxes on food and drink. There are no death duties, no property tax, no land tax. The working classes are unprotected as well as overtaxed. No factory laws exist, and no attempt has ever been made to limit the hours of shop assistants, although Manxland is essentially a nation of shopkeepers. Then, although usury is forbidden by law, imprisonment for debt is still legal and is commonly resorted to.

Yet Manx laws, although backward in some respects, are in other ways well advanced. Every woman, widow or spinster, in the Isle of Man, be she owner, occupier or lodger, enjoys the parliamentary franchise. Every widow enjoys half her husband's personal estate and has a life interest in his real estate, and she cannot be deprived of this by will.

The sale of cigarettes and intoxicants to children was forbidden in Man for years before such a prohibition was enforced in England. Englishmen have legislated mildly against money lenders. The highest interest that can be charged in the island is 6 per cent, and that has been the law for over 200 years.—Chicago News.

LUXURIOUS KITCHENS.

They Used Silver Lined Saucepans in the Old Days in Rome.

While the housewife today prides herself, and with reason, on the equipment and conveniences of her establishment, she need not think that centuries ago other women in other lands were not equally well provided. Indeed, the kitchens of Roman women were much more luxuriously fitted out than are most kitchens of today.

Now, in the days when the Roman empire was at its height, if you went into the culinary department of an elegant establishment you would find saucepans lined with silver and pails of various description richly inlaid with arabesques in silver and shovels that were handsomely and intricately carved. Egg frames, too, that would cook twenty eggs at once and pastry molds shaped like shells and an infinite assortment of gridirons, frying pans, cheese graters and tart dishes.

The toilet tables of the Roman women were well supplied in the same lavish fashion. Ivory combs, perfumes, cosmetics, hairpins, even an elaborate hair net of gold, have been recently unearthed. Safety pins, too, which have for a long time been considered a strictly modern invention, could be found on their tables. But they had no brushes nor any glass mirror, the kind they used being of silver or other white metals.—Chicago Tribune.

"Pall Mall."

Even the British, the London British, are not agreed upon the proper pronunciation of "Pall Mall." The Pall Mall Gazette has published scores of letters on the subject, one from J. Henderson Couter, being in part as follows: "It really does not seem to matter much whether Pall Mall used to be 'Paille Maille' or 'Pawli Mawli.' Both are probably incorrect etymologically. I had an old grandmother, one of the old school. Were she alive today she would be about 110. She always spoke of it as 'Pell Mell.' But, then, she preserved most of the old fashioned pronunciations, such as 'laylock' for 'lance,' 'obleege' for 'oblige,' 'sawlingers' for 'sausages' and 'gould' for 'gold.' This may have been, and probably was, a sheer affectation on her part. Anyhow, she tested a new manservant by hearing how he could knock on a front door."

Some Old Beliefs.

The old beliefs persist in southern Europe, and a tragic comic instance reaches me from Venice. A cockatoo, kept by a British resident as a pet, had been accustomed to promenade about the roof garden when the family went up there. But one day recently it extended its constitutional to a neighbor's roof and was promptly shot by him. He subsequently offered as a complete explanation the plea that he thought it was an owl and that there was a very young baby in his household. Now, students of ancient Greek and Roman augury know that the perching of an owl on the roof foreboded death to one of the inmates, while Ovid is among those who charge screech owls with sucking the blood of infants.—London Express.

Domestic Discipline.
With a rod unsparring.
Sternness that amazed.
Up from youth to manhood
Grandpa was raised.

By a milder method
Sweetening the cup
Through his days of childhood
Father was brought up.

With a zeal respectful,
Wonder in their eyes,
Johnny now is studied
By his parents wise.
