COLD IN THE HEAD.

Its Constant Recurrence May Not Only Be Serious, but Fatal.

There are all kinds of colds. Spring, summer, autumn and winter, all furnish the means for a cold. In medical literature there is no such disease described as a "cold," yet almost everybody is more or less susceptible to this condition.

The writer used to suffer with "cold" in the head, throat, windpipe, bronchial tubes, stomach and bowels. That was before he learned that an abundance of fresh air—day and night air—was absolutely necessary to build up a high state of physical vigor and vitality to avoid "taking cold."

The most common form of this complaint is a cold in the head. In this condition there is an inflammation of the mucous membranes which line the nasal chamber. This is naturally self limiting. Nature allows the disease to run its course when recovery spontaneously takes place. This condition may be very mild, yet the constant "taking cold" may result in great damage and lead to fatal diseases.

The nasal cavities have direct connection with the eyes, ears, throat, lungs, stomach and bowels. When frequent colds, inflammation or congestion occurs in these vital parts and the "germs" or "filth" which is the direct cause of the trouble overcomes the "gizzer" in the blood and membranes the "germ" or "filth" is carried to one or all of the organs or parts of the body and may result in some disease that terminates fatally.—Professor George A. Keene in Health.

Tall Men in Demand By League Heads

If the average height of the twirlers on any major league team was secured it would probably be found that it was close to the six foot. The New York Americans are boasting of two pitchers, Keating and Caldwell, who stand over six feet tall, and other clubs are thankful that they have a bunch of big fellows to do the twirling.

They will have to step some, though, to equal a trio of pitchers on the staff of the Phillies. Eppa Rixey, Jr., tops all the twirlers in the National league. He stands six feet five inches high, while Gaddy, a youngster from the coast, and Earl Moore each stand six feet two inches high.

The New York Giants can boast of such human skyscrapers as Marquard, Tesreau and Mathewson, and McGraw is going in for more big men.

So keen is McGraw to sign giant twirlers that he actually got Perryman's name to a contract last year before the youth had won a game. Last year Perryman pitched for Richmond, Va. He won five games in twenty last season. McGraw says he will give the youngster all the coaching possible, in the hope that he will turn out to be another Tesreau.

Would any such encouragement be given to a youth of five and one-half feet? Not by a jugful. If a chap who is short of stature, but long on brains, wants to get a good trial in baseball he wants to cut out the pitching and catching and try for an infield or outfield berth.

Ideal Accommodations For Crowds. Blackburn Rovers, one of the big English soccer teams, can accommodate 70,000 spectators in its grounds.

Too Much For the Englishman. A professor from Iowa went to England last summer and was introduced to a professor from one of the English universities. He welcomed the American and said: "I met one of your colleagues last summer. We had another professor from Ohio here to visit us." "But I am from Iowa." "Iowa, indeed. How very interesting. I am sure the other gentleman called it Ohio."—Lippincott's.

Civil Service Examinations.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announces that a forest and field clerk examination will be held in this city April 26 1913, for the purpose of securing eligibles from which selection may be made to fill vacancies in the Forest and Reclamation services as they may occur. The salaries paid are from $1200 to $1500 per annum. Employment in the Reclamation service will be in connection with the Sun River and Milk River reclamation projects in Montana, probably at Fort Shaw (a camp town on the railroad), at the Sun River Diversion camp, about 20 miles from the railroad, at Malta, Montana (a town of about 800), and at Vandalia, Montana a diversion camp on the railroad. The work will last for two or three years, and capable and efficient employees will probably be in demand for transfer to some other reclamation project when the present work is finished. There are good prospects of advancement, which is conditional only on demonstrated efficiency.

Applications for forest and field clerk must have a knowledge of stenography, typewriting and bookkeeping. Apply at once to the secretary, Eleventh U. S. Civil service district, Seattle, Washington, for application form 1371.
