The Neighborhood Club held a very interesting and instructive meeting Tuesday afternoon. The paper on "New England Life," in the short story by Miss Cowell, was very much appreciated. "The Women Who Picture Real Life," by Mrs. George Palmer, was equally as good. Mrs. Schilke then opened the discussion for civic improvement. Her remarks were genuinely good and plainly brought to light the vastness of club opportunity in this work. The club considered "South America and Mexico" as an outline of study for next year's work. The near opening of the great Panama canal is going to direct the attention of the entire civilized world to the South American continent while Mexico, too, is the theme of the hour.

Mrs. Thompson entertained the Parkdale club Wednesday. A delightful reading, entitled "Jane and Ann" was rendered by Mrs. M. G. Carroll as only Mrs. Carroll can. Current topics were discussed informally. After a three-course luncheon and with the song "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," the club adjourned to meet next time with Mrs. Carroll, that being the last meeting for the winter.

The dancing party to be given a week from tonight by the E. B. D., a baker's dozen young men of the city, promises to be the crowning event of that club's social ventures. Each committee to which arrangements is entrusted, has done its work well and the members are going to make this May party one grand success.

Mrs. Fred Swaney was hostess to the Bridge club this week, honors going to Mrs. H. C. Gaddy.

The afternoon division of the Kaffe Klatch was delightfully entertained by Miss Margaret Kirk this week.

Mrs. Richard R. Duignan entertained at her home on Ash street Thursday afternoon. A dozen guests were handsomely entertained, delicious refreshments fittingly climaxing the afternoon.

Thursday evening, May 1, the Women of Woodcraft gave a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Chas. Gore in honor of Mrs. Lula Day who leaves in a few days for her home in Iowa. A large number was present and the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. Mrs. Day was presented with a beautiful cut glass dish. Delicious refreshments were served. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

ASSESSOR'S VIEWS GIVEN

election over my signature, in which Umatilla county's assessor (C. D. Strain's) method was commended.

Mr. Strain is recognized as one of the best posted men on methods of assessment in the state, and probably has made a greater effort to list lots and other credits for taxation than any other assessor in the state for a period of ten years, and he advises me that Pendleton was never more prosperous than now, judging from the increase in population, and further says that interest rates on farm loans have not increased.

In following this course I am but fulfilling the demands of the state law which law has been upheld by the supreme court of Oregon. I have no desire or disposition to "drive capital out of Union county" as has been stated, for I am a permanent resident here and just as anxious as anyone for this county's prosperity.

However, law is law. Sometimes it is not as I would like it, but as law-abiding citizens it is the duty of each of us to obey the mandate of our statutes.

Very respectfully
U. G. COUCH.

Dealer Recovers Commission.

This morning the case of W. R. Berry vs. Tildon Boothe was tried in justice court. Plaintiff was suing for a commission on a real estate deal. Berry found a buyer for Boothe's all right, but Boothe did not want to pay, because Berry was assisted in making the deal by another real estate broker, according to his evidence. Berry recovered his commission claimed, amounting to $100.00, and judgment was entered accordingly. R. J. Green was attorney for the real estate broker.

School to Resume Session.

The La Grande Business College will resume its sessions Monday over Young's candy store, two doors from the postoffice. This is the announcement of Prof. Taylor today following the destruction of the former location by fire yesterday morning.

Sommerville Case Heard.

Charged with "jumping" a board bill, W. A. Sommerville, employed in local tailoring shops and for a time a collector, has been brought from Baker and was this afternoon put on trial in Justice William's court. Chief of Police Reilly of Baker was one of the witnesses called by the state.

Boise Loses Four.

Pendleton, Ore., May 3.—(Special)—"Peerless Joe" Berger was in invincible form today and blanked the Irrigators, five to nothing, thus making it four straight for Pendleton. Gimlin worked Johnson, his new southpaw, who came from Spokane and, though he started out like a world beater, he lost control of his curves. This with a couple of costly errors behind him spelled opportunity for the Bucks. In the fourth Rader, Varian and Hawthorn hit consecutively and a boot by Altermatt let in two runs. Two passes and a bingle in the fifth filled the bases again and thereupon Johnson did as Pittman did yesterday, walked in a score. Then when Gard threw the ball way, another runner registered. Johnson's balk in the seventh was responsible for the final score. Boise had but four men left on bases. Dougherty hit a homer in the third but the umps ruled that he Johnson and Gard.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all dealers.

READING THE ENVELOPES.

They Tell More Than the Name and Address to the Postman.

Envelopes often tell me more about a man's financial standing than could the best "private inquiry agency." You can't "swank" a postman. And when I deliver on a certain day every month an official envelope with the relief stamp of a furniture firm on the back of it I know pretty well that the envelope contains the receipt for an installment on the furniture. When that envelope fails to turn up I keep an eye open for the other signs of impending bankruptcy.

An envelope with a crease down the middle has obviously been inclosed in another envelope. This tells me the handwriting of the householder and the kind of stationery he uses. When I deliver one of these day after day at the same house I know that the occupant is out of work and is answering advertisements. But when the envelopes stop coming I am left to wonder whether the applicant has been successful—or can afford no more stamps.

Sometimes there is tragedy in envelopes. There was a young fellow who used to stare down at me from behind the window curtain—so anxious to see what I'd got in my hand that he wouldn't wait till I'd pulled the bell. I soon tumbled to his job, for by nearly every post there would be a long envelope creased down the middle, showing it was a return. A writer he was.—Pearson's Weekly.

MAGNETIC CLEOPATRA.

Her Manner, Rather Than Her Beauty, Was Her Chief Charm.

The only authentic portrait of Cleopatra that is known to archaeologists is a bust which appears on a series of coins. It is on the reverse and bears the inscription in Greek, "Queen Cleopatra, the Divine, the Younger," while on the obverse is a portrait of "Antony, Dictator For the Third Time, Triumvir."

The workmanship of the coin is far from good, and this accounts in some measure for the undeniably plain appearance of the queen. Yet the likeness, as far as the features go, is a true one, for the other coins of the same series, though of a different type, give her the same features, an aquiline nose, a strong chin, a long neck and narrow shoulders.

The fact is that her beauty was not so remarkable as one would think from the spell she cast over Caesar and Antony. Plutarch, for instance, tells us "that her beauty in itself was by no means incomparable nor calculated to amaze those who saw her," but adds that the magnetic charm of her manner, the gracefulness of her movements, the persuasiveness of her conversation and her figure were most attractive.

Enjoyed What He Paid For.

It is interesting to note the effect that reputation has on those who are not good critics of the efforts of public performers, as a clerk in a downtown bank was telling.

"I happen to know a celebrated concert artist," he said. "One evening she was in the city and had nothing to do, so she came up to our very humble flat in Harlem to spend a quiet, homelike hour or two. The night was warm, and the windows were open. After dinner she sat down at the piano and sang several songs for us. The next day I heard that one of our neighbors complained loudly about the 'yelling' in our flat and said that such nuisances ought to be prohibited. Two nights later that same neighbor paid $2 a seat for himself, his wife and his daughter to hear our friend sing at a concert."—New York Sun.

Butter Must Be Marked.

(Union Republican.)

G. F. Hall, of Union, has recently written State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. D. Mickle regarding the marketing of butter, and the commissioner responds at length, stating in effect that "all butter sold, exposed or offered for sale in rolls, prints or squares must be plainly marked, etc., in printed wrappers, and marked '1 ounces full weight, with the words 'Dairy Butter' thereon with the maker's name, etc.' A penalty is attached for failure to comply. The Republican regrets that it cannot run the law in full this week, but finds it impossible to do so. Parties interested can see the ruling of the State Dairy Commissioner at the Republican office or at Hall's store.
