announced a contribution of $100. Following that came the announcement of the United Artisans with $200 and other lodges are said to be in the running with announcements later on. The fraternal orders' gifts are invariably greeted with loud applause and some of those which give have to stretch a point to make the contributions.

The noon-day luncheon, the last that will be held, was as well attended as usual today and a vote of thanks was given to Dr. J. W. Loughlin who has had in personal charge the arrangements of each luncheon. Dunham Wright, the Medical Springs savant and philosopher, and Cove property owner, was present today and spoke feelingly for this work to the edification of the diners.
