A very pleasant party was given by Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Hall at their home on Second street Thursday evening of this week. Progressive Five Hundred was the game chosen for the evening and the cards ran in more than ordinary good luck to most of the guests. Scores were large and in several instances the hands played were almost spectacular. At 11:30 o'clock following the last hand, careful computation of the different scores showed Mrs. J. J. Carr as the winning lady and Mr. Carr closely followed with the honors from the gentlemen's side. The latter decision excited the curiosity of several of the gentlemen guests and an investigating committee headed by E. E. Kirtley sat to determine the justice of Mr. Carr's claim on the prize. In rendering the decision, which absolved Mr. Carr from any wrong doing, Mr. Kirtley explained, "that whitewash had not been used by the committee in the case of Mr. Carr, but the committee does find him the just and proper winner of the prize, perhaps by luck, possibly by vigorous use of his pencil undetected, but certain it is that his work is so smooth it is not possible for this august body to discover fraud." At midnight delicious luncheon was served, the card tables being formed into one long table through the center of the spacious parlor. As the date happened to be on the 21st anniversary of the wedding of General and Mrs. E. B. Bragg conversation drifted into reminiscences of days ago greatly to the pleasure of all, especially those who occupy the "Johnny-come-lately" class, for Grande Ronde history is rich with humor and sparkles with interesting characters. Mr. and Mrs. Bragg have been actively associated with the valley and its people during their wedded life, hence the tinge of life, vigor and actuality was ever present.

In all the history of La Grande high school, there has been nothing so well arranged, well decorated and successfully carried out as the banquet Thursday night, given by the Juniors in honor of the Seniors.

The decoration scheme was artistic the extreme, bouquets were grouped along the balustrade of the balcony, making a refreshing appearance symbolical of the spring time spirit of the gathering. Pennants of various schools and colleges were hung along each balcony furnishing a college-like atmosphere. The rest of the decorations carried out the colors of the Juniors and Seniors. Streamers of light green and white (the Senior colors) were suspended from the light on the ceiling, radiating outward and downward; also of purple and gold, (the Junior colors.)

Various other decorations out of crepe paper were brought out. At one end of the hall was a large Junior pennant and at the other end a Senior pennant, each one backgrounded by a large American flag.

Two long tables placed parallel to each other accommodated the banquetters and were spread beautifully. The menu served was dainty and delightful and the menu cards were made in the shape of the Senior class pin. The domestic science girls served.

Responses were brought forth by the toastmistress, Bess Stoddard, from Mildred Bush on "To the Seniors," from Leon Adams "To the Faculty," from Milton Stoddard "To the Juniors," and from Mr. J. D. Stout "To the L. H. S."

The toasts were well rendered and heartily received and thus a tie between the Juniors and Seniors and the faculty was firmly cemented.

The Senior class will remember through life the beautifully conceived and successfully managed banquet given them by the '14 Juniors.

The Neighborhood club met Tuesday afternoon. Important business was transacted after which a splendid program was rendered. The annual election of officers will be held May 27th, and on June 3rd the club ladies expect to end the season's work with a club breakfast which will be held at the home of Mrs. P. A. McDonald.

Mrs. W. B. Boch arranged one of the several big parties of the week when on Thursday afternoon she entertained 40 guests at Five Hundred. Pretty decorations centering around sweet peas added splendor to the occasion. Honors at Five Hundred went to Mrs. M. B. Donohue, high, Mrs. Grace Molitor, second, and Mrs. Chas. Conkey, third. A delicious three course luncheon followed cards, and Mrs. Boch is credited with having entertained at one of the most delightful

One of the most enjoyable social events of the week was the reception given by Mrs. Bay and Mrs. C. W. Noyes at the Noyes home Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. David Bay of Portland. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bay belong to the old pioneer families of this valley and made their home in La Grande for many years before moving to Portland a couple of years ago on account of Mrs. Bay's health. Much pleasure was accorded the old neighbors and friends who called during the afternoon to have the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Bay, and chatting over mutual pleasures. During the afternoon dainty refreshments were served and much praise was given the hostess for the gracious manner in which they received and entertained the guests. They were assisted by Mrs. D. C. Crawford and Mrs. Chas. Murchison. Mrs. Bay returned to her home in Portland on Wednesday.

The Parkdale club met at the elegant new home of Mrs. M. S. Carroll Wednesday. It being a business meeting of electing new officers the program was dispensed with. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Lee Humphreys, president; Mrs. Hattie Stilwell, vice president; Mrs. M. S. Carroll, secretary; Miss Bertha

On the day that on which a new president is elected for the Tuesday Musical the ensuing year, Mrs. E. C. Moore, retiring president, leaves for Portland to make her home. Her husband is now employed with the O-W there and Mrs. Moore goes to make Portland her home this evening. Always foremost in the musical ranks of La Grande, she has been especially so this year as president of the Tuesday Musicales, and no person could give more attention and hard application to her office than has Mrs. Moore and it is doubtful if the club will again in years have a more competent general than it had in Mrs. Moore. Her innumerable friends and musical circles will miss her.
