BOYS SAVE STORE.

Quick Work and Cool Heads Save Co-operative Store From Damage.

Headwork and prompt action saved the Union County Co-operative store from serious damage by fire last evening when three boys passing the store discovered that a box left on the store stove had been ignited and was flaming up. One turned in an alarm from box 12, Adams and Depot, the other two hammered down the door and with bare hands shoved and pushed the fire box into the street. The fire department was on the scene at the moment the box was hurled to the street and there was nothing for it to do. The place was slightly smoked but did no material damage. Those who figured in the rescue were slightly burned.
