CHINAS SENT TO WALLOWA

SHIPMENT OF FOUR CRATES IS SENT THERE.

Forest Supervisor to Look After the Young Pheasants.

Wallowa, June 25.—(Special)—The remainder of the China pheasants arrived in Wallowa last Friday from the state game farm at Corvallis. The shipment consists of four crates of China pheasants, which were placed on the private land state game preserve east of this city and also one crate of Golden pheasants were received by Harry W. Harris, superintendent of the Walla national forest. The latter birds are approachable, being semi-tame. Mr. Harris will build a park on his ranch and keep them in captivity. These birds are small, and with their chicken mother are quite a novelty. The fish and game commission wish to create as much interest as possible in game and its protection.

Mill Arising From Ashes.

Already the new plant of the Baker White Pine Lumber company is arising from the ashes of the destroyed mill, and if the work continues to progress at the present rate, it will be running again by the first of August, if not sooner. The weather yesterday caused the enforced lay-off of the concrete men, but their part of the work has gone along well and the first floor is fast nearing completion. The new structure is being built even better than the one destroyed and will be more substantial in every detail. About 75 men are employed and nothing is being left undone to finish the work as soon as possible says the Baker Democrat.

Advertisement for RONA DUTCH COCOA featuring an illustration of a woman and a child at a table, and a tin of cocoa. Text: 'Housewives! Make this simple test! Get a can of Rona Dutch Cocoa from your grocer's. Compare it with domestic cocoa this way: Use only one-half a teaspoonful of Rona Cocoa to the cup while you use a teaspoonful of the other. Use only half as much sugar to the cup of Rona. Then add boiling water. Now compare the rich, chocolate flavor of Rona Dutch Cocoa with the color and taste of the domestic cocoa. That's the test that proves the superiority of VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA. You'll find that Rona Dutch Cocoa dissolves instantly—that it has no sediment. That's because of the Dutch process. You'll also find it sweeter, richer, and more palatable than any other cocoa. And the cost is much less than any other cocoa. It's the only one that's so good and so cheap. C. S.
