SHIPPERS TO OBEY THE LAWS

FAKE PACKS AND LABELS NO LONGER PERMITTED.

Shippers in General to Be Prosecuted
by Food Commission.

Portland, June 26.—The conviction of a leading fruit grower of The Dalles yesterday by a court there for labeling green and unripe cherries as fancy stock, is but the start of a movement to make the fruit industry honest, according to J. D. Mickle, state dairy and food commissioner, who secured the conviction.

According to the commissioner, the way is now open for the state to enforce the law in regard to the mislabeling of fruit products. The label on the package must tell the truth or a conviction will follow, is the warning that is sent out by the state official.

The state recognizes the habit of "topping" fruit in packing but according to Mr. Mickle, any material difference between the top of the package and the inside will result in conviction hereafter.

It has now been found that any grower in the state who ships to Portland any article that is mislabeled can be brought to trial here instead of the state being forced to prosecute in the home county of the offender. This, according to the dairy and food commissioner, will simplify matters and make it unnecessary to prosecute the dealer here, who is said to be innocent of what is in the middle of the package.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

AN ANECDOTE OF M'KINLEY.

His Gentle Rebuke to a Department Chief's Subordinate.

President McKinley's scrupulous loyalty to his cabinet officers is spoken of as one of his characteristics. It is said that he never went over the heads of his secretaries to consult an assistant, but held each to responsibility for his department.

Of all the events of his administration probably none was a source of more anxiety to him than the decision of the supreme court on the status of the colonies. It was a matter of great moment whether the highest judicial body should uphold the view of the administration that the constitution sanctioned the possession of colonies which were not granted full representation. There were conflicting rumors and forecasts of the color of the decision, and these added to the tension felt at Washington. Shortly before the announcement of the finding of the court a subordinate officer of one of the departments appeared at the White House at an unusual hour and insisted upon seeing the president on the plea of important business. Having been admitted, he came at once to his errand.

"Mr. President, I have some good news for you. I have just learned authoritatively that the decision of the supreme court is to be in your favor." He fairly glowed with the importance of his welcome message.

"Thank you," said Mr. McKinley quietly. "That is good news. But have you informed your chief?"

"No, Mr. President. I thought you ought to be the first to know it."

"Well, Mr. —, I'm sorry for that. Now, will you please do me the favor to go at once to your chief and give him the information so that he may communicate it to me?"—Silas Harrison in Century.

Your landlord had the foresight to build for you because he knew you would need a home; he is much better off if you had had the foresight to build for yourself.
