is particularly delighted to have been able to secure it for the opening days. This is the first season that this organization has appeared before the Assemblies of Oregon, California and Utah, and great interest is being manifested in its debut.

The quartet is made up of four artists of established reputations who have proven their artistic worth namely:

Zilpha Ruggles Jenkins, soprano whose high, clear and beautiful voice is of never-failing interest whether in the quartet or solo work.

Ruth Waterman Anderson, contralto, who, as one of the musical critics said, has one of those rare voices, namely, a true deep and gorgeous contralto, of which few are possessors; a voice that reaches the heart of the listener.

Carl Edwin Anderson, tenor, famous for concert and oratorio work both in New York and the west, possessing a voice and an art second to none.

Lowell Moore Redfield, baritone, an example of the virile type of singer whose intensity of manner and beauty of voice captures and holds an audience.

Mabel Hill Redfield, accompanist than whom there is none better as a brilliant and sympathetic pianist.

Ng Poon Chew came to America a mere lad over thirty years ago, and has obtained all his English education in this country.

He has lectured before all manner of audiences all over the United States during the last fifteen years striving to effect a better understanding between the two peoples.

Immediately before the Chinese revolution, Ng Poon Chew visited China and spent about a year traveling over the greater portion of the country, studying the economical, social, political and educational conditions of the country.

Ng Poon Chew is one of the principal speakers at the coming meeting of the World's Christian Conference at Portland.

Local Chinamen are to hear a lecture from him while here, to be delivered in his native tongue this evening at a Chinese banquet.

PROVISION FOR AUTOMOBILES

Machines and Teams Can Line Up on the Grounds This Year.

For the first time since the chautauqua was started, the facilities in the way grounds will permit automobiles being left on the grounds during the programs. It is possible that teams can likewise be left on the grounds. Boy Scouts will guide the auto owners to the fences where machines may be halted and the congestion in the street will be relieved in that way. Automobiles carrying passengers to and from the city must load and unload at the gate. Those coming to spend the day or to attend a program can unload passengers at the pavilion door and immediately move away to the region assigned to automobiles. Scouts will patrol the district keeping prowlers away from cars and in every way attending to the comfort of all.

Mrs. Schrader Added Feature.

A great treat is in store for the Chautauqua; during the whole assembly Mrs. Pearl Hutton Schrader of Spokane will be in attendance to sing for preludes and upon all occasions when entertainment is needed. She is a great singer and has sung with the Chicago Operatic company and other musical organizations, so that her musical ability must be of the highest. She has a large repertoire, both in classical and home music. There will be lots of stars in the musical line at the Chautauqua this year.

Mrs. Schrader is one of Spokane's foremost musicians, and is a personal friend of several La Grande people, who vouch for her abilities. It is probable she will render an entire program, but she will be heard every time.

Famous Soil Expert Coming.

C. L. Smith, the agriculturist of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company will spend the entire week at the Chautauqua, especially for the purpose of aiding the farmers at home to solve the problems with which they are confronted.

Any farmer who has a problem, either in a contrary soil, seed, fruit, or stock raising should come to the Chautauqua and have a personal talk with Mr. Smith. He will give lectures on farming subjects and personal talks on individual problems, peculiar to La Grande's farming territory.

LUNCH ROOM LEASED

Chas. C. Miller and Wife Will Do Cooking at Park.

The chautauqua people feel that they were fortunate in leasing the cooking a dining privilege to Chas. C. Miller and wife. Mr. Miller is a first class cook and has had long experience in catering to the public.

The dining room is a pretty little screened in bungalow where flies will be reduced to a minimum and everything will be clean and neat. At meal time meals will be served cafeteria plan at popular prices. At all other times meals will be served on short order plan. Sandwiches and coffee, and any quantity, to sell at any time.

CHILDREN'S HOUR NEW

Children to Be Given More Consideration This Year.

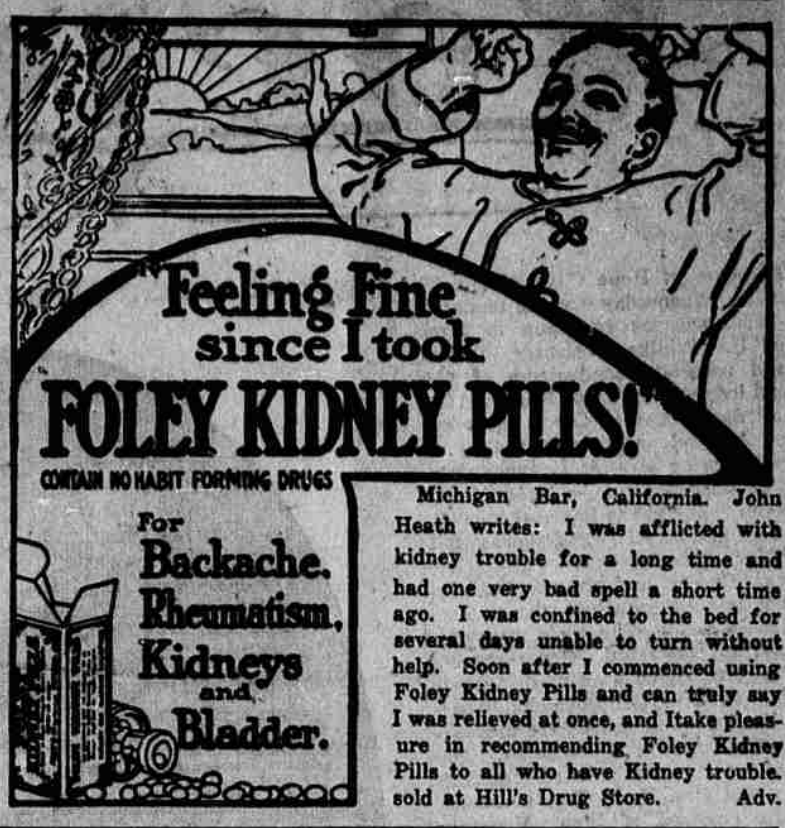

A plan that mothers will greet with delight, is the establishment of a children's hour during the forenoon. At that time tots able to walk handily and girls and boys up to nine or 10 years of age, will be taken care of by competent teachers. The plan is to establish a miniature kindergarten and drills, cradle songs and nursery rhymes will be taught the children.

drills provided, stories told and in every way possible provided instructive entertainment for the children giving the mothers an hour of rest and recreation. There is no excuse for mothers keeping away this year, as the play ground facilities, the creche, the children's hour in the morning will keep little boys and girls extremely busy all day. The heads of the children's hour will be local women principally who are versed in the entertainment of infant classes and juveniles.

W. C. T. U. headquarters this year will be made especially useful. Plans for establishing a creche during the hours of evening attractions especially are now under way and it is possible that the plan will be extended for morning and afternoon attractions so that mothers can leave their children in competent hands at the W. C. T. U. headquarters. A competent person will be left in charge, the chautauqua board feeling that money spent for maintaining such a feature is well spent. For the experimental stage it will be maintained during the time of evening attractions principally, babies in buggies being especially welcome. Mrs. Maggie Hermann, a competent nurse, will be in charge of the creche.
