MONDAY, TUESDAY AND MATINEE

SPECIAL LIST OF EXHIBITS

OWNERS OF PURE-BRED STOCK INTERESTED.

Entrance Money to Be Split Between First, Second and Third.

Special contests for owners of pure-bred draft horses have been arranged for the coming county fair. There will be three classes, and in speaking of the special event today, Secretary Se-Cor explained the events as follows: "All horses entered in this contest are not barred from the other entries as this contest is conducted for the owners and is not a part of the fair but will be held at the fair the request of several horse owners."

"The entrance fee to this contest will be $10.00 for each horse with mares and colts. The money received will be returned to the winners of the three prizes divided as follows:

Fifty per cent as first prize; 30 per cent as second prize, and 20 per cent as third prize.

"The events are:
"Class No. 1, light bone pure blood stallion with three grade mares and colts.

"Class No. 2, pure blood draft stallion with three pure blood mares and colts.

"Class No. 3, pure blood draft stallion with three grade mares and colts.

"Every owner is urged to enter this contest as we are sure that you will be well pleased with the results. The entries close at noon of October 8th, and for further information write or call upon the secretary.

CHAS. McREYNOLDS DEAD.

CHAUTAQUA SESSION ENDS

SPLENDID PROGRAM SEES FINAL CURTAIN.

Excellent Weather Prevails—Campers Moving to Town Today.

Blessed with delightful sunshine and marked with the top-notch performance of its kind, the fourth annual chautauqua faded into history last evening about 11:30, when the "lights out" switch was turned for the last time this year. Campers are returning to the city today and within three or four days all visible effects of the session will have been erased. The mental picture will linger, for with one or two minor exceptions that chautauqua management was fortunate in its talent.

The Maude Stevens company last evening gave its banner numbers and the big audience was intensely interested for two hours. During the several performances, Mrs. Chamberlain whistler, Miss Welsh violinist, and Miss Stevens, child character impersonator, were individually and collectively stars in their lines of entertainment. They were at their best last night, whipped up with warm applause from the audience.

Walt Holcombe the lecturer, retrieved himself yesterday afternoon with his address on "The Development of Wit and Humor." It was much better than his race horse lecture of Saturday night which fell far short with a big majority and a disappointment to all. His press agency overestimated his ability on that particular speech. Sunday, he was much better liked, however.

The audience made a raid on the park booth at the close of the program and practically cleaned out the non-ferrous emporium. About midnight the Boys Scouts were marched to the booth and deluged with sandwiches, pop, ice cream and what not and practically every ounce of edibles was consumed before the lights went out on the most successful chautauqua of chautauqua history in this city.

Financial affairs of the association will be balanced during the week but it is not believed there will be a deficiency from this year's program, although a balance of $500 holds over from last year.

Terrific Storm Kills Many.

Natchez, Miss., July 7.—Several were killed at Carey, twenty miles north of Vicksburg in a terrific storm last night according to advices received here today. One report said that twenty had met death but wires are down and confirmation is impossible.

New German Fleece Game.

Berlin, July 7.—The German provincial police are endeavoring to round-up a gang of hotel thieves working an entirely new trick variously known as "The Magnet" or "The Moth and The Candle." Hotels are selected in the provincial towns which have no electric lights and few even among the best, have that. Usually a rich farmer or traveler is picked out as the victim. A beautiful young woman, called the "magnet" rents an adjoining room. Late at night the victim is awakened by a light knock on the door and a shy but sweet voice stammers out that its owner is in difficulty. Her candle or gas light has been extinguished. She has to matches.

The victim can't resist that voice. He opens the door of his room and sees in the dim hall, a picture in bewitching negligee, downcast eyes and blushing cheeks. The victim, whether young or old, feels that gallantry demands he should aid beauty in distress. No, he demurs at giving her matches. He waits upon going to her room and lighting her candle or gas himself. The lady stands at the door of her room; rarely will she enter while the chivalrous farmer is there. She is very modest. The victim is in no hurry to leave.

When he awakes in his own room, next morning he finds he has been robbed of money and jewelry. Confederates of the "magnet" slip into the room while the "magnet" was having her candle or gas lighted.

Impersonation Law Framed.

Washington, July 7.—In a resolution introduced by Cummins, making the impersonation of a federal official a felony, punishable by a maximum penalty of five years or a fine of five thousand or both, cases like that of Lamar would come directly under the provisions of the bill.

One section of the Cummins bill is

DITCHDIGGER BADLY HURT

C. N. COLEMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED TODAY.

Not Believed Bones Broken But Internal Injuries Feared.

C. N. Coleman, aged 60 years, was seriously injured today when he was caught by a cave-in on the Jefferson street water main ditch. The extent of the injuries are being determined this afternoon. It was thought by those who dug him out from the cave in that one leg was broken and several ribs fractured, but this afternoon he was thoroughly examined and so far as could be ascertained by the first hasty examination no bones were broken. He may be hurt internally and could not move his left arm and leg when he recovered consciousness this afternoon.

He was working at the bottom of the ditch being dug for the new main on Jefferson when the walls gave way pinning him under a big load of dirt.

aimed at conditions similar to those disclosed by Mulhall, former agent of the Manufacturers concerning influences alleged to have been exerted to encompass election and defeat certain members of congress. The bill makes it an offense to improperly influence any member of congress, or to speak or write any false statement so that such influence is brought to bear.

Sympathetic.

"Don't you ever find it hard to be a freak?" asked the stoutish, tightly laced woman who had stopped to converse with the fat lady.

"No, not a bit," was the reply. "I often feel sorry for some of you people who seem to find it so hard not to be freaks."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Mixed Up.

A woman stated at a recent inquest that her husband's Christian names were James Jonathan or Jonathan James, she did not know for sure which. "You see," she explained, "he was one of twins and they got mixed up a bit."—London Standard.

A Trade Union.

Ella (softly)—Their marriage was nothing but a trade union. Sophie—A trade union? Ella—Yes; she traded her money for his title.—London Telegraph.

Grand Jury Called.

To consider a few special cases, the grand jury was recalled this morning and went into executive session. No report had been filed late this afternoon.
