LA GRANDE, OREGON.

IN UMATILLA

THAT COUNTY HAS SEVERE ATTACK OF PLAGUE

Newell Visits In Pendleton and Nearby Orchards Today.

Blight is causing serious trouble in Umatilla county as well as other sections of the eastern part of Oregon. The following incidents are related by the Pendleton East Oregonian:

En route to Milton for the purpose of looking into the situation with reference to fire blight, Hon. W. K. Newell of Gaston, president of the State Horticultural board, was here for a few hours today. He came from La Grande on train No. 17 and left for the east end of the county at 2 o'clock. In Union county he was accompanied by Prof. Jackson of O. A. C., who is still in Union instructing orchardists how to combat the blight.

According to Mr. Newell the blight is the most serious thing orchardists have to contend with this year and the situation is serious. The weather conditions seem to have been favorable to the blight this spring and it is very prevalent. While originally a pear tree pest the apple trees are also affected.

The only known way of treating fire blight consists in cutting off the infected part and burning it. There is no way of relieving the trouble by spraying. As soon as the blight is discovered on a tree the infected part should be removed and destroyed. Other

London, July 9.—Clarence M. Smith California banker and financier, who has been studying European agricultural conditions with the American Agricultural commission, declared today upon his arrival here from Paris that in Italy, Germany, Austro-Hungary and France he found evidence of great interest among business men and large manufacturers in the coming Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal in 1915. He said that all indications point to a large emigration to California when the canal is opened, Banker Smith, besides being a member of the American commission, represented the San Francisco chamber of commerce and the exposition.

RABBIT PLAGUE EXPECTED.

Excess of Rabbits In Umatilla County May Be Depleted Naturally.

Pendleton, July 10.—(Special)—That the rabbits of the west end of the county will become depleted by way of a natural plague that ensues whenever rabbits become too numerous is the belief of Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian who has sent the following letter to Secretary Ritner of the Pendleton Commercial club in response to a letter from Mr. Ritner:

Salem, July 3rd, 1913.

Mr. Roy W. Ritner, Secretary Pendleton Commercial club, Pendleton, Oregon.

Dear Sir:—I have your letter of the 28th ultimo, and have written the department of agriculture to find out if they would consider any form of cooperation between their department and officers of the state live stock sanitary board. I do not know what we can expect from the department in this line as such work as has already been done has reached only the experimental stage in animal inoculation. It is altogether probable that if nothing is accomplished in the artificial inoculation line, there will arise a natural contagion this following winter in the rabbits of the west end of the county. It appears that these rabbit plagues appear whenever the multiplication reaches such a stage as to permit of the ready transmission of the disease. Therefore it seems that the now apparently dangerous limit which the rabbits have reached so far as their numbers are concerned, may be a blessing in disguise, as they must become dangerously numerous to permit of the self extinction which has occurred in Umatilla county several times before.

Yours respectfully,
W. H. LYTLE,
State Veterinarian.

Czarevitch to Sakki.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—It was officially announced here today that the young Czarevitch will be sent to Sakki, in Northern Crimea, where he will undergo a course of treatment in the famous mud and salt baths at that place. Besides the mysterious ailment with which the heir to all the Russias has been afflicted since last fall, and which is said to be incurable, he has been suffering recently from a hardening of the tissues of the left knee which the court doctors believe the Sakki baths will relieve.
