

We Have the Plant

We Have the Workmen

and we did not have to send east to get these workmen, either. They are honorable men, who make good. They will not turn out a car that is not properly repaired. They are honest with me, honest with my customers and honest with themselves. They are the highest priced men in the city, but their time, skill and labor goes on your job of repair work at the same price that other garages are charging for inferior workmen.

Bring your work to us where there is no guess as to its being done right. The cost to you is no more and the results will gratify you.

Always at your service night and day.

IS MODERATE

FAIR PRICES PREVAIL AT PORTLAND.

Cattle, Sheep and Hogs Hold Their Own In Even Manner.

Portland Stockyards, Portland, Or., July 10.—(Special).—Yesterday saw a moderate, run of all classes of livestock at the yards the totals received during the past 24 hours being 240 cattle, 30 calves, 288 sheep and 603 hogs. Trade during the first half of the day showed a fair degree of activity and the indications were for an approximate clean-up at the close.

The cattle market held its own, the best steers put up during the forenoon going at $8 to $8.25, the current quotations. Off-grade steers sold at $7 to $7.50 and fancy light-weight veal stock found buyers at $9, the top quotation for the past month. On the whole the cattle market appeared to be steady in tone.

In the sheep division there was a generally easy feeling, in part due to the slackness of the demand and in part to the poor quality of a good deal of the mutton stuff now coming. One small bunch of mixed sheep was disposed of at $4.25 and lambs averaging 67 pounds in weight, sold at $8.

The hog market showed a little improvement, the best offerings early in the day going at $9.10, a nickel above yesterday's extreme figure. Other good-grade lightweights sold at $9 while heavies went at $8 to $8.75.

Local markets today are:

HIS FOOLHARDY FEAT.

A Nerve Trying Climb Up the Face of a Steep Precipice.

In his book, "Trailing and Camping in Alaska," A. M. Powell, a government surveyor, tells how one of his party was led into a most hazardous predicament. He says:

We landed on a grassy nook at the foot of a precipitous mountain spur. After supper one of the trio tried to climb to a ledge of white spar that could be plainly seen from the camp. After an hour's hard work he reached the ledge, but it proved disappointing. He then saw that he could not descend without eyes in his toes. If he could ascend a few hundred feet he might lower himself down a draw by the help of scattering alder brush. He spent another hour in getting to that place only to discover a precipice in the path he had expected to descend.

There was another chance left; he might climb to the top of the spur far above. No living man could have clung to the face of that precipice a minute if it had not been for the moss that was rooted in the small crevices.

He continued climbing until about 10 o'clock, when he paused to look down on the campfire and the water, more than a thousand feet below him. He felt a sickness come over him, so he turned his gaze to the rock wall, a foot from his face.

When near the summit he found himself face to face with a perpendicular wall about twelve feet high. There appeared to be a small bench on top of this wall, on which he might rest if he could reach it. He sat for a few moments on a large rock that lay at the foot of the wall; then with his knife he cut niches for finger and toe holds. Holding on by these he climbed up and dug a sort of trench through the moss on the rim above, through which he might draw his body. Then he descended to the rock for a long rest before making the final effort.

He finally nerved himself to the task, put his fingers in the niches and drew himself from the rock which, with the pressure of the departing foot, said goodbye and went bumping down, down, down. The man was clinging to the side of the precipice and his death became a possibility.

Big drops of sweat stood on his forehead as he steadily worked up, up, and held with one hand while he dug the other into the moss above. Half of his body finally rested on the edge, while the other half hung in space without a foothold. It seemed impossible to move from that position until he saw an alder stem, an inch in diameter, that had grown on the little flat bench. He tried its strength. It enabled him to pull himself up and lie on the narrow bed of moss, where he thought of friends far away and his own folly.

There was but one way out and that was along a six inch shelf about 100 feet to the westward that ended on the sloping ridge. Along this a man could edge his body by holding on to the jagged places in the rock wall. He took off his shoes and set off along that sloping path, but he had to be careful not to look down from his dizzy height to the distant campfire.

The feat was accomplished safely and a thankful mortal lay on the green grassy ridge in complete collapse. His aneroid barometer recorded 2,140 feet above the sea, and his watch told him that it was halfpast 12 in the morning.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

If you don't like what you've got, trade it. Some one else, probably, can use it and may also have something that you are in need of. An Observer classified ad. will make the deal for you. Try it.
