MINING INDUSTRY ON INCREASE

Clark's Creek Likely to Be Worked Over Under Modern Methods.

Baker, July 21.—With the revival of interest in quartz mining in eastern Oregon comes also a revival in placer mining; not so much in the mode of operating in early days, but by up-to-date methods with dredger to go over the same ground, handling earth and gravel by tons instead of by the shovel. Over in Grant county several streams are being tested for this purpose, while the same is true of Baker county.

Emil Melzer and associates are extensively prospecting Clark's creek a tributary of Burnt river, and it will not be at all surprising if in the near future extensive operations are carried on there. In fact all that remains to be done is to decide the most practicable machinery necessary to extract the gold, for it is well known that the gold is there.

Mr. Melzer and associates own practically the whole of Clark's creek. The banks of the stream have produced thousands of dollars worth of the precious metal in the past 40 years. Some of this ground was worked over hurriedly by primitive methods while a great deal of it is virgin ground, which is so situated that it cannot be worked without some system whereby a "dump" is first secured. It is now proposed to begin below and work up the stream and thus have a dump at all times, a method that was impossible with so many owners in early days. We predict that the output of Clark's creek will be greater than the past when it is once worked in a systematic manner.

Tariff Denounced.

Washington, July 21.—Bitter denunciation of the tariff bill was received in the senate today by Burton, of Ohio, in the first of a series of three speeches he predicted the complete failure of the new measure, "as far as reaching the cost of living is concerned, on this result," said Burton, "the bill must stand or fall, and unless a very material reduction in prices immediately follows the enactment of the bill it will go on record as one of the worst policies a responsible party of a representative government ever adopted.

"I am unable to believe," continued Burton, "that the reduction in this bill could be permanent. The duties under the existing law must be lowered and others must be removed entirely, for we are nearing a more complete and a more systematic development, and the industries which enjoyed protection may need it in a less degree or not at all.

Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, announced that he does not feel bound to support the tariff bill in the form in which it has been reported by the senate finance committee. He stated he would give his free support in what is right in the matter.

Employment Agencies Opposed.

Seattle, Wash., July 19.—It appeared certain today that the initiative will be invoked in the interests of legislation which will abolish private employment agencies in Seattle which charge fees for their services. The petition which started circulating two weeks ago today was within a score or more names of the number required. It is charged that many of the agencies have been accepting fees illegally; that they have charged fees with no intention of finding work for their clients and that they have cooperated in underhanded ways with certain employers of labor who were fighting strikes. If this legislation is secured for Seattle, an effort will be made to have the next legislature abolish private employment agencies throughout the state of Washington, and establish free bureaus under state supervision.

WHITE SLAVERS ARE BUSY

Girl Strike Pickets Believed to Be Mingling With Underworld

Portland, July 19.—(A local paper says today) Indications that white slavers, working boldly in the guise of Industrial Workers of the World and their sympathizers, have established a recruiting station among the young girls in the I. W. W. picket line in front of the plant of the Oregon Packing company, East Eighth and Belmont streets, led Sergeant of Police Harms yesterday to call the attention of the juvenile court to conditions there.

Fully half the girls who stand before the plant all day as pickets are under 20 years of age, while many are between 12 and 16 years old. I. W. W. agitators, many of them rough men from the north end sections, mingle freely with these girls, talk with them, joke with them, and in general affect close intimacy.

A flashily dressed woman, too, has been active in the crowd for the past few days. Yesterday the sergeant heard her persuade one of the prettiest of the girls, aged 16, to "come and stay with her nights." Harms warned the child to go home to her mother and have nothing to do with persons who wanted her to accompany them.

One of the strike leaders, a woman, peremptorily ordered the little girl to come away when she saw the child talking with the officer.

To make matters worse, there is a house on the corner of Belmont and East Eighth streets, directly across from the fruit cannery, where the I. W. W. strike leaders make their headquarters. Men agitators, women and the little girls in the picket line come and go into and out of this house together. One of those seen to go into this house was the flashily dressed woman.

Outside in the yard, men congregate and lounge on the dirt bank near the girls. There is much confidential talking with the girls on the part of these men, all of whom are there as agitators or I. W. W. members to lend "moral support" to the strike.

Harms himself, who has an enviable reputation for catching and convicting white slavers, says he never saw conditions more made to order for leading young girls astray than those that exist before the fruit cannery.

"It is all wrong for these little girl pickets to be thrown in the company of rough men as they are," Harms informed the juvenile court authorities.

Last Night Sultry.

While there are no records to give authentic facts, the general belief prevails that last night was the most sultry in many years. For several hours an eastern-like heat prevailed, coming with very unusual severity.

Announcement Oregon Normal School

For teachers—The Oregon Normal school is Oregon's institution for the preparation of teachers for the public schools. The entire time and attention of the school is devoted to this purpose, and only students intending to be teachers are admitted.

The faculty—The faculty, numbering eighteen members, is chosen for the expressed purpose of training the teachers for public schools, and directs its entire energy upon this one thing.

Departments—The several departments offer every form of work required in the public schools, including supervision and school management and domestic science and domestic art. A well equipped gymnasium and athletic grounds furnish ample opportunity for training in every phase of physical culture.

Equipment—The school has at present commodious buildings in which to do its work. These buildings have every appliance for good work and are kept clean and sanitary so that the students may have the best conditions for work at all times.

Training school—The normal maintains a complete system of training schools from the first to the eighth grade inclusive, and it is in charge of skillful and professionally trained teachers.

Term begins—The fall term begins

September 15. For further information with regard to the school, address President J. H. Ackerman, Monmouth, Oregon.
