GETTYSBURG ANNIVERSARY.

See the Blue and the Gray in Reunion at Sherry's.

Probably one of the most interesting films that was ever exhibited in the United States is on at Sherry's theatre today and tomorrow. The pictures were taken by one of the leading film companies and shows the old soldiers of the north and south as they gathered on the historic battlefield in their tented city on July 4th. The picture shows vividly the good feeling between the old boys who fought against each other during the civil war and tells the story in pictures that no orator could paint in words. It is a master piece and should be seen by every loyal American citizen.

PERSONALS.

Chief McLachlin came home from Portland this morning.

Warren Chandler returned from Portland, yesterday, where he went with a train of cattle.

Councilman Fitzgerald and family motored over to the Cherry fair this morning.

Sheridan Will Rebuild.

Sheridan, Ore., July 23.—A remarkable exhibition of indomitable spirit is on display in Sheridan, where last Friday night damage of from $300,000 to $325,000 was done by a fire that cleaned the business section of the north side of the Yamhill river.

Today several concrete buildings are under way and nearly everyone is doing business again. The new main street is to be between 80 and 90 feet wide; the old one was narrow and rather a drawback to the town. Everyone is pulling with his neighbor. Before the $80,000 paving contract was let recently, there was a bitter division over this issue. The fire has brought the factions into one camp. The kind of paving and the contract price may still meet some disapproval, but the improvement is to proceed.

Changes in locations are various but the main business district will be rebuilt in about the same location, excepting for new and finer buildings.

Rainroad Trouble Ending.

New York, July 23.—An early settlement of the differences of the eastern roads and employes is predicted by the members of the federal board of mediation. Although the mediators are considering the request of the railroad officials that the arbitrators consider their demands as well as those of the strikers, it is expected the railroads will withdraw their request. It is expected that the threatened strike on the Erie railroads will be averted.

SERVED A FINE DINNER.

The Prince Enjoyed It, and the Famished Guests Politely Smiled.
Prince Leopold, the late regent of Bavaria, was extremely hospitable, receiving many guests and keeping open house, to which came in turn officers, musicians, artists, manufacturers—all the best society in Munich. Himself a wielder of an excellent knife and fork, he took the pleasures of the table seriously and desired that all his guests should do the same.

Some weeks before his last illness he fell asleep at a dinner party immediately after the first course. His guests were restrained by respect for etiquette from waking him, but continued their conversation in low tones. The servants did not dare to continue serving the dinner. The prince continued to sleep and soon began to snore. The guests continued their conversation in somewhat louder tones, but the prince slept for two hours, during which time no one left his place. The guests sat famished in the same room with a marvelously appointed dinner.

At length Prince Leopold awoke. He gave a hurried glance round the table and saw only a number of well-mannered guests successfully pretending to have noticed nothing. Persuaded that his doze had passed completely unobserved, he said, "Now let us go and take coffee."

The guests rose accordingly and proceeded to the drawing room. They were served with coffee, liqueurs and cigars. The prince, thoroughly refreshed by his sleep, indulged in a great deal of excellent conversation which lasted till midnight. The party then broke up, and the guests departed, famished with hunger, with an official smile upon their lips.

PLAY OF THE BLUEJAY.

It Likes to Tease Hawks and Owls by Imitating Their Calls.

The bluejay likes best to live in thick woods, but it often comes into open fields, orchards and near dwellings in search of food. When it discovers you it assumes a proud and angry air of conceit and defiance.

The bluejay's upper parts are purplish blue. The lower parts are purplish gray. The wings and tail are bright blue with black bars. The tail feathers are tipped with white. It has a crested head.

The bluejay builds its nest about twenty feet above ground. It is made of twigs and fine roots. From four to six eggs are laid. They are of a greenish drab color flecked with brown.

Doubtless the bluejay helped to name itself, as its common utterance is a long drawn "jay, jay, jay." This cry, with the bright blue colors, has given it its name.

While the jay sings no song it is able to imitate the calls of other birds, by which means it often attracts them. It likes to tease and torment the owl and especially the little sparrow hawk. This is done by imitating the cry of a wounded bird, which draws the hawk near. Then several jays will dart at the hawk, squealing and frolicking about in great glee. Sometimes the play ends in a tragedy, for the hawk pounces upon one of them to the dismay of the others. Jays may be caged and tamed like crows, and some writers say they can be taught to utter words.—From Bird Studies by Herman C. de Groat.

The Inartistic Frock Coat.

At the Chinese wallow in all our virtues and in all our vices, but at least let them preserve Asia from our clothes. Can you imagine Confucius in a frock coat and a top hat? I regard the frock coat as the most horrible vestment ever worn by that absurd animal—man. When I pass a bronze statue of a British statesman buttoned up in a bronze or marble frock coat I cover my eyes and shudder in a paroxysm of horror. There is only one thing worse than a frock coat in bronze or marble and that is a pair of trousers in marble or bronze. I think our sculptors ought to strike against the bronze frock coat and the marble trousers. If they must make edifies of our statesmen let them model them in their pajamas.—London Opinion

The Tongues of Belgium.

Belgium is largely a bilingual country and to a certain extent trilingual. This is indicated by official statistics, which indicate that 746,140 of the population more than fifteen years of age speak Flemish and French, that 65,637 speak French and Walloon and that 7,237 speak Walloon and Flemish. The three languages are spoken by 49,300, so that $19,014 of the inhabitants of Belgium are bilingual and 49,300 trilingual. The number of Belgians who speak only one language is 4,262, 142 and Flemish and French are pretty evenly divided between them, the speakers of French numbering 2,132, 957 and of Flemish 2,129,185. There are 6,646 returned as speaking none of the three languages in vogue in the country, but the medium in which they convey their thoughts is not indicated.
