ODD GAME IS DIAGNOSED

ELGIN AND WALLOWA PAPERS SEE POINTS DIFFERENTLY

Sun Says Umpire Flexer Leads the League With 1000 Per Cent.

Good comedy stuff is reeled off by Elgin and Wallowa papers over the game at Elgin last Sunday. The Elgin Recorder says in part of the game: Elgin's Viewpoint.

Wallowa was here last Sunday for the last game of the year in the Branch Line league, and the crowd saw seven of the prettiest innings of baseball played this season, before the Wallowa bunch decided that they were not being treated nicely enough, and took their departure in high dudgeon. Oswald was working like a Walter Johnson for Elgin, while Culver was going good for Wallowa, two hits having been secured off the former and five off the latter. And then in the seventh with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Elgin, the end came.

Culver started to make a circuit of the sacks, but forgot that a runner is required to touch them all, and missed second by about a rod. The visitors did not even deny that he missed the base, but say that the umpire did not see it. Umpire Flexer says Culver cut second, and that he saw him do it, and from past experiences with Flexer we would say that it is a safe bet that he did see him do it. At any rate, it put the action of the Wallowa team in a bad light, and we are sorry they could not see their way clear to be game and finish the game. As they refused to play there was nothing for the umpire to do but to forfeit the game to Elgin by the score of 9 to 0.

Now Comes Wallowa. Wallowa, however, sees the decision differently and after diagnosing the case carefully the Sun concludes:

"However, His Umps was not out of the hole yet by any means. Culver takes advantage of the next pitched ball and lams out a nice two bagger off toward center field. Of course this scored Maxwell. But center field allowed the ball to pass through him, and Culver took advantage of His Umps by romping home. By this time His Umps was sorely tired. It seemed no matter how hard he played, the Wallowa boys were going to get away with him anyway. But a happy thought was presented to him. It is needless to say that Pitcher Oswald of Elgin, presented him with said happy thought. "Did you see Culver touch second base?" asked Oswald. "No," says His Umps. "Well then how do you know he touched it?" says Oswald. "I don't know," says His Umps. "Well then," says Oswald, "when in doubt always play trumps." "You're out," yells His Umps to Culver, "you didn't touch second base." "All right," says Culver, "it's your game old sport," and the Wallowa boys immediately packed up for the long trip home. Elgin fans did not exactly know what to make of the whirl wind finish. It sure was a fast game. "The company was top fast for us," said Manager Marvin, after the boys got home. "It was easy to see that we couldn't beat the umpire, so we couldn't see any use in playing the last three innings." "But it's a shame," he added remorsefully, "that His Umps has to stay in such slow company. It's too bad that such good talent should go unappreciated."

DANGER LURKS IN NEW LAW

NIMRODS SHOULD FAMILIARIZE THEMSELVES WITH IT.

Game Law Does Not Run Until September; Deer in August.

A good many nimrods are going to have grief this year if they act on impulse and go hunting grouse in August. The rule for years has been the law in August about as usual but "There are no sage hens in this man's county," remarks Deputy Game Warden Orsi "and the sportsmen better not pose as sage hen hunters here and shoot grouse by mistake."

Sadly mixed as the game laws are, they will be enforced throughout the state generally according to edicts that have gone out to deputy game wardens. Every effort to stop pre-season hunting will be exerted.
