VACUUM CLEANER SALE

SPECIAL PRICE TO OBSERVER SUBSCRIBERS.

Expert Demonstrator Here to Explain Workings of a Good Machine.

To the Housewives of La Grande:

The La Grande Evening Observer has an emancipation proclamation of its own to make, one that will free all women who have been slaves to the broom and all men who have been thralls to the carpet beater. Briefly put, it is offering a bargain in a vacuum cleaner, and by an arrangement made with the manufacturing company will place this modern household necessity in the reach of all for less than half of the regular market price. Here is the offer. All subscribers to the La Grande Evening Observer may secure a Junior guaranteed cleaner for $4.85, the factory price, and those who are not taking the paper may take advantage of the offer by subscribing to the daily for four months if delivered by carrier or for six months if delivered by mail. This is the proposition in as few words as possible. Anyone interested in the plan may have the vacuum cleaner demonstrated at their home by telephoning to the La Grande Evening Observer, Main 13. Geo. Zain, a representative of the Hugo Manufacturing company, of Chicago, is here and it is his business to explain the operation of the cleaner. It is a simple piece of machinery and can be operated as successfully by a child as by an expert mechanic. It sells in retail markets at $10.00, and the arrangement by which the La Grande Evening Observer people are enable to save $5.15 is made by the company as an advertising medium. The offer will hold good for a limited time only.

NAPOLEON'S ARMY EAGLES.

They Were Patterned After the Ancient Symbol of the Caesars.

Eagles lasted only from 1805 to Waterloo. Before then it had been the custom in armies to carry huge unwieldy flags mounted on poles which, while they afforded a rallying point for their corps, also drew the enemy's fire. [illegible] for Napoleon to revive the ancient symbol of the Caesars.

At first an eagle was presented to every battalion of infantry and every squadron of horse. But owing to the number of eagles captured this allowance was cut down. All battalion eagles were withdrawn and one eagle was carried by each regiment of foot and cavalry. In 1812 a still further reduction was made and in some cases the regiments [illegible] to leave their eagles in [illegible] arsenal. These standards were also taken from all regiments [illegible] and one eagle sufficed [illegible] for an infantry brigade.

The eagle itself was eight inches in height and nine inches across the wings. It stood on a brass block three inches square and weighed three and a half pounds.

Modern colors, cumbrous as they are, are as nothing compared to the old ones, which were as difficult to hide as the big drum. Thus there existed a regular system for saving eagles. Sometimes, when the tide of war ran adversely, they were unscrewed and put into haversacks or great coat pockets. At other times they were buried, thrown into ponds or rivers, broken up, hidden in hollow trees, and, most humiliating of all, stuffed into some dead horse, to be hauled out subsequently.—Harper's Weekly.
