RIDES WITHOUT TICKET.

Conductors of Riparian Train Daily Carried Without Ticket.

The Lewiston Tribune says: "Conductors on the Lewiston-Riparian passenger train have been knowingly violating one of the fixed rules of the company for the last week by carrying a passenger without the required transportation, but in this case the passenger preferred the brakes of the mail car. This method of traveling is generally supposed to provide some revenue to the brakemen but in the case at issue the brakemen have not been able to collect the usual fare for underneath passengers between the terminals, for the passenger is a big wharf rat who has established his abode in the trucks of the mail car.

The rat was first discovered more than a week ago when the train crew was engaged in making up the train at Riparia. At that time he was making a run from the passenger coach to the mail car but little was thought of the incident until after the train arrived at Lewiston and was switched to the yards, when Mr. Rat alighted and commenced a search of the yards for food. Since that time he has been seen almost daily at the Lewiston and Riparia terminals and often ranges a considerable distance from the car in search of food but is always on hand when the train is made up for the run."

Electric Lines Are Extended.

Hermiston, Aug. 11.—The Hermiston Electric Light & Power company is extending its transmission wires to Umatilla, Echo and Stanfield, so those towns will have electric lights and power. The plant on the Umatilla is being enlarged to meet the new demands by the expenditure of $20,000. It is the purpose of the owners to supply light and power for the irrigation district in the west end of Umatilla county, and as the development of the land and the growth of the towns proceeds, to enlarge the capacity of the plant.

An organization of scientists who are engaged in the study of forest insects has recently been formed in Washington.

THE MAHOGANY MILL.

James Lick Made Good His Boast When Scorned as a Suitor.

The story of "Lick's Folly, or the Mahogany Mill" has to do with the romance of the life of James Lick, the founder of the Lick observatory.

In early life young Lick fell in love with the daughter of a wealthy miller for whom he worked. When he made known his love, which was reciprocated by the girl, the miller was angry and is said to have replied: "Out, you beggar! Dare you think of my daughter, who will inherit my riches? Have you a mill like this? Have you a single penny in your purse?"

To this Lick replied that he had nothing as yet, but one day he would have a mill beside which this one would be a pesty.

In 1854 the quiet, parsimonious James Lick surprised everybody by building a magnificent flour mill near San Jose. The mill was finished within in solid mahogany, highly polished, and was furnished with the best machinery possible. He made the grounds about the mill very attractive and began early to set out trees both for fruit and ornament.

Lick caused his elegant mill to be photographed without and within and sent the pictures to the miller who had scorned him in his youth.

Nineteen years after Mr. Lick built his mill, Jan. 16, 1873, he surprised the people of San Jose again by giving it to the Payne Memorial society of Boston, half the proceeds of sale to be used for a memorial hall and half to sustain a lecture course.—Exchange.

FIERCE ARAB DOGS.

Easy to Put the Big Brutes to Flight if One Knows the Trick.

The village dogs of Arabia are a real danger to strangers, whom they attack on sight without provocation. By strangers I mean any one except their own immediate owners, whether natives or not, writes Lady Ramsay in the Sunday School Times. They are, as a rule, great, powerful brutes, often very handsome, extremely fierce and capable of defending the flocks from wolves and other marauders. I have often been told that when attacked by these ferocious animals the proper thing to do is to sit down quickly on the ground, when they will at once desist.

But for my part I never had the courage to try this plan and had never seen it done during all my years of travel till last year. We had stopped to rest and eat our lunch in a village oda, and I was looking out from an open balcony and saw an elderly Turk coming along between some houses opposite.

Suddenly two huge dogs, barking furiously, dashed at him from an open gateway, instantly he dropped to the ground in a sitting position. For a moment I thought he had fallen and was about to see the dogs on top of him. To my astonishment they turned and fled, their tails between their legs.

Before they could return, if they would have done so, a couple of villagers appeared, helped the old fellow to his feet and accompanied him out of the range of my vision.

Not Mysticism, but Mathematics.

Mrs. Madison, whose latest hobby is the psychology and the esoteric influence of colors, was deeply gratified when her husband admitted without urging that there might be something in her theory after all.

"Dawson put me on to it today at the farm," Mr. Madison continued.

"Dawson?" questioned Mrs. Madison, amazed, for Dawson is the manager of her husband's stables and unknown among psychologists.

Mr. Madison nodded. "He says the bays eat more than the grays."

"Really?" It was a humble victory, but Mrs. Madison's face glowed with triumph. "How does Dawson account for it?"

"There are ten more bays than grays," said Mr. Madison.—Youth's Companion.

Going In For Methusalem's Record.

An ambitious new citizen, with the habit of taking literally the every day expressions of Americans, obtained a position as train caller at the Union station.

One day he had just called, "All-I-I aboard—rd for Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake, New Orleans, Chinchinatti, Buffalo, Baitmore and Nu York!"

A man ran up to him and almost breathlessly asked, "I want the last train out for Cleveland!"

The perplexed caller exclaimed, "What, you should live so long?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Limit.

It was an English ship with an English crew and an American passenger list. Two stewards were having a heated altercation and pouring forth anathemas upon each other's heads, when as a crowning insult once said to the other, "Aw, you eats just like a passenger."—Argonaut.
