SPAIN SADDLE CUT TO BITS

ONE-HANDED BUCKAROO LOSES PRIZED LAUREL

Silver and Gold Mountings Stolen and Saddle Slashed.

Pendleton, Ore., Sept. 16.—With all of the money and honors which he won at the Round-Up just closed, John Spain, the Telocaset buckaroo, is the saddest and the maddest man in Pendleton today. Well he might be for some miscreant Saturday night broke into the Round-Up stables and slashed his beautiful prize saddle which he won two years ago when he rode into the championship in the bucking contest.

Sunday morning he found it cut and mutilated, with considerable of the solid silver mounting gone. To get the valuable metal with which the saddle had been adorned, the thief had cut the ends off the tapaderos and the corners off the skirts and had scratched much of the beautiful engraving in trying to pry off other of the gold and silver trimmings. There is no clue to the culprit.

The saddle was the pride of Spain's life and he would almost have preferred losing his one remaining hand than to have had the saddle ruined.

Keeps Tab on the Shipowners.

The captains' register at Lloyd's, the great English insurance concern, has aptly been described as the biographical dictionary of the whole of the certificated commanders of the British mercantile marine. In the register are entered the date and place of the worthy skipper's birth, the record of his progress at sea, the ships he has commanded and the ships, if he has been unfortunate, that he has lost.

There is also another register, a confidential index of British shipowners and the history of their ships, the number of shares held by the owners, the trade of the ships during the year, the accidents which have befallen them and other important information. If a firm loses ship after ship, if the entries "foundered," "wrecked" and "missing" appear in succession against the names of their vessels, there is a moral to be drawn by the broker and underwriter.

Medical Ethics in China.

In an article in the Journal of Race Development on the practice of medicine in China, Dr. C. W. Young of the Union Medical college of Peking quotes this from a work on medical ethics:

"When a patient is severely ill treat him as thou wouldst wish to be treated thyself. If thou art called to a consultation go at once, and do not delay. If he ask thee for medicine give it to him at once, and do not ask if he be rich or poor. Use thy heart always to save life and to please all. So will thine own happiness be exalted. In the midst of the darkness of the world be sure there is some one who is protecting thee. When thou art called to an acute illness and thinkest with all thy might of nothing but making money out of the patient, if thy heart be not filled with love of thy neighbor, be sure that in the world there is some one who will punish thee."

Early New York.

New York city had become one of the most important places on the coast before 1750. Its great advantages were its fine harbor and the noble river which emptied into it. The other towns on the coast were shut off from the far west by the Appalachian mountains or the Alleghenies, which follow the Atlantic coast at a distance of 100 to 200 miles from it from Georgia to Maine. But the Hudson river broke through this barrier and gave New York easy access to Canada and the profitable Indian trade. In 1697 the city contained about 4,300 inhabitants, about one-third being slaves. It extended from the Battery to a palisaded wall, where Wall street now runs. All above Wall street was in the country. The population grew to about 8,500 in 1730 and about 12,000 in 1750.

Test For Silk Goods.

There is a simple method of finding out whether a piece of silk goods has been adulterated or weighted, as the manufacturers call it, with tin, and that is to cut off a small sample and burn it. Pure silk is animal matter. Just as feathers or hair, made, as every one knows, by the silkworm. Now, if pure silk is burned it will instantly curl up into a crisp mass, just as a burnt hair or feather will do, but if the silk goods has been adulterated with from 50 to 75 per cent of tin it will not do this. It will leave an ash in the semblance of the fabric, much as a burnt piece of newspaper will leave an ash that still shows the printing. The harder and more firm this ash the more tin there was in the silk.—New York American.

BE PRETTY—TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look Young! Nobody Can Tell If You Use Grandmother's Simple Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by omring the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.
