BETTER BABES SLOGAN GOOD

BETTER ATTENTION TO BABIES HAS RESULTED.

Nation-Wide Interest in Baby Contests Has Been Boon to Babies.

Since "Better Babies" has been the slogan and demonstration ideal of eugenics friends throughout Oregon and the United States and since "Better Babies" contest at the county fair this year is to be an important feature, things pertaining to eugenics are always of interest. The display of the baby crop is to be as important as the crop of horses, hogs, and pumpkins—and why shouldn't it. At any rate, a great deal of good has been accomplished in the past year or two by eugenics contests, for they have instilled greater interest in the care of babies. Pertinent to the "Better Babies" contest in this city, and taken from the same source that the table of standards is prepared from—the Woman's Home Companion—are the following interesting and instructive bits of information:

You study scientific farming and domestic science to raise bigger and better crops; to improve your live stock; to produce richer milk; to bake better bread; to have more money in bank.

Why not study better babies hygiene? To make your baby bigger and stronger? To raise the standard of health in your family? To reduce doctor's bills? To have happier children in your home?

If Your Are Nursing Your Baby Do not stop nursing him without medical advice.

Do not nurse your baby exclusively after the first year.

Eat plenty of nourishing food. Eat meat twice a day, and all kinds of vegetables and fruits.

Do not let your neighbor tell you not to eat this or that if it has always agreed with you.

Drink milk between meals if you feel the need of it, but not if it takes away your appetite for your regular meals.

Do not drink tea or coffee to excess.

Try cocoa or chocolate instead.

Drink plenty of water.

Keep your bowels regular.

Nurse the baby at regular intervals, at the same time each day.

Do not nurse oftener than once in three hours, from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Give one nursing at 2 a. m. until the fourth month if the baby wants it, but not after that age.

Sleep eight hours each night with your window open.

Lie down and relax at least an hour every afternoon.

Do not fret or worry.

Do not take patent medicine of stimulants of any sort.

The Clothing Question.

Dress baby lightly and loosely.

Do not use tight belly-bands and pinning blankets. The skirts should hang from the shoulders.

At eight weeks the pinned belly-band should be discarded for the loose knitted band with shoulder-straps.

For underwear, choose cotton and wool mixed, the thickness varying with the season and climate.

Do not overdress the baby so that he perspires winter or summer. Clothing that is too thick may thus cause colds rather than prevent them.

Do not tie up the throat except in severe weather, as throat-protectors make weak throats.

The Exercise Problem.

Do not encourage baby to play before the second year.

Let him get his exercise kicking on the bed with diapers off or creeping on a washable rug spread on the floor.

Allow him to stand when he wants to, but do not encourage him to stand or walk before he shows the inclination tion of his own accord.

The baby tied in high chair or cart all its waking hours will not develop.

During the second and third years baby will get enough exercise of his own accord if unhampered.

Do not encourage the child between three and six to amuse itself with sedentary games. Provide balls, dore and shuttlecock, hoops, jumping-ropes and roller-skates. The almost inactive child is never a Better Baby.

Then the Sleep.

Your baby should sleep alone.

The room should be well aired with windows open at top and bottom.

The baby under one year of age should have two naps daily; after that, a morning nap.

The naps are best taken out of doors.

Babies should be trained to go to sleep at 6 p. m. until six years of age, when the limit may be raised gradually to 8.

Children should never be permitted to remain up late and to share the amusements of their elders.

General Hints.

Never give your baby a pacifier.

Kill flies. These pests carry germs.

Do not strike or frighten your baby.

If your baby breathes habitually with its mouth open, see a doctor.

It may have adenoids, and adenoids mean dull children.

If your baby squints, wrinkles the forehead, blinks or pushes its head forward when looking at things, have a specialist examine its eyes. You may save it from the curses of blindness or suffering from eye-strain later.

If the baby has earache, do not use laudanum. Have a specialist find the cause. Better Babies do not have earache. You may save your baby from deafness in later years.

If Your Baby Cries, Learn the Reason.

The baby is cross because:

His food is not right.

He is fed too often.

He is fed too much.

He gets ice cream or candy.

He is fed or taken up whenever he cries.

He is dressed too warm.

He is dressed improperly.

He needs a bath.

His bowels do not move properly.

He is wet.

He is kept up too late.

He sleeps in a hot room with windows shut.

He is carried, rocked or bounced.

He is taken to the "movies."

He is given a pacifier, soothing syrup or cathartics.

The baby is happy because:

He is fed regularly.

He is fed properly.

He is dressed properly.

He is bathed every day.

He is kept dry and clean.

He is let alone.

He gets no patent medicines.

There are no flies on him.
