Society

Society "went some" this week—if it is appropriate to inculcate slang into a decorous society column. Halloween prompted many delightful affairs and prompted added frills to the club life of the city. From early in the week until tonight it has been a humming pace that society set. Several functions were elaborately staged, but through them all the hallowe'en color prevailed. Wednesday evening one of the important events of the week transpired when a group of about 15 couples were assembled in a delightful dancing party at Honan hall.

At the Wednesday evening party, curio costumes were in vogue. All the ladies were gowned in Hallowe'en attire, meaning thereby witchy, spooky and ghostly gowns, prepared especially for the occasion. Those who participated in the delightful party were: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carr. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Van Buren, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Scroggin, Mr. and Mrs. August J. Stange, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Larrison, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newlin, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ravenscroft, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, F. L. Lilly and A. A. Wenzel.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. J. F. O'Connell entertained a large circle of friends from 2:30 until 5:30 at Honan hall. Fully a hundred ladies were present to do honor to the kind hostess. Seldom has La Grande seen the spectacle of so many beautiful gowned women assembled together in La Grande, as on this occasion. It seemed the turning out day for the most exquisite dresses. It was La Grande's Fifth avenue day. It would require an expert to describe the beautiful tulles, crepe de chine, the tucks and pleats and what not that go together in this day of refined taste, to make an exquisite gown.

The decorations were flowers and ferns and the score cards and pencils were in the hallowe'en colors. After cards Mrs. T. J. Scroggin entertained the ladies with two vocal selections, and it is said friends never heard her sing more beautifully. Mrs. Bridges ably accompanied her on the piano. The Misses Gaskill contributed to the music by giving both a vocal and an instrumental selection.

When the music was over refreshments, in two courses, were served. The table decorations were in Hallowe'en colors and the entire service voiced the same sentiment. Seven little girls, daintily dressed, acted as servants.

The Mesdames Bader and Sommer, of Elgin, and Mrs. Anders, of Portland were the out of town guests. It was easily one of the prettiest and most delightful affairs of the season and all of the assembled guests enjoyed it royally.

Mrs. Robinson won first prize, second went to Mrs. Fred Kiddle, third to Mrs. R. D. Jones and the consolation prize to Mrs. W. D. McMillan. A delicious two course luncheon was served.

Members of the evening division of the Kaffee Klatch were most royally entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Meyers and Miss Margaret Newlin, at the Meyers residence, corner Spring and Ftrst. Hallowe'en was, like elsewhere last night, the keynote of decoration and a beautiful party was had. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers and Miss Newlin added specially invited guests to "those present" from the Kaffee Klatch ranks, and made all told 12 tables at cards. Mrs. J. J. Carr won the ladies' favors and Delile Green, a guest for the evening, won the men's honors. The gracious home was beautifully decorated along Hallowe'en lines of beautification, and refreshments were in keeping with the spirit of the evening. It was one of the most delightful Kaffee Klatch functions of the year thus far.

Last evening the Epworth League of the M. E. church, was host to about 200 guests in the basement of the new church on Fourth and Spring streets. Streamers of black and yellow were suspended from the corners of the room and swayed in rippling lines to the center. Jack o'lanterns peeped from every conceivable place and the walls and windows were hung with witches and black cats. Witches on the historical broomsticks were suspended from the ceilings and archways. The evening was spent in playing games, the real old fashioned games. At a late hour the lights were turned low and Reverend Fyke distinguished himself by telling a shivering ghost story. The hands and jaw bones and other parts of the body were then passed among the guests who shrieked with horror at the clever ruse. Next a large pumpkin was carried onto the floor on which was pinned the name of every lady in the room. The young men then drew the name of the lady they were to take to luncheon. After all had secured their partners the grand march, which was led by Mr. Dixon and Miss Massee, started. The long line of couples twined in and around all the corners of the hall and finally found seats in the many cozy corners. The young ladies of the Epworth League then served pumpkin pie and coffee. At 11 o'clock the guests departed for their homes and all pronounced the young people's house warming of the new church a grand success.

The first dancing party given by private clubs at the new Rex was indulged in on Thursday evening, by about 60 couples who were the guests of Norman Desleit, C.O. Ramsey, Walter Francis, Harve Bay and Charles Williamson. The spacious hall, new to many of the couples, was the scene of much merriment throughout the evening and the dancers swayed to the strains of entrancing music from nine till twelve. Excellent music and a perfect floor made the evening's dancing one of the most enjoyable of years. The young men were all that could be desired as hosts and the dancing program was arranged complete in every detail. Many beautiful gowns were in evidence among the ladies attending. A feature of the evening's dancing program was the Lancers, a dance which has been omitted from local programs for some time and that evening found favor for the first time in the season. The "moon" effect was also much admired during the moonlight waltz, being of artificial construction makes a very pretty scene for the dance. When the hour for Home, Sweet Home, came the dancers were much surprised, so quickly and delightfully had the evening passed. The punch table was presided over by Lois Given.

Hallowe'en was most fittingly observed by the Women of Woodcraft on last Tuesday evening at the K. of P. hall. The evening was one set apart for a number of new members to go through the initiation and after this was finished and lodge work was over the ladies assembled in the parlors and enjoyed a number of games and other amusements. These were followed by a short musical program. After all had tired of games and social visits a ghost lead the way to the dining rooms which were appropriately decorated for the occasion. Here delicious refreshments were served. The committee in charge received many words of appreciation from the departing guests who pronounced that the evening had been the most enjoyable of the year.

The ladies of the Lutheran church met at the O. R. Stageberg home on Thursday afternoon of this week. The afternoon was spent in discussion of the needlework sale which is to be held in the near future. Many pretty articles were made and contributed during the afternoon hours. All the ladies who did not bring their needles and work were provided with something to do. It was decided to make the most of all time from now until the sale and the ladies of the parish society are very busy. After work was laid aside the ladies enjoyed a short social hour during which light refreshments were served.

On Wednesday evening about 75 men of the Methodist church, and a number of the business men of the city gathered in the basement of the new Methodist church and enjoyed an informal social evening. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock after which the toastmaster called upon various business men and pastors of this city for toasts which took the form of short talks upon lines of religious advancement in the city. The diners banqueted and talked until late in the evening. It was a much enjoyed evening because it brought the business men into close touch as they sat elbow to elbow at the long table and talked in common of the things which are nearest the hearts of most of the Methodists at the present time.

Mrs. R. L. Duignan entertained a number of ladies at her home on Washington avenue on Wednesday afternoon of this week in honor of Miss Hazel Duignan of Dallas, Oregon, who is here visiting her brother, R. L. Duignan. The afternoon hours were most pleasantly spent in sewing. A light course luncheon was served by the hostess late in the afternoon. The guests in attendance to meet Miss Duignan were: the Misses Irene Murphy, Marjorie McCall and Mary Pennington. The Mesdames, Archie Bacon, Herman Seigrist, Harve Bay, Lute Dunn, Wall, Frank Connors, A. W. Nelson, Lloyd Striber.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bay entertained the Pincle club at their home on Adams avenue on Tuesday evening of this week. It being Hallowe'en week, Mr. and Mrs. Bay went into "details" and provided a numerous amount of numbers not on the usual calendar of events of that club. The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion and the luncheon served by the hostess was one to conform with Hallowe'en and was served in a novel cafeteria style. A. W. Nelson won the honors.

The first program of the Neighborhood club at the regular session last Tuesday afternoon was much enjoyed by those present. The subject under consideration was the early history of Mexico, its people and art, and papers were read by Mrs. Bragg, Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Hill. Mrs. Palmer's plan of having all business that is to come before the club pass first through the hands of a committee, is looked upon with favor by all club members. This plan relieves the tediousness of the long discussions at the club sessions that have been necessary under the old plan, and has become necessary as the business of the club has grown in volume and importance until it is almost impossible to get through with it in the allotted time. The next meeting will be November 11, and not November 4th as stated in year book.

Misses Leona Newlin and Blanche Black delightfully entertained the members of the D. L. T. club a "hobby" party, given last Thursday evening. Each guest came dressed to represent their particular hobby and much fun and merriment was created. The Newlin home was prettily decorated in English ivy and autumn leaves. A dainty three course luncheon was served and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. Those present were the Misses Charlotte Jones, Lucile Pierce, Minna Ash, Helen MacDonald, Wilma Osterling, Miriam Smith, Vera Joel, Inez Knowles, Nita Hunter and Florence Happersett.

Miss Iva Clare Love entertained a number of her young friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Love, on Pennsylvania avenue last evening. The young folks enjoyed all the customary hallowe'en games and pastimes. Early in the evening hours delicious hallowe'en refreshments were served the little guests.

Miss Juanita Haisten, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. F. D. Haisten, entertained a number of her schoolmates at a birthday party which luckily fell on the hallowe'en evening and so brought many opportunities for added fun, which were well taken care of by youngsters in attendance. The Haisten home on N and Sixth was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the refreshments and games played during the evening were in keeping with the hallowe'en customs. About 22 were guests of Miss Haisten on this, her 14th birthday anniversary.

Miss Bell Edwards, domestic science and art teacher of the high school faculty, assisted by members of the teaching force, gave a delightful party in honor of Miss Riddle's birthday this week at the home of Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe on Ninth street. A number of ladies were present to wish Miss Riddle a happy birthday and the evening was greatly enjoyed. True to her "official" title Miss Edwards proved that she had rightly acquired it by the tempting luncheon which was served to the assembled guests during the evening hours.

Mrs. Turner Oliver will entertain the afternoon division of the Kaffee Klatch next Friday afternoon.

The Happy Hour club meets next week and Mrs. F. E. Shumard will be the hostess. This club did not convene this week, the previous meeting coming out of turn.
