GASSETT IN NEW BUILDING

FORMER LOCATION SOLD TO C. A. SMITH.

Cove Personal and Commercial Items of General Interest.

Cove, Or., Nov. 3.—(Special)—C. H. Gassett's new building is completed and the moving of his stock of Candies, cigars, etc., to his new location is under way. Mr. Gassett extends a cordial invitation to all his old customers and friends to come and see him at his new place. Open November 1.

Ray Duncan has sold to C. A. Smith, of Cove, the property formerly occupied by C. H. Gassett as a confectionery store. The deal includes the lot, building and the furniture and fixtures. The consideration mentioned is $3000. Mrs. C. A. Smith has decided to open a short order restaurant in the building just purchased from Ray Duncan, and just being vacated by C. H. Gassett. Mr. Smith expects to carry a full line of fruits, confections and tobaccos and has plans prepared for the erection of a bake oven adjoining the rear of the present building. A complete bakery department will be in full operation in a few months.

Mr. C. A. Smith has sold his 10-acre fruit ranch near Cove, to Mrs. Dolly Surby, of Cove. The consideration mentioned was $3500.

Opera House at Cove Sold.
Gay Dutton has purchased from J. M. Mitchell, of Cove the opera house here. The building is perhaps known as the Maccabee hall. Consideration $2,000. The new owner contemplates extensive improvements. A lease to a new manager will be executed about November 1st.

Mr. Walter Ragsdale, of Harrison, Idaho is in Cove on business. Mrs. Ragsdale will be here for about one week, then leaves to visit his father at Walla Walla before returning to Harrison.

TAMMANY PUT TO TEST

was "good and dead," and then returned to New York to hold impressive obsequies and hint how powerful was Tammany in the destruction of those who don't bow to "the chief". From their standpoint they fell down when they declined to bar him from holding further office. No sooner had they turned their backs than Sulzer came out with the most virulent attack on Murphy that has ever been made on a Tammany "Chief." He told how the "Boss" offered him "all the money he wanted" when he was inaugurated, and then followed the offer up with dictation on every appointment within the governor's power to make. Sulzer turned down both the money and the dictation. For this Sulzer was impeached. Sulzer's very plausible story was spread broadcast throughout city and state, and the result was the hottest fight that the tiger ever got into.

Edward E. McCall, the Tammany candidate for mayor was portrayed by Sulzer as Murphy's go-between. Sulzer told how McCall, formerly a supreme court justice and now head of the Public Service Commission, always referred to Murphy as "the chief."

New York never before saw such a municipal campaign. The tragic death of Mayor William Jay Gaynor, at sea, cast a damper on the beginning of the struggle, but this was soon forgotten in the heat of battle, and early in October the rival factions were at it hammer and tongs. That "politics makes strange bed fellows" is nowhere more true than in New York City, during a mayoralty election. Old party lines were entirely lost sight of. Republicans and Democrats lose their identity. In the present campaign it has been Fusion versus Murphy's Tammany. Had Mayor Gaynor not died, there would have been three candidates, with Gaynor an Independent. When Murphy decreed, in the little back room at Delmonico's, that McCall should be "his" candidate, Gaynor announced his independent candidacy, without endorsement by any party, and a crowd of more than 10,000 Gaynor Leaguers, a voluntary organization, crowded City Hall Park and nominated Gaynor by acclamation, as he stood, too weak to speak, on City Hall steps. The Fusionists nominated John Purroy Mitchell, a Wilson Democrat, for mayor, and on the same ticket placed District Attorney Whitman, a staunch Republican, for re-election. Whitman at the same time accepted an endorsement of Tammany. This, of course, was one of Murphy's clever moves to keep the notice craft issue out of the campaign, but at the same time assured Whitman a practically unopposed election.

Then came the Independent Leaguers, headed by William R. Hearst, who endorsed Mitchell and some of the other Fusionist candidates, but played directed into Murphy's grasping hands by repudiating other members of the Fusion ticket. The places of the repudiated candidates were filled up by their own selections. This left some candidates for office on all tickets, and rival candidates for other offices. On no ticket were party lines drawn.

The injection of the Sulzer impeachment into the fracas brought popular interest to the boiling point. Mitchell added fuel to the flame by openly declaring there was fraud in the registration. Murphy, through his usual underground channels (Murphy himself never talks) demanded a grand jury investigation. The grand jury merely told Mitchell that if he had any communication to make to it, it would be glad to hear it, and dropped the matter. Although it was a merry little internecine strife while it lasted, a fight which New York and some politicians are not likely to forget. Marquis of Queensbury rules were suspended. The stranglehold, double Nelson and toe holds prevailed and back turns were popular. May the best man win tomorrow.

New Jersey Campaign Over.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 3.—New Jersey's campaign is ended today. It is all over but the shouting as far as the election of a governor and a legislature, together with the election of numerous city and county officers, is concerned. All candidates ended their appeals today and the voters will give their answer at the polls tomorrow. Many Jerseyites declare tomorrow's election means an expression of opinion—and the first from any state—on President Wilson's administration, since Wilson has openly declared for Acting Governor Fielder, who assumed to the office of chief executive when Wilson resigned to go to the White House. Fielder has continued the policies started by Wilson when he was governor. He has continued to turn down the bosses and has turned a deaf ear to every suggestion from "Jim" Nugent, state boss for many years, and ex-Senator Smith, on whom Wilson, when governor, waged open and relentless war, in every policy of administration and legislation.

Democratic predictions are that acting Governor James F. Fielder, Democrat, will be elected to the chief executive ship, defeating former Governor E. C. Stokes, Republican, and former state Senator Everett Colby, Progressive, not to mention the Prohibition, Socialist and other candidates. Claims are made also that the Democrats will remain in majority in the legislature, thus giving them continued control of state affairs and state officers. But Republicans are also making claims of success today. The supporters of Former Governor Stokes are figuring out a Republican sweep that will elect him and return the party to control of the state. The Progressives see a great slump for both old parties and the election of Colby, although in their most optimistic moments they are not counting much on the legislature.

Democrats base their claims for success in the split in the Republican ranks, due to the break with the Progressives. They declare Governor Fielder will poll practically the entire Democratic vote excepting only in Essex county where his war on Smith and Nugent may result in some cutting. The Governor's recent repudiation of the Smith-Nugent crowd, it is believed will cost him votes in Essex, the home county of these old time leaders, but is expected to make him support elsewhere.

Boils Are a Bad Indication

No Time Should be Lost in Purifying Your Blood.

At the first appearance of pimples and boils the blood should be given a good searching internal bath with S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier known to man.

This remarkable remedy has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In a few minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every excretory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder, to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the skin that cause boils and other skin eruptions.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that all eruptive places heal.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. Beware of any effort to sell you something claimed to be "just as good." If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to the Swift Specific Co., 212 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Harvester Trial Opens.
St. Paul, Nov. 3.—With Judge W. H. Sanburn presiding, the trial of the International Harvester Company for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was begun in the federal court here today. The trial is the climax of one of the most unusual series of hearings ever conducted for the purpose of gathering evidence.

Customs Service Discussed.

New York, Nov. 3.—Economy and efficiency methods for customs service administration were discussed today in a conference in the New York custom house at which all customs collectors gathered upon order of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. He recommended improvement suggestions from within the service instead of from committees appointed from among outsiders as heretofore.
